SECRETARY OF LABOR WILL SPEAK
AT MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Big Crowd Will Hear Hon. James J. Davis Talk on "Labor Immigration and Naturalization"—Meeting Open to General Public

The visit of Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, to Lowell this afternoon, as the guest of all the people of the city, promises to be memorable. In every way, thousands of men and women planning to visit the Memorial Auditorium and hear the distinguished member of President Harding's cabinet and receive the message he is bringing to Lowell.

The Davis speech will be delivered at 8:15 o'clock in the Auditorium. This hour was set to accommodate the working people of Lowell and it is expected that they will turn out in large numbers to hear the secretary, who has promised to speak upon "Labor Immigration and Naturalization."

It was the secretary's special request made to the Lowell Rotary club, which secured Mr. Davis' promise to come to Lowell this afternoon, that the meeting be held at a reasonable hour to accommodate the laboring people, men and women, of the city.

No visitor to the Auditorium meeting this afternoon need "dress up" for the Davis reception. The business hour was set to accommodate the working people of Lowell and it is expected that they will turn out in large numbers to hear the secretary.

CIVIL SESSION OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OPENED HERE WITH JUSTICE QUA PRESIDING

The April session of the superior court for civil cases opened in this city this morning with Justice Stanley E. Qua on the bench. Justice James H. Sisk of Lynn was scheduled to preside at the session, but owing to death in his family, he was unable to be present.

After the opening of the court prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. C. E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church. The list of jurors was read by Clerk Roger Hurd and eleven of them were excused. The court heard several motions and at 10:45 o'clock the jurors were excused and court was adjourned until tomorrow morning, at which time it is expected Justice Sisk will be able to start the first case.

The jurors who are scheduled to serve at this session are as follows:

Richard T. Barrow, Littleton, farmer; Clyde J. Batchelder, North Reading, superintendent of streets; Fred S. Brown, Shirley, carpenter; Joseph Canorette, Lowell, musician; Arthur L. Charlton, Westford, machinist; John Sullivan, Pepperell, railroad worker; John S. Cutler, Lowell, barber; Grover Dodge, Billerica, retired; Timothy Driscoll, Stow, farmer; Frank P. Fitzgerald, Lowell, clerk; George P. Gargis, Dracut, spinner; William P. Leonard, Groton, clerk.

Albert Hamblett, Dracut, retired; Lewis C. Hastings, Aclyn, employee of American Woolen Co.

AUDITORIUM CUSTODIAN

Trustees of Memorial Auditorium Will Elect Manager and Custodian Tonight

The public trustees of the Memorial Auditorium will elect a building manager and custodian at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock and advance information and suggestions seem to favor Colin B. MacKenzie, present incumbent, for the position. Mayor John J. Donovan will cast his vote for Harry Sullivan, first on the submitted eligible list which contains the names of Messrs. Sullivan, Preston and MacKenzie in that order and it is believed the other trustees will favor MacKenzie.

Charles H. Hobson, chairman of the board, said today an election undoubtedly will be held at tonight's meeting. He said it was more or less obligatory, inasmuch as the certificate now at hand expires on the 5th and unless action is taken tonight, a special meeting will be necessary and Mr. Hobson sees no reason why the election should be postponed any longer.

Threatened Widespread Outbreak of Crime on Easter Sunday Checked

Numerous Arrests Made, Some of Them After Police Had Engaged in Fights

NEW YORK, April 2.—Police officials with the city's forces still working overtime, declared today they had broken New York's latest crime wave. A threatened widespread outbreak of crime on Easter Sunday, was checked, the police said, through the department's preparations. Through the lengthened working hours, curfewing of holidays, the addition of clerical officers to patrol duty and the use of all the city's detectives on the streets, the force was increased an estimated one-third.

Numerous arrests were made, some of them after the police had engaged in fights with criminals.

Plain clothes men visited the resorts where criminals are known to appear, and a number were returned to jail in this district.

NO REDUCTION HERE IN THE PRICE OF MILK

Although the retail price of milk dropped one cent per quart (from 14 1/2 to 13 1/2 cents) today in Boston, there will be no reduction of the present 14-cent rate in Lowell before May 1 next.

Local distributors declared this morning that there was nothing in the "milk situation" so far as supplies are concerned that would warrant a reduction at this time. Boston's one-cent drop notwithstanding.

As a matter of fact, the local supplies of milk arriving from nearby northern and Canadian depots and distributing stations, has been shortening up as a result of the cold spring season and the lack of warm weather conditions and other forces always affecting milk supplies.

The demand in the Lowell district for pasteurized milk has also suddenly increased very heavily, a large distributing concern informed a Sun reporter this morning. Although the before-Easter demands for pure milk are generally increased, it is said that the demand just previous to April 1 has actually been unprecedented, and more than one local distributor has been called upon to increase supplies in order to adequately meet the call for fresh milk.

One or two local dealers have had supplies curtailed during the past two weeks, although none, it was stated this morning, had to refuse regular customers, but where calls were issued for extra supplies, they were not always filled. So far as the current supply of milk is concerned, all customers are being taken care of promptly. There has been a shortage of the

DISTRIBUTION SERVICE

Former Local Emergency Fuel Distributor Albert D. Milliken is the proper title today.

Just before entering an important directors' meeting of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce today, Mr. Milliken greeted a dozen or more business men and chamber executives with the suite that refused to come off. There was a reason.

"Yes, I'm through. It's all over. I am no longer fuel distributor for the city of Lowell or anywhere else," said Mr. Milliken.

The firm wanted some sort of a statement or review of the season's work. Mr. Milliken thought gravely.

Yeggs Lock Driver and Messenger in Cage of Mail Truck and Flee With Loot

Masked Man Held Up and Robbed Superintendent of Boston Apartment Building

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—Five or six men armed with sawed-off shotguns, held up a mail truck in the business section of the city, took a quantity of mail including nine pouches of the registered mail, locked the driver and a messenger in the cage of the truck, and escaped.

The truck was on its way from the main postoffice to a sub-station. The holdup occurred in the heart of the stock brokerage district. Postoffice inspectors said they would be unable to estimate the value of the stolen pouches until a check had been made. It was said that there was no big bank mail in the loot.

Girl Tells Police of Having Swallowed Poison After Being Put Out of Chamber

Became Infatuated With Movie Star and Gained Entrance Through Ruse

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 2.—A young woman saying she is 15 years of age and claiming acquaintance with General Francisco Serrano, Mexican minister of war and Pedro J. Alameda, inspector general of police in Mexico City, has interested police surgeons here with declarations of having swallowed poison after having been ejected from Charlie Chaplin's bedroom.

She gave the name of Mrs. Marina Vega of Mexico City. While no traces of poison were found, the movie comedian, in whose apartment she was taken to the receiving hospital for treatment, told of several entrances effected to his house through her.

Her story was of infatuation with the comedian through seeing his pictures in Mexico City and unsuccessful attempts to see him at the studio, followed by gaining entrance to his residence where he was out and remaining in his bedroom until discovered there by a Japanese servant when the comedian returned with Pola Negri, his fiancée, and a physician.

The girl was induced to leave after a brief talk with Chaplin, but returned a second time and after being put out said she purchased poison at a nearby drugstore and again effected entrance. Induced to enter an automobile, she collapsed and was brought back into the house, saying she had taken poison.

She was rushed to the receiving hospital, but after treatment, surgeons shook their heads and placed a question mark on the hospital chart.

Codes of messages addressed to General Serrano and Inspector Alameda appealing for funds, were found in her possession.

Report Cotton Manufacturers to Make Proposal at Conference Today

Opinion Prevails That Unions Will Accept Proposition and Prevent Strike

FALL RIVER, April 2.—In preparation for the wage conference this afternoon between the Cotton Manufacturers' association and the textile council, to discuss the demand of the union operatives for an advance in wages of 15 per cent, a meeting of the executive committee of the Manufacturers' association was held this morning. No statement as to the outcome of the meeting was made. It is understood that an offer of a 12 1/2 per cent. increase will be made at today's conference. The opinion prevails that the unions will accept such a proposition, thereby paying the way for a real settlement of the wage controversy. The conference is slated to begin at two o'clock.

WELL KNOWN PROPERTY
CHANGES HANDS TODAY

Announcement was made through the office of Martin Robbins and Son today, that the property at the corner of Market and Worthen streets, known as the John Hadley property, had been purchased by Samuel F. Fitch, in conjunction with Bennett Silverblatt, from Dr. James H. Sparks.

The property consists of two buildings, built of brick, containing a large garage, four stores and ten tenements. The stores are occupied at the present time by the Lowell Auto Lamp company.

UNDER WAY TODAY

Work of Listing All Residents of City Was Begun by the Police Today

The actual work of listing all male and female residents of the city of Lowell under the direction of the newly organized listing board got under way shortly after 8 o'clock this morning when 62 regular police officers, armed with cards, pencils and instructions, spread out over the 31 voting precincts to do the job which prior to this year has been done by assistant assessors working under the direction of the assessing board.

It is hoped and generally believed that the listing will be completed within seven working days and if Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson, chairman of the board finds that work in larger precincts is not proceeding as rapidly as wished, additional patrolmen will be assigned.

Sent Out Today to Begin Work of Making Personal Property Assessments

Twenty-one assistant assessors today began the annual work of assessing personal property and within the next ten days will turn in at the office of the assessors the names of all persons who own taxable property, personal property and the lists thereof.

Whatever questions are asked by these men simply are in line with their duties and should not be deemed unnecessarily personal or of a prying nature. The law requires such an accounting and the assistant assessors are sworn public servants.

This year the rate of compensation has been changed by the board of assessors from $4.50 per day to 10 cents per name. While this change probably will reduce the amount of money each man may earn, it is believed that it will be more equitable.

LOWELL DAY PROGRAM IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

Lowell day was observed at the high school today at 12:15 o'clock with suitable exercises. There was no speaking except for the announcement of the different numbers on the program and notices on school matters for the coming week by Headmaster Henry H. Harris.

The opening number on the program was a march, played by the J.H.S. orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Fred O. Blunt. Following this came two solos, "Rain," and "Birds Are Singing," by Miss Caroline Urbanek of the class of 1924. Miss Urbanek's offering was well received and she gave an encore. Another orchestra selection, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," followed and then the feature of the day's program was given. This was a one-act play entitled, "Sauce for the Gossings," and was a plea for good English. The cast was as follows:

Richard Taylor, the father, Harry O'Neil '24
Margaret Taylor, the mother, Elizabeth Smith, '23
Robert Taylor, the son, Elmon Peters '23
Elizabeth Taylor, the daughter, Marguerite Shugrue, '23
Martha Lee, the grandmother, Gertrude Kendall, '23
James Ward, a guest, Ralph Butler, '23
A maid, Helen McCabe
During this scene the curtain was lowered to denote the lapse of an hour.

POLYGAMY CHARGE

When Louis G. Morin was arraigned in the district court this morning in answer to a charge of non-support, preferred against him by his wife, it was discovered that he had remarried since deserting his original wife in this city about three years ago. Consequently, at the conclusion of the trial for non-support, on which he was found guilty and ordered to contribute $3 weekly to Mrs. Morin and her three children, the more serious charge of polygamy was preferred against him. He will be called to answer this latter charge.

AUCTION SALE AT POLICE STATION

Confiscated oil stoves, copper stills, bottles, jugs and other distillery paraphernalia were sold at public auction in the shed adjoining the market street police station this morning. The sale started promptly at 11 o'clock in the presence of a good-sized gathering of men and women. Auctioneer John J. Hayes started things humming when he called for bids on a three-burner oil stove, which began at 25 cents and eventually ascended to $1.80, a woman being the lucky winner. Competition for the various articles was keen throughout, and the cleaning up process was completed in short order. The goods consisted of fixtures seized by the liquor squad in successful raids.

ART STUDENT IS OUT WITH FACTS

Victor E. Bowering, 132 Austin St., Cambridge, Mass., gifted student of the Boston Art school, is still another popular young citizen to publicly express his gratitude for the benefits he has derived from Tanlac. "Tanlac," he declared, "overcame my stomach trouble and run-down condition in quick time," he declared. "I came down with the flu about three months ago and it left my stomach all upset and my whole system worn-out. My appetite was so poor I don't believe I ate half what I would under normal conditions. My food fermented in my stomach and was bloated up until I was in misery. My head was giddy with headaches and dizzy spells. I was nervous, irritable and suffered with constipation. I can paint a different picture since taking Tanlac. I eat hearty and regular, never have indigestion, nerves steady as a rock, and in nearly every way I feel better than ever. I certainly am a Tanlac enthusiast."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold—Adv.

Jews CELEBRATE THE FEAST OF REDEMPTION

Jewish-speaking residents of Lowell, in conjunction with their co-religionists throughout the world, at sunset Saturday began a week's celebration of "The Feast of Redemption," or the feast of unleavened bread, as the Passover holidays are sometimes called. The observance began with the holding of "Seder" services, and in the orthodox homes was repeated last evening.

A special ritual features this service. A narrative called the "Haggadah" is read. In this volume are venerable and highly-prized stories of the exodus from Egypt, and many quaint quips and fancies of the ancient rabbis, as well as many bits of ancient songs and lore.

Passover was originally an agricultural feast, being the springtime feast, also the period when the thresholds in very remote antiquity were consecrated. At a later period it became identified with the historical events in the early career of the Hebrews and their sojourn in the land of Egypt. To the association of the primitive agricultural rites with a historical crisis invested Passover with a new and highly significant message. It became the "Feast of Redemption," the feast of liberty.

So firmly is the symbolism of the "Feast of the Passover" entrenched that, during the week, every Jewish family abstains from eating leavened bread, and uses instead the matzo, thin, flat or disk-shaped wafers, a reminder of the bread eaten by their remote ancestors in their hasty departure from Egypt. The matzo is a symbol of the festival note of rejoicing over the deliverance from bondage. Reform and orthodox Jews alike partake of it. Special services in the various Jewish reform and orthodox temples took place yesterday morning. There were also special services in the institutional havens where charity is distributed by friendly and sympathetic Jewish-speaking people. Thousands of pounds of matzo have been distributed to the poor during the last week or two. Gifts of money were also made so that the necessary special foodstuffs could be purchased.

WAS SUFFOCATED BY SMOKE IN HIS ROOM

Peter O'Neill, aged 44 years, who lived at 46 Tyler street, was overcome by smoke in his room early yesterday morning and died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital. As far as could be learned O'Neill returned to his room late Saturday night and built a fire in the small stove which he used to heat his apartment. It is believed that he went to sleep, leaving the fire burning, and the partition in the wall becoming overheated, ignited. When the blaze was discovered shortly after midnight an alarm was sent in from box 229 and the fire was extinguished without any serious damage. After the fire was all out the firemen found the unconscious form of O'Neill in bed. The ambulance was summoned and the man was rushed to the Lowell Corporation hospital, but when the institution was reached it was found that life was extinct. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

O'MORE HERE ON THURSDAY NIGHT

With but a few days remaining before the big musical event, the appearance here of Colin O'More, the celebrated tenor at the Memorial Auditorium on Thursday night, the demand for reservations indicates that a great crowd will turn out to greet the noted artist. O'More came here on Sunday, Feb. 11, practically unknown and he sang his way into the hearts of Lowell music lovers. His resonant voice, smoothly produced and admirably controlled, brought him into instant favor. His program was well arranged and he gave every number with evident feeling for the mood of the songs.

He sings the classic airs with beauty of phrasing and ample breath of tone, keeping them all times in the classic vein. He varies his program with popular Irish songs, classic airs, and a delightful group of French pieces, and in every one his every word, whether in English or French, is clear and distinct and perfectly enunciated. Such a singer received such generous applause as that accorded O'More here and elsewhere, and the immediate demand in every city where he has appeared for a return engagement indicates his popularity.

SWEDEN WILL COPY AMERICAN HIGHWAYS

STOCKHOLM, April 2.—The complete modernization of Swedish roads, made desirable by the rapidly increasing automobile traffic is being undertaken in earnest. The latest significant step in this movement is the establishment of a "Good Roads Institute" on the initiative of the Royal Automobile Club, which is now celebrating its twentieth anniversary. American highways will be studied as models for Swedish construction, and a Swedish expert highway engineer, Mr. Paul Wretling, is already in the United States for that purpose. While the Royal Automobile Club has taken the initiative in establishing the Good Roads Institute, several other organizations and government departments are interested, according to Captain A. Nordlander, general secretary of the club. Thus the board of directors will have representatives from the Department of Roads and Waterways, the Government Testing Institute, the Academy of Engineering Sciences, the Swedish Technological Association and the Swedish Roads Association. The first financing has been made by the Royal Automobile Club, but further support is expected from the road-using public in general.

MANY FIRES OVER THE WEEK END

There were no less than six alarms for fires Saturday evening and yesterday, so that the firemen were kept very busy during the week-end. The first alarm was from box 623 at 9.25 o'clock Saturday night for a slight bed fire at 24 Exeter street. At 11.25 o'clock a telephone alarm was sent in for a grass fire in the rear of the Chelmsford street hospital. At 12.30 o'clock yesterday morning there was an alarm from box 229 for a fire in the partition at 46 Tyler street, where Peter O'Neill smothered to death. The alarm from box 13 was sounded at 3.30 o'clock for a partition fire in a pool room at 350 Market street. At 9.32 a.m. there was an alarm from box 35 for a motor fire at the Howard street garage and at 2.09 o'clock in the afternoon a grass fire in Middlesex street was responsible for an alarm from box 513.

EIGHT HUNDRED NEW MEMBERS INITIATED BY EAGLES

Street Parade and Mass Meeting at the Memorial Auditorium—Initiation Conducted by Worcester Aerie—Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, Principal Speaker

With appropriate ceremonies, which included a street parade and mass meeting of members of the order at the Memorial Auditorium, Lowell aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles yesterday afternoon initiated a class of 800 members. This is by far the largest class initiation ever conducted by an aerie in the commonwealth and considerable credit is due to the organizers of the affair as well as the members of the recruiting committee, who spared no time nor efforts to make the event a banner one in the history of the local aerie.

It was the John M. Hogan class initiation, this name being given in honor of John M. Hogan, the general financial secretary of the aerie, who has held that office for the past 20 years and who during that long period has served the organization faithfully.

The parade was held in the early part of the afternoon, with over 3000 men in line. Included in the parade were high officers of the organization as well as the famous degree team of the Worcester aerie, present and past officers of Lowell aerie and numerous visiting members from other parts of the state. The number of members who were initiated was furnished by two bands.

The parade formed in Middle, Palmer and Market streets. It was headed by a platoon of police and a large squad of firemen, followed by the Worcester aerie band of 20 pieces, Joseph, Angell, conductor. Then came the Worcester aerie degree team, followed by the Massachusetts state aerie officials, officers and past presidents of Lowell aerie. Presidents of visiting aeries and grand aerie officers, among whom was District Deputy Grand Worthy President John A. Loynds of Watertown. Next in line came the 800 members of the initiation class. Lowell aerie band and visitors from Worcester, Lawrence, Haverhill, Amesbury, Lynn, Wakefield, Nashua, Manchester, Keene, Dorchester, Falmouth, Watertown, Salem, Andover, Gardner, South Framingham, Taunton, Malden and Marlboro, with a rear guard consisting of a large delegation of members of the Cambridge aerie.

The marchers went through Central street to Middlesex, to Thorndike, to Boston, to Merrimack, to East Merrimack and into the Auditorium. The first number on the program at the hall was the initiation, which was conducted by the Worcester aerie degree team and which proved very interesting. After all the members of the class had taken the oath of membership, Worthy President Timothy E. Barry delivered a brief address of welcome, complimenting the new members as well as the committees responsible for such a showing and he introduced the following speakers: Hon. H. D. Thompson, Mayor John J. Donovan, Grand Trustee Thomas B. Murphy of Boston and Past Worthy President of Lowell aerie, Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, Mo., who spoke at length on the fraternal order of Eagles. The judge's address was in part as follows:

"The Fraternal Order of Eagles is now in its twenty-fifth year. As it rounds out its quarter of a century of healthy, happy existence, it finds itself stronger in numbers than it has ever been in its history. Stronger in its financial status, stronger in the bond of good will of the communities which it strives to serve.

"It had its beginning in Seattle, Washington. In a group of about a dozen men who had banded together for companionship and mutual helpfulness. That little group has since become what is known as the Mother Aerie, numbering today approximately 7000 members. This human desire which held together the original group has become the inspiring motive of half-million men who are now members of the order.

"Patriotism led the founder of the fraternity to adopt the name 'Eagles' after the 'Proud Bird of our Country.' Naturally, the societies in which the members gathered were named Aeries—that is, Eagles' nests. The complete organization consists of subordinate aeries, or local societies, state aeries having certain geographical jurisdiction, and a grand aerie, which embraces the entire order.

"Now if you ask any member why he has joined the Eagles, ninety-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you, with a certain approving emphasis, 'For the Benefits.' These are the services of the aerie physician, the sick benefit, and the funeral benefit, all of which are substantial. For the sick benefit, the Eagles are famous for that benefit—there is also a year-round program of high class entertainment and wholesome recreation. Later, tens of thousands have joined the order, also because of its championship and active leadership of the movement to establish old age pensions.

TIMOTHY E. BARRY

"Although membership is confined to men, the benefits and the social life of the fraternity are extended in many ways to include the wives, mothers and children, and often the friends of members. It is the fathers, mothers, sisters, wives, children and sweet hearts of the members, indeed, who often set the chief store by the benefits and the recreations afforded in membership in the F. O. E. Among the benefits most appreciated by the families is the aerie physician, who furnishes medical attendance free to them, and who, after the death of the member, continues this service to the widow and children. The next most important benefit is the sick benefit, which keeps the wife away when the member is disabled from working through illness or accident. If the member should die, there is a substantial funeral benefit. The fund from which these benefits are paid, by a law of the order is made absolutely inalienable for any other purpose.

Service to Community

These services the Eagles render to the member and his family individually. They have a further service which they render to the community. They make it a practice to back actively any social welfare movement which it is seen would eventually in benefit to society generally. This broader community service in which the Eagles take keen pleasure has manifested itself to date in the enactment in all strong Eagle communities of mothers' workmen's compensation for industrial disease and accident, and laws restricting child labor and establishing minimum wages and maximum hours for women and minors.

"The crowning achievement of this order in its role as social benefactor, however, lies fair to be the early adoption in the Worcester aerie of laws establishing pensions for those who have toiled their due and yet found themselves at sixty-five without a competence in their old age. This undertaking came about in this wise. Early in 1921 subordinates and state aeries began to pass resolutions in favor of old age pensions and in August, 1921, the grand aerie unanimously endorsed the proposition. Thirty thousand was appropriated to defray the expenses of a year's educational campaign to inform and arouse public sentiment, and an age pension commission of prominent members was appointed to conduct the propaganda.

"This commission at once entered upon an investigation of industrial conditions as affecting old age, especially the old of the worker. It found that the high-waged worker, moving machinery of modern factories not only requires keen eye-sight, steady nerve, and skilled hand, but tends to impair all three, so that the working man's efficiency is destroyed at a comparatively early age. It found, too, that civilization throughout the world was wrestling with the problem how best to care for the worn-out veterans of their industrial armies.

"As a result of its painstaking investigation the commission recommended in its conclusion previously reached by the several aeries that the old age pension be the most effective and, on the whole, the least expensive method of caring for the disabled toilers. Accordingly it has, by the preparation and distribution of literature and through clubs and public meetings, sought to create a public sentiment in favor of the enactment of laws providing old age pensions. This work has reached a point where men and women of the industrial states are beginning to assure that no poorhouse is awaiting them as the reward of what they have contributed in toil to the general prosperity. Old age pensions are most certainly on the way. Thanks to the Eagles.

Members in World War

"The Eagles have one other patriotic record of which they are very proud and which is bringing into their order many thousands of the war veterans. This record is the fact that 45,000 of their members went into the military service of the country in the World War; and of the fact that the order led the way, even for the government, in providing adequately for the dependents of those who should lose their lives. Within ten days after our country entered the war, the board of grand trustees of the Eagles in England planned which the grand aerie enacted into law, by which a patriotic fund of one and one-half million dollars was established, out of which a total of $100,000 each were to be paid to the dependents of those Eagles who should lay down their lives in the line of duty. As this date passed, the fund was replenished by fourteen hundred such claims have been paid; and the fund still is functioning—as the service members die from the effects of their wounds or exposure, the fund is replenished by the Eagles' first examination, but the order of Eagles is the only one of them today that still continues such service to the ex-service men and their dependents.

"Annually, moreover, the Eagles commemorate Armistice day with an impressive ritual which attracts the entire community and keeps alive a wholesome regard for what the veterans of the World War achieved and suffered. In this, also, they are unique among all fraternal organizations. That the men who served and the unparallelled patriotic record of this order is indicated in the fact that it has today on its rolls more than 75,000 World War veterans.

Aerie's Charitable Work

"The order is forward in many other less conspicuous but not less worthy good works. Noted among aeries fall to distribute Christmas offerings and Thanksgiving bounties. Scarcely is there an aerie that does not support a school, or a day in a shoe fund for poor children, a charity ball, the baby clinic, the local branch of the Salvation Army or of the Red Cross. They can be depended on in any community to lead and co-operate in any worthy cause. In some of the stronger Eagle communities, the aerie home has become really a kind of a center, and this is the goal to which every aerie aspires.

"Now, measuring the capabilities of any organization in these times, its financial condition must also be carefully considered. The impregnable financial strength of the Eagles was demonstrated during the influenza

CITY OF LOWELL

Notice is hereby given as required by section 23 of chapter 43 of the General Laws, that the following order was adopted by the City Council of the City of Lowell, March 20, 1923, and approved by the Mayor March 21, 1923, to wit:

CITY OF LOWELL
Commonwealth of Massachusetts

ORDER

To appropriate the sum of Twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) for the purpose of the original construction of the First Street Boulevard, so-called, and the extension and widening of First Street, including land damages and the cost of pavement and sidewalks laid at the time of said construction.

ORDERED, by the City Council of the City of Lowell, as follows:

That the sum of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) be and is appropriated for the purpose of the original construction of the First Street Boulevard, so-called, and the extension and widening of First Street, including land damages and the cost of pavement and sidewalks laid at the time of said construction in the City of Lowell, and to provide the amount necessary a city debt is hereby authorized, and the City Treasurer is hereby empowered and directed to issue therefor under authority and in compliance with Chapter 44, General Laws, coupon bonds or certificates of indebtedness in such form as the city determines, demanding such rate of interest as may be fixed by the City Treasurer with the approval of the Mayor. Other particulars as to the form, maturity and mode of said bonds shall be determined by the City Treasurer.

FURTHER ORDERED: That the City Treasurer shall issue registered certificates in exchange for any of said coupon bonds or certificates of indebtedness thereof in compliance with Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 107, and acts amendatory thereof and in addition thereto.

By order of the City Council,

years of 1918-19, when its sickness and funeral benefits ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Not one aerie defaulted or even delayed in making the payments required. This it will be found, is an enviable record.

Grand Secretary's Report

"In short, the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands forth among the first in the land as a patriotic, community and individually serving social welfare fraternity and institution. Its strength and beneficial activities are succinctly set forth in the following official report of the grand secretary, of June 30, 1921:

A membership of approximately 500,000.
Real estate valued at $3,845,000.
Invested funds to the amount of $2,207,000.
Cash on hand $1,134,000.
Lodge furnishings and fittings $2,206,000.

Total $18,412,000.
The assets of the benefit fund used exclusively for the payment of sick and funeral benefits, $1,188,000. The F. O. E. held out from the date of its organization, February 8, 1919, to June 30, 1921:

For sick benefits $13,534,000.
For funeral benefits $2,233,000.
For medical services $819,000.

Total $16,586,000.
Increase for the year ending June 30, 1922:
In membership, 42,819.
In net assets, $1,833,274.79.
In value of property in the benefit fund, $198,183.31.

"With reason can the Eagles extend its nation-wide invitation, 'Come with us and we will do you good.' At the close of Judge O'Donnell's address a social hour was enjoyed, during which the new members became acquainted with the other members of the organization. A buffet luncheon was served and entertainment numbers were given by some of the best talent of the aerie.

POSTOFFICE IS ALSO FIRST-AID STATION

Lowell postal clerks and letter carriers can do nothing objectionable, or really new for that matter, in "the latest from it." The postoffice department, Washington, D. C., asking them in plain words to become first-aid stations for the stricken, etc., in cases of emergency.

Postmaster Xaxler Delsile hesitated not a moment when asked what it was all about this morning. He declared that Lowell's P. O. headquarters was not a moment ago for medical aid, but that, but had been a first-aid station, so-called, for many a moon. And what is the latest news from Washington postal first-line entrenchments, you ask? Simply this:

Gray-coated letter carrier, already a collector for medical aid, a keeper of green books, single women and infant alligators in transit from blither and you, and also a means of transport for a large part of the country's commerce and, in some localities,

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in making a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruised, chilblains, frost-bites, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia.) 25c and 65c.

Better than a mustard plaster

WILL NOT BLISTER

actually a vendor of postage stamps, now is asked by the postoffice department to become a traveling first-aid station.

The postal advice, given in great detail for the education of the postal authorities of Uncle Sam all over the country and the island possessions, says:

"In case of emergency, call a doctor. If you can't get a doctor, call a postman. The circular issued by the department then proceeds with a lot of instructions to the postman himself—the man who delivers your mail twice a day. It begins thusly:

"Be calm! Take command and give orders. Find location of the injury. Apply bandages and wrapped hot water bottles, and so on, through the category of accepted methods for applying bandages, compresses, probing for foreign objects in a wound and all the things that first-aid experts recommend.

The instructions are just out and of course all inter-carriers and office clerks are going to carry them out to the letter whenever emergency arises, but the simple truth is that of all the postal experts from Postmaster Delsile in business dress down to the "grub-coats" who toll regularly down on the mail-trains, the Delsile offices, the first-aid-in-an-emergency business was in a figure in the Appleton building when Messrs. New and other G. O. P. notables were youths in short pants.

The man behind the first-aid guns at the Lowell postoffice today, if you overlook Mr. Delsile for a moment, is none other than that expert druggist and near-bone-setter, the well known "Jim" O'Dea, who has been unofficially listed as head of the first-aid bureau in the Appleton street building for quite a long time.

There is a reputation, up-to-date first-aid kit at the Lowell postoffice with everything necessary to handle emergency sickness or accident cases, right handy in a big cupboard in the postoffice day or night. And when "Jim" O'Dea, who knows every kind of medicine and every brand of bandage and every new bandage cross-stitch and germ-destroyer, as well as having some knowledge of bringing back to consciousness fainting ladies in distress in the corridors, which is not at all rare in holiday rushways, "Jim" O'Dea, so they say, could set broken arm as good as any "doc" if you gave him a fair chance! And as for fainting ladies, they always survive under the Lowell expert treatment.

And so Postmaster Delsile is glad to say today that while the new first-aid kit just received, will be treated, fled away and preserved, the instructions will only be a sort of duplicate, as it were, of local instructions previously given and always faithfully adhered to by the local postal service employees, who each and every one like to tell of life-saving deeds that would make good reading in a historical way if properly summarized and described in detail.

No Reduction Here in the Price of Milk

usual supplies of cream, but not enough to cause any alarm.

For those reasons, dealers interviewed this morning declared, there is no promise of any cheaper-priced milk in Lowell and vicinity until May 1 at the latest. It is predicted that on that date there may be a cut of possibly one cent but certainly no more. Occasionally you meet a dealer who declares that there will be no lower prices all summer, but that opinion is not held by the largest distributors, who appear to be prepared for lower-priced milk when warmer weather comes along and rainfalls.

The local milk situation was informally discussed last Saturday evening by prominent distributors, who are keeping close touch with the situation as regards supplies and who have stated more than once during the past month that the milk question, Lowell is more a question at the present time of getting enough to supply local demands at almost any price.

The announcement in Boston today by Secretary Richard H. Pardee, speaking for the New England Milk Producers' association, that beginning with Sunday's deliveries, milk in that section of the state will be 12½ cents a quart instead of 14½ cents, has caused wide-spread interest in all distributors and consuming circles of the milk industry. The new Boston price allows the milk producers 7½ cents a quart, beginning today, instead of 8½ cents.

The farmers who first market their product will get 5½ cents a quart under the new price, and being and transportation, the distributors assert, will bring the cost to 7½ cents.

Lowell milk distributors had little to say this morning about the unexpected jump in the retail price of milk in the Billerica district yesterday, when it was formally announced that the dealers had raised prices from 11 to 14 cents retail and from 9 to 12 cents to storekeepers. No previous notice had been given Billerica consumers of the proposed advance, all to coming notices yesterday with other Easter gifts. It was the 'talk of the town' all day after the homeowning parade from the churches.

"The dealers in Billerica have a lot to meet during the past winter. cal problem of their own in the milk distributing business," said a well known Lowell distributor this morning. "They know what they are doing."

The milk distributors of Billerica who have advanced the price are L. W. Johnson, C. W. White, R. J. Catherwood, Frank M. Gannon, F. Todd, D. Fred Reardon and Tower Farm Dairy. They have stated that they are obliged to pay 10 cents per can for milk and to retail it for 11 cents a quart to the homes and 9 cents a store to stores, entirely unprofitable considering the conditions that all distributors have had to meet during the past winter.

SPEND $7,000,000 FOR
1923 EQUIPMENT

CHICAGO, April 2.—Returns from one-third of the mileage in the United States indicate that the railways will spend more than $7,000,000 for improvements and additions during 1923, according to the Railway Age in its annual report on the railroad conditions.

Twenty-seven railways operating an aggregate of 35,000 miles, or approximately one-third of the total mileage of the country, will spend something more than $350,000 for improvements to roadway and structures, and for new equipment, says the report.

"It may be assumed," the report adds "that an equal amount will be spent by the remaining two-thirds of the railways. The significance of this is the fact that in only one year, 1917, during the last ten, have the records of the interstate commerce commission shown an increase in investment in road and equipment of this amount."

"This money will go for new lines, for second tracks, new yards and terminals, freight and passenger stations, shops and shop equipment, signaling, cars and locomotives, and other facilities that make up road equipment. "Large as this amount seems, it includes only those expenditures which have been definitely approved. Many other projects will be undertaken during the year, and their total will add much to the amount."

Locomotives ordered during 1922 for service in the United States totals 2600, according to the Railway Age's statistics. This is more than ten times the figure reported in 1921. Freight cars ordered during 1922 were 150,154, the largest total in any year since 1912.

The most active roads thus far in approving equipment expenditures for 1923 are the Pennsylvania, with $55,000,000; the New York Central, which carried over for 1922 $25,000,000 of an appropriation of $50,000,000 in 1922, and the Louisville and Nashville, which carried over $20,000,000 of appropriations for use this year out of the $25,000,000 appropriated in 1922.

The Illinois Central also has an improvement program on to the extent of $12,000,000, and the Norfolk and Western $22,000,000.

The Union Pacific is listed as having approved expenditures for 1923 amounting to $25,000,000.

The report states that a large part of these appropriations will go to terminal facilities as there have been considerable increases in the capacity of the country's "big" transportation facilities and become most pronounced."

SEEK TO FRUSTRATE
SLAUGHTER OF BIRDS

CHICAGO, April 2.—Organization of an army of citizens subscribing to break on what they call "the gun-toters' conspiracy" against birds, flowers, trees, crime, and disease, is the purpose of a movement started here by Joseph Burt, an attorney, which already has numbered among its recruits scores of the leading men, fraternal bodies, civic clubs and commercial firms in the middle west.

"Hordes have been circulated urging a gun-toter woman and child to 'help' the gun-toters' conspiracy," and so says Burt, "and the response in slaughter of birds, flowers, trees, crime, and disease, according to Mr. Burt."

"The movement had its inception in the Michigan Audubon society, and Senator Woodbridge Ferris has promised to make his Washington office a clearing house for the society's aims," said Mr. Burt, who is chairman of the crime prevention of the society. "It has spread beyond the society and Michigan, however, and we are receiving pledges and inquiries from points throughout this section. The movement was designed for the protection of birds, but will raise its voice against automobile and inhuman things. Constructiveness, not destructiveness, prevention of crime, not punishment for crime, are remedies for many of our troubles."

Organizations which have subscribed to the movement include the Hamilton club, the Knights of Pythias, Masonic lodges, Lions club, common place courts, penit and corrective institutions, rotary clubs, wild flower, bird and horticultural societies, playground associations and numerous large commercial companies.

A poster depicting a black hawk of a man holding a smoking gun, while on the ground lies a slaughtered bird, has been designed as the official poster for the movement.

K. OF C. WILL HOLD
DANCING PARTY

The Knights of Columbus will celebrate the ending of the Lenten season with a dancing party and entertainment in their new clubhouse tonight. The party will be held in the large hall at the club where already many fine parties have been held. Dancing will begin at 8.30, following a short entertainment program, and will continue until a late hour.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It—Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

REFUGEES IN TURKEY SUFFER FROM NEGLECT

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 2.—Great misery exists among the thousands of Greek refugees housed in the Turkish military barracks here. Within a period of seven days there occurred 297 deaths. Living and half-living, sick, dying and dead are all mingled together without separation, without pity and without shame. Many of them are crowded into filthy stables where they lie on the mud floor all day shivering in their last rags of covering. They are mostly women and children.

The Turkish authorities are doing nothing to ameliorate these conditions. They simply intern the refugees and say it is not their affair. Yet the Kemalists officials on the Black Sea continue to send the wretched creatures here by the thousands, mostly by Turkish government ships. They are all dumped in the military barracks. It is a profitable enterprise for the Turks, because the refugees must buy their passage. They are charged seven and a half Turkish pounds each for the trip from the Black Sea to Constantinople.

Commercial speculation and government pressure seem, therefore, to be the motives which continue to bring the Turkish refugees to the Black Sea. The Turkish government recently expelled the surviving Greek population of the island of the Bosphorus, thus aggravating the situation.

When the correspondent entered the largest of the refugee barracks there were more than a dozen death-stricken prostrate figures lying near the entrance. They were the sick for whom there is no hospital room, and who were waiting day in and day out for a boat to take them over to the Greek hospital.

In one of the corridors 712 refugees were crowded. Three of their number were dead. There was a general wailing of women when attendants carried a dead woman and child—happier than those they left behind. So at least a priest in dingy, ragged soutans with his crumpled stole around his neck and his fingers in a book of prayer told the wailing women. All around in the huge barn hundreds huddled in their coverlets and tried to sleep warmth into themselves.

The wing of the barracks reserved for refugees contained 584 persons, of whom 3942 were in the uninhabitable stables. The hospital across the water was full and the chief Greek doctor, together with some of his staff, was down with typhus.

The American Near East Relief has been carrying on the feeding of these refugees at the expense of about $10,000 a month and an American naval chaplain has interested the naval unit in their welfare. The Near East Relief is extending its work by establishing a hospital and a clinic.

ONE QUALITY ONLY—THE BEST

BIG DRIVE PLANNED BY ORGANIZED RESERVE

The 34th division, Organized Reserve, will start a drive for the enlistment of qualified men for their respective organizations immediately. Reserving officers have been named for duty in every city where a branch of this organization is located and they have received the necessary authority to enlist men for any branch of the service.

Joseph M. Kelly of 201 Pleasant Street, is the commanding officer of the local infantry company of this division and has received his appointment as recruiting officer.

Those who are eligible for this organization are persons who have served in the army, navy or marine corps for at least four months at some time between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, or who have served for not less than one year in the regular army, navy or marine corps, or in the National Guard in federal service, or persons who, at any time, have served in the National Guard in federal service. Men who have had civil life training that especially fits them for technical duties are also eligible, as are persons who have completed the prescribed training at one of the military camps or who have satisfactorily completed either one year of training in a sons of unit of the Reserve Officers' Training camp or two years of military training in an educational institution where military was under the direction of a regular army officer.

The age limits are from 15 to 41. In the line, and from 15 to 35 for staff and departmental duty. The physical requirements are necessary as are called for by the regular army. Men who have deserted from the army or navy, or who have been convicted of a felony, or who have been imprisoned in jail for a year or more, or who have been sentenced to a term of imprisonment by a court of law, are not wanted and cannot be taken in this service.

Every man in this division is supposed to go out and get men for his company and is known as an "enlisting officer," he being able to accept enlistment applications but not having the authority to send a man into the service. All medical officers in the division are authorized to examine applicants for enlistment and to complete entries in the enlistment records.

Any ex-service men in Lowell or vicinity who wish to sign up with the Organized Reserve, in an infantry regiment, is requested to get in touch with Captain Kelly either by mail, telephone or in person, and he will furnish further information concerning qualifications and duties, and opportunities for a short period of active duty during the summer months.

MUSEUMS TO UNITE FOR IMPROVEMENT

NEW YORK, April 2.—The launching of a national museum movement which, for the first time, will enable the art, history, science, commerce and industry museums of the country to attack jointly their common problem, has been announced by Laurence Vail Coleman, secretary of the American Association of Museums. At the same time Mr. Coleman made public the fact that a grant of $30,000 has been made to the association by one of the big educational foundations on condition that an additional $35,000 be raised from museums and their supporters. Encouraging progress already has been made toward securing this amount, and the completion of the fund is in sight, the secretary said.

The plan of the new museum movement is described in the call for the eighteenth annual meeting of the association issued by Frederick Allen Whiting, director of the Cleveland Museum of Art, and president of the association. This meeting will celebrate the 150th anniversary of the founding of America's first museum and will be held April 4 to 6 at Charleston, S. C.

It is expected that the $65,000 will furnish the nucleus of support for the work for three years, but the project looks far into the future, and plans are being laid for its continued support and growth. It calls for the establishment of permanent headquarters for the association, probably at Washington. The Smithsonian Institute has offered a suite of offices for the use of the association.

In commenting upon the project Secretary Coleman says: "In the past museums have sprung up largely by chance, and have lived as best they could, but now the time has come for concerted action which will enable museums more effectively to carry on their work. The public generally does not appreciate what museums are doing for education from the kindergarten to the university. Already the demands upon their resources far exceed their ability to deliver; and in order to meet this situation the present organized national effort has been instituted.

"The first step toward the improvement of this condition, and one which is supported most enthusiastically by the leading museums of the country, is the plan for extensive publications which will broadcast the results of dozens of special experiments being carried on under the auspices of various institutions. The publications will report also the general studies to be made by the staff of this national movement is the aim to dissipate the popular misconception of museums. The museum of the past has left in the minds of a majority of persons the notion that museums are storehouses of curious dead things, interesting chiefly to specialists, and having little relation to modern life. The association

TELEGRAPHERS' BANK WILL OPEN IN JUNE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—The Telegraphers' National Bank, which probably will open here about June 1, will be conducted along the lines of the Locomotive Engineers' Co-operative National Bank of Cleveland, according to E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, who will head the new institution.

Organization of the bank which will have a capital stock of $500,000 and a $100,000 surplus, was authorized at a session of the grand division of the Railroad Telegraphers' union at Savannah, Ga., in May, 1921. The capital and surplus has been subscribed. Mr. Manion stated, and the majority of it by members of the union.

Although the bank will be controlled by the union, no distinction is to be made in the list of depositors. The accounts of all persons will be solicited. L. J. Ross, grand secretary and treasurer of the union, will be a vice-president and cashier.

Under the by-laws as adopted by the board of directors, a limit of 10 per cent. has been placed upon the dividends to be declared. Earnings above this, Mr. Manion says, will go either to the surplus or be divided among the depositors as a bonus.

The directors will be: E. J. Manion, J. J. Ross, G. E. Soyester, G. E. Joslin, N. A. Morgan, Dr. S. A. Penick, Albert Von Hoffman and W. S. Campbell, all of St. Louis; B. E. Nason of St. Paul; J. F. Miller of Baltimore; H. G. Alexander of Greensboro, N. C.; and J. G. Campbell of Bella, Mo. Mr. Von Hoffman also will be a vice-president.

The bank will become a member of the Federal Reserve system.

ROCHESTER, England, April 2.—Summoned to court for working a donkey with a sore foot, Charles Alfred Jennings was told to judge the animal was accustomed to open two doors, enter the kitchen and eat bread and butter from the table. But Jennings was fined $1 and costs.

Radio Concert AND ADDRESS

Members of the C.M.A.C. Literary club will be given a treat this evening in the form of a radio concert followed by an address on the "Canadian Northwest" by Rev. Alphonse Armand, O.M.I. The affair, which will be exclusively for members of the association, will be held in the assembly hall in Pawtucket street. President Leon Lamoureux will preside and it is hoped all members will be in attendance.

Arrangements have also been made by the club for a lecture to be given on Sunday afternoon, May 6 in the

ROOMS OF THE ASSOCIATION BY DISTRICT ATTORNEY ARTHUR K. READING, WHILE PLANS HAVE ALSO BEEN FORMULATED FOR THE PRESENTATION OF MOVING PICTURES AND OTHER ENTERTAINMENTS IN THE NEAR FUTURE. THE OFFICERS OF THE CLUB ARE: LEON LAMOUROUX, president; Eugene J. Belloy, secretary; Frank Leclair, Arthur Lamoureux, vice president; Eugene J. TELEGRAPHERS' BANK WILL OPEN IN JUNE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—The Telegraphers' National Bank, which probably will open here about June 1, will be conducted along the lines of the Locomotive Engineers' Co-operative National Bank of Cleveland, according to E. J. Manion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, who will head the new institution.

Organization of the bank which will have a capital stock of $500,000 and a $100,000 surplus, was authorized at a session of the grand division of the Railroad Telegraphers' union at Savannah, Ga., in May, 1921. The capital and surplus has been subscribed. Mr. Manion stated, and the majority of it by members of the union.

Although the bank will be controlled by the union, no distinction is to be made in the list of depositors. The accounts of all persons will be solicited. L. J. Ross, grand secretary and treasurer of the union, will be a vice-president and cashier.

Under the by-laws as adopted by the board of directors, a limit of 10 per cent. has been placed upon the dividends to be declared. Earnings above this, Mr. Manion says, will go either to the surplus or be divided among the depositors as a bonus.

The directors will be: E. J. Manion, J. J. Ross, G. E. Soyester, G. E. Joslin, N. A. Morgan, Dr. S. A. Penick, Albert Von Hoffman and W. S. Campbell, all of St. Louis; B. E. Nason of St. Paul; J. F. Miller of Baltimore; H. G. Alexander of Greensboro, N. C.; and J. G. Campbell of Bella, Mo. Mr. Von Hoffman also will be a vice-president.

A letter that is interesting for three reasons

HERE is a letter from a woman who has put floors of Armstrong's Linoleum in her house. As you read it, you will note three things of interest:

Dear Sirs: June 13, 1922

I wish to thank you for the great help you have been to me in making my house a home. I had no idea linoleum could be so attractive.

I wish your book on Home Decoration could be read by every housewife in the United States.

I have bought from Maas Brothers, Tampa, Florida, the linoleum you suggested for my two baths, sleeping porch and kitchen—the blue Jaspé is beautiful.

Since buying this linoleum I have decided to use Armstrong's Linoleum in my sun room. I should like you to suggest something that would make this room very attractive. Enclosed is rough sketch of our new house. Walls rough stucco like house. Am having walls of the sun room painted a flat tone bright sage green. In the center is to be a fountain of cement. Floor at present is cement, but I expect to place linoleum over it.

I know this room can be made beautiful, therefore I am appealing to you to suggest anything you can to help me make it a little unusual.

Thanking you again, I am Sincerely yours, (Name on request)

Frostproof, Florida

In the first two paragraphs there is an undercurrent of mild, pleased surprise that linoleum floors should have proved so satisfactory. She liked them better than she had expected to—a very comfortable feeling to have after making any purchase.

Next, you will note that she has decided to put down more linoleum floors.

Also, she is enlisting the service of our Department of Interior Decoration for suggestions as to color harmony and the securing of a certain effect.

Typical of many letters

This letter is typical of many we receive. More and more women are turning to linoleum for floors. Some houses are being built in which floors of Armstrong's Linoleum are specified for every room. And again and again letters come from women, saying they "had no idea" linoleum would look so well and be so easy to take care of.

There is every reason why a floor of linoleum should be satisfactory. The wealth of colors and patterns in which Armstrong's Linoleum is made gives full opportunity for beautiful effects either bright and colorful, or quiet and subdued.

Qualities peculiar to linoleum

From a practical point of view, linoleum makes a splendid floor. Linoleum is water-proof, dust-proof, grease-proof. It is the easiest of all floors to clean, and it is quiet. When carefully laid, linoleum makes a permanent floor and requires little attention beyond an occasional waxing and polishing. Floors of linoleum can be laid in new homes, in remodeled homes or in old homes where floors need refinishing.

The 1923 patterns of Armstrong's Linoleum include beautiful Jaspé (two-tone) effects, parquetry inlays, tile inlays, and carpet inlays. Then there are a number of plain colors and attractive printed designs.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old." The booklet contains a score of colorplates of distinctive designs in Armstrong's Linoleum that you can see at good stores; Jaspés, carpet inlays, tile inlays, marble tiles and printed patterns; also, information on laying linoleum and how to care for your linoleum floors.

Your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant can give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum, laid in your home.

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs

For people who live in apartments or who have houses on short leases and consequently do not wish to install permanent linoleum floors, Armstrong's Linoleum is also made in the form of bordered rugs. Thirty attractive patterns, in four sizes, from 6 x 9 feet to 9 x 12 feet.

Morning, Afternoon and Evening Gowns Show Individuality

Here are three appropriate gowns for the three daily changes—morning, afternoon and evening. The smart little suit at the left is of tan tulle and is the sort of an outfit that should occur annually in every woman's spring wardrobe. The afternoon frock of embroidered crepe has an interesting draping and unusual lines. The sleeveless frock for evening is of orchid satin trimmed only with pearls.

THIS IS THE VAMP THAT "GETS 'EM," SAYS JETTA GOULD, NEW FILM INGENUE, WHO IS SHOWN DEPICTING THE PART.

By MARIAN HALE

A new vamp has slunk into the limelight with raven locks tightly drawn back, dark clinging satin frocks, and mystery galore. A new vamp with surprisingly new ideas.

Jetta Gould is her name. Artists and directors say she is going to make Pola Negri and Theda Bara look like kindergartners. She's making her screen debut in "The Bright Shawl."

"But the trimmings are all back," she confessed to me. "I am dark so I must be a vamp and I must fit into the frame that has been set up for all the other vamps."

"Now why should a vamp be dark, I ask you? You know men like light women better; they are gay and more frothy. And who ever originated the theory that men love mystery? That's all twaddle. Men simply run from anything that suggests mystery in women.

"And who started this precedent of physical exposure? That a vamp should trim herself up in beads and fancy headresses and reveal a foot of her spine to enchant men is so silly. Sympathy—That's it!"

"The little round white collar and the simple baby type of dress will work much more havoc with men than any amount of actual revelation."

"Don't you believe in vamps at all?" I asked her.

"Certainly," she replied. "A vamp is an exaggerated and unprincipled flirt. She needs to be strong enough mentally to dominate men, that is all. She may be light or dark, tall or short. And the face really has very little to do with it."

"The wife who lives beyond her husband's income and who grinds out her youth and energy to buy her clothes to please her vanity is just as much a vamp as the woman who lures a man from his wife and family. One is vamping her own husband, the other vamping another. What they are both doing is dominating the male."

Clothes Captivate

While Madame Gould believes faces are most important in vamping, she believes clothes are most important.

"They are vital," she explained. "A woman is well gowned when she knows her type, sticks to it and makes the most of it. In other words, she dominates herself before she does others."

"I believe more men are influenced unconsciously by women's clothes than they are by what she says. But I don't believe slinky black clothes with 'vamping' tacked on in large letters ever proved alluring to any man. They give away the plot. On the other hand, of course, I think as per directions but at home I wear full skirts and feminine draperies."

"And some of my best vamping has been done in such costumes," she concluded with a laugh.

WILL DO AWAY WITH 15-RIDE TICKET

Beginning on April 4, next Wednesday, the street railway company will discontinue the use of the 15-ride-for-$1.00 tickets which are now used on suburban lines running from Lowell, and the 16-for-$1.00 split ticket will be used on every line in the Lowell district where both the 15 and 16 ride tickets are being used at the present time.

On the 15-for-$1.00 ticket there was a rebate of five cents payable at the office of the street railway and at several stores throughout the city. This has always caused considerable clerical work and has also been a loss to many people who failed to keep their tickets after the 15 rides had been punched out and turn them in for the rebate. It is to do away with the inconvenience of collecting the rebate that the ticket has been discontinued and the 16-ride ticket put in its place.

Monetarily there is very little difference in the two tickets. The 16-ride ticket is worth 64 cents a ride, and the 15-ride ticket, with the nickel rebate included, figured at 61 cents a ride. This change will be a great help to the operators of the cars as well as to the general public, as after Wednesday, they will only have to carry the 16-ride ticket.

155,000 MINERS IDLE RUINS OF CHICHENITSA

Take Day Off in Anthracite Field in Celebration of Eight-Hour Day

HAZLETON, Pa., April 2.—Most of the 155,000 miners of the anthracite field remained idle today in celebration of the eight-hour day. In some sections mass meetings were planned and speakers had ventured addresses dwelling on the significance of the eight-hour concession, which was granted in 1912.

April 1 is the official date of the celebration but as this fell on Sunday, the observance was set for today. Leaders of the mine workers said the idleness of the operations would not seriously cripple the fuel market because the demand had slackened with the advent of spring.

Show Evidences of a Civilization Dating Back to Middle of Fifth Century

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico, April 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Careful examination of the Maya ruins of Chichenitza, just completed by the American scientist Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, has brought to light evidences of a civilization dating back to the middle of the fifth century, which Dr. Morley says, was the most advanced of any in the western hemisphere prior to the discovery of America by Columbus.

The research was inaugurated a decade ago by the Carnegie Institute but was interrupted by the war. The project was again taken up last month, when officers of the institution visited Yucatan and spent some time at Chichenitza. It was apparent that the work would involve the services of a large number of scientific specialists as well as extensive excavations covering a long term of years.

Dr. Morley said today that the ruins of Chichenitza were very extensive, covering an area two miles long and one mile wide, extending from this center in all directions for three to five miles.

Ailing Children Get Well on Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human illness has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. Realizing what that figure means, mothers should contrive methods of handling their children while they still control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and be especially watchful of young girls. Insist on two passages a day until the age of 18, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples, plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestines, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, or lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is bilious, constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Syrup Pepsin, which children never object to taking as they like the taste. By morning the youngster will be well again. Likewise if the nostrils are stuffed up or there is persistent sneezing, a dose of Syrup Pepsin will break up the fever and cold.

Mrs. Geo. N. Colson of Barnard, Me., keeps her family well in that way, and Mrs. Ida A. Burkett of Carroll, La., who has been using Syrup Pepsin for a dozen years, has raised her three children on it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The formula, however, is on every package. Druggists have sold it with satisfaction to their customers for over 30 years, and it is now the largest selling family laxative in the world. Buy a bottle today. It will last you for months, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

A SENSIBLE VETO

Mayor Donovan has done the right thing in vetoing the order for the expenditure of $30,000 on the proposed change of the dangerous corner at the junction of Fall and Allen streets. The sum of $30,000 is altogether too much to be expended for any such purpose when the desired object can be attained for probably less than one-half the amount. The mayor states the reasons for his veto very clearly and they are sound and logical. The change proposed is necessary; but it should be made in the most practical and economical way. It is not at all necessary that tenement property should be made in the most practical that street corner as safe as the average in any thickly settled district.

BOOMING THEIR COMPETITORS

It seems to us that the textile officials of New England are continually booming the mills of the south by magnifying the importance of southern competition. It is true that the northern mills are growing more rapidly than are those of New England; but it is also true that if the New England mills would take an interest in their own district and talk less of moving south, they would have more success and be the better able to meet competition from the south or any other point.

One of the worst features in connection with some of our textile industries is that they do not seem to be indigenous to the soil; they do not feel at home here; their thoughts seem to be outward-bound; and when any class of operatives asks for an increase of wages, the officials usually set up the claim that an increase is impossible as southern competition is undermining their business and taking away their profits. It is worthy of note, however, that most of them are putting away surplus funds for future emergencies and that instead of trying to expand their business here, the surplus funds are used in many cases for expansion in the south. Thus it is, that New England textile industries are building up the south with capital taken from such cities as Lowell, Lawrence and Fall River. How long can this process continue without overthrowing the supremacy of the New England textile industries and sending it to Georgia, Florida or Alabama? It seems to us that the attitude of New England textile industries in this respect is almost suicidal. Wages are lower and hours of work longer in the south than in New England; but when the walking delegates get down there, this will speedily change. Then the mills of the south will have to contend with precisely the same conditions which caused some of them to flee the north.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S FAME

How long will the fame of Sarah Bernhardt endure? If we are to judge from the fate of other great actors and actresses, we should be obliged to give a pessimistic answer.

According to press reports, the unostentatious vault that received the body of the great Sarah Bernhardt contained but the simple one-word inscription "Bernhardt." But yesterday all Paris paused to pay respect to the memory of the world's greatest exponent of the spoken drama; today, the tumult of the winds in France's softer; a nation knows and mourns. Tombed there in the cemetery Pere La Chaise, her epitaph needs no artistic adornment—just "Bernhardt" and all the world understands.

Not so long ago, this same France engaged in a great world war, the ravages of which claimed millions of lives. The gallant soldiers who fell and are buried in the poppy fields of Flanders, without ceremonial or eulogy—they, too, were actors, leading characters on the flaming stage of war. In 1918 they were, like Bernhardt, in 1923, universally mourned, but in a few years, the gay boulevards of Paris were again in full operation, apparently forgetful of the heroic dead that lay beneath wooden crosses in scarred and barren battlefields. And while today Bernhardt's death, like that of innumerable other celebrities of international fame, occasions the profoundest expressions of sympathy and sorrow, tomorrow she may be forgotten. Her place shall be taken by another, and when tourists, years hence, visit the little French cemetery, reading upon the inscription, "Bernhardt," many will inquire who was "Bernhardt," and those who know will bow their heads in sadness and murmur "sic transit gloria."

The nature of the dramatic art is not calculated to bring enduring fame as would works of art or literature. The spoken word, though uttered with the highest art of burning eloquence, does not resound across the ages except through the phonograph. Written addresses of a high order live in literature, but not so the art of the actor or actress that is heard and enjoyed only by the auditory to which it is delivered. The time may come when not only the spoken word but the facial expression and dramatic action accompanying it may be transmitted to posterity by the use of the phonograph.

NOT MANDATORY

It is very plain that an attempt was made to have the legislature bind the city council to pay the members of the election commission $2000 each. The legislature saw how unjust it would be to do anything of the kind, and it has not done so. It has given the city council the power to pay each member of the commission a salary not exceeding $2000; but it has not enacted a statute making it mandatory upon the city council to pay that amount. To do so would be a violation of the principle of home rule and an unwarranted interference by the legislature in the affairs of our city. The members of the election commission may be worth $2000 each to the city or even a larger amount. That is not the point at issue. The question is, whether the legislature has passed a law compelling the city council to pay the members of this commission the sum of $2000 each. To do so would betray a piece of political jobbery for which neither the commission nor the legislature should care to be responsible.

LOWER GAS IN LAWRENCE?

Important news comes from Lawrence, as it very often does, of course. We are informed by the Lawrence Telegram that April 11 is going to be almost a red-letter day for Lawrence citizens, if that proposed hearing on the reduction of the rates charged by the Lawrence Gas company for both gas and electricity, brings the desired results. The department of public utilities has set the day upon petition of the Lawrence city council, that planned for this event some time ago and now has the chance to put the matter up to the proper people in the proper way. We wish our Lawrence friends well in this emphatic effort to secure lower prices for the commodities named. Not always is a campaign of this sort successful even when backed up by large majorities; but at the same time it shows that Lawrence has the spirit to stand up and ask for what it wants. The outcome will be watched with interest.

NEW RAILWAY EQUIPMENT

Good news comes from the executive offices of the Massachusetts public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, who formally announced that on March 23, an order was placed with well known street car manufacturing plant in New England for 50 new double-track cars of the one-man operating type. The cost is estimated at $550,000. Deliveries are to be made in October and in November and the cars will be equally distributed among several of the fifteen operating districts. We hope Lowell will get its share and a little bit more, if possible. The new cars ought to greatly improve the service and the healthy-sized order that has gone out for better rolling stock indicates that the Eastern corporation has a little more money in sight and hopes to get back to a good paying basis before long, which is as it should be.

THE GUILD BALL

The Sun is glad to commend to public favor and patronage the annual ball of the Lowell Guild to be held at the Auditorium on Friday, April 6. The Guild is doing splendid work in furnishing prepared milk for babies in the summer time, and providing nurses at a nominal expense for those who need them in case of sickness. These district nurses have done a great deal of good in their attendance upon the sick, and much of their success lies in the instructions they give for the proper care and treatment of mothers and little children. It is safe to say that they have already helped very materially to reduce the infant mortality in Lowell. Those who attend the ball at the Auditorium will thereby aid in raising funds to continue this benevolent work.

OUR FOOD

Did you ever stop to wonder where the food you eat comes from? A commission man, "shopping" in New York city finds spinach from Mexico, fresh melons from South Africa, honey almonds from the Holy Land, new potatoes from Florida, green peas and asparagus from California, butter from Denmark, eggs from China, meats from New Zealand and Argentina.

The prices are prohibitive to most people, on the foods "out of season." But even the average person "has it" on such ancient personages as King Tut, when it comes to drawing on the far corners of the earth for food. What is what modern transportation and cold storage refrigeration (invented by Teller, who died in poverty) does for us. Why, Tut didn't even have ice to keep his milk from spoiling nor cool blasts to save him from the scorching winds of the desert. In this light does it not appear that the average person today enjoys more luxuries than did the royal personages of old?

HEAR DAVIS

Let the people from the mills and factories hasten to the Auditorium as soon as they quit work this afternoon at five o'clock. They will be well repaid for going there in hearing the address of Secretary James J. Davis of the department of labor at Washington. We shall all want to hear the message that Mr. Davis brings us from Washington.

A new steamship service has just been inaugurated between southern ports and Boston. Two more large steamship lines have filed petitions with the Interstate Commerce commission, seeking to establish ocean-freighting routes that will have Boston as a terminal and forwarding point. It is to be regretted that there has to be so much petty official fussing and quibbling with the Interstate Commerce department before reputable lines to American terminal ports such as Boston, which needs a great deal more shipping before it can regain its lost prestige as a popular port of entry and dispatch of world's trading commodities.

City Solicitor O'Sullivan will doubtless give an opinion that will remove any misapprehension as to the respective powers of the mayor and city council in the matter of appropriating money for the various departments. It is well to have the question cleared up as soon as possible.

It is time for Spring to rather up her south winds and give old Boreas a slap in the face that will make him stay where he belongs.

An already stated in The Sun, an early increase in wages is pending to the operatives of the local cotton mills.

"Archibald, dear," said the young mother, "you must not go near the baby." "Why?" returned the young father, "may I not look at him for a minute?" "No, dear," answered the young mother, "he's asleep at present. I'll let you take him when he wakes up in the night."

Grand Old Lady

Since the early part of last fall Mrs. Rosa Adams, aged 92, of West Dover, Vt., has placed 15 bedquills; has helped to tie out 19 bedquills; has spun the yarn and knitted one pair of leg-kings, the feet of four pairs of stockings, and 13 pairs of mittens. She has made 12 sheets and four pairs of pillow cases and has done most of the mending for a family of nine. She has also assisted in the general household duties.

He Liked "English"

One of the messenger boys was deploring the fact that he had been obliged to leave school, whereupon the other boy sought to comfort him. "Sakes alive! Too bad you can't go back to school. I liked school swell, got ritmetic and joggery. But English—say kid, I liked that swell. It was the berries for me."

"I took the telephone operator out fishing with me," said Bowers. "She had just got her line in when a big bass pulled it pole and all into the water." "What did she do?" inquired Loveland, with considerable interest. "She munched her gum for a few minutes, then said placidly: 'The line is busy.'"

Very Good, Mr. Brown

At the club Brown made the startling assertion that he was being sent to the head side of any coin he could turn the date. "Well, sir," said Green stilling a penny. "The date?" "Certainly," said Brown. "The 24th of March. There is the calendar." What the others said is beside the point.

"I am disgusted," said Harris, "with the chronic delays in our postal service. The difficulty seems to be increasing." "Mason was somewhat hazy about the modern methods of transportation and communication, but he was strong on advice. 'Why don't you send your things by telegraph?'" he inquired.

Sing On

Sing, oh sing, for the night is dark And the darkness carries long. And the wine of the land with shadowing wings. Is still by the power of song. There is never a light on the land to-night. There is never a star in the sky. Only the glance of the lightning's lance. And the white waves leaping high.

The seabird swings on tireless wings. The waves with rhythmic heat. Their world is the shore repeat: And borne on winds afar. The vault echoes fill. The vault of heaven from star to star. The earth from hill to hill.

Sing, oh sing, for the night is past, And the sun shines over the sea. And the heart of the world is a song of love.

And hope for the days to be. The terror that flies through the 'midnight skies. And the powers of the dark are come. Till the music fills the echoing hills. Heart of my heart, sing on!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A little hotel up in New Hampshire received a lot of publicity in the newspapers last week to which it is not entitled. The item read about as follows:

Mrs. Anna F. Remick, 87, who brought fame to the hotel and to a particular cut of beefsteak, died here yesterday. She developed such skill in carving steaks from the sides of heavy beef that the tender cuts which she served soon became known as porterhouse steaks.

The facts are that a good many years before Mrs. Remick was born there was a celebrated hostelry in what is now the down-town section of New York that served meals as well as porter. The salubrious that landed in New York with their silver cutlery in the habit of going there because of the delicious quality of the steaks that were served and which were furnished by a New York butcher who cut them in accordance with instructions that were given by the proprietor of the porter house. This butcher soon became known as the "Porter House" and the men who did the cutting soon got in the habit of referring to them as porter house steaks instead of steaks for the porter house. In time, other cutting houses as well as housewives demanded steaks cut in the same way, and the butchers all over town were soon cutting them. That is how the porterhouse steak got its name, as most readers of the Butcher's Advocate know.

Lowell radio fans who listened in on Newark, N.J., were well pleased when they found that there was to be a rendition of the opera "Martha." To the many who usually throw up their hands when opera is mentioned, "Martha" came as an agreeable surprise. Opera in their formerly meant a confused jumble of screeches and howls emitted by some notable singer of foreign extraction. But they were surprised to hear a beautiful tone solo to the tune of the "Last Rose of Summer," and then the song that has made and unmade many tenors. "Martha" is based on country life in England, and the theme of the whole opera is based on the old Irish air, "The Last Rose of Summer." To any one who hears and who understands a little about it, it was really noticeable in the various numbers the undertone of all the

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Alleged Enemies of Liberty

New York World: "Neither communism nor fascism has anything to do with liberty," writes Premier Mussolini of Italy who boasts that "fascism is not afraid to declare itself illiberal or anti-liberal. It has already passed, and it necessarily will again pass, without the slightest hesitation, over the body, more or less decomposed, of the goddess of liberty."

To the average American no political sentiment could be more revolting than this. No political sentiment could be more ruthlessly at war with every tradition of the republic. Yet while no American would publicly avow the opinion that Mussolini has so brutally expressed millions of Americans are engaged daily in practicing the theory of government that he exalts.

Organization after organization in the United States is consecrated to the principles of Mussolini, whatever its public professions may be. The Anti-Saloon league is an example of fascism, and so is the Ku Klux Klan.

Are We Prospering?

Boston Globe: Are the folks in Massachusetts prospering? Well, the Boston collector of internal revenue says he has received this year more than $1,000,000 income taxes from about 300,000 persons, 25,000 more than a year ago. And the population of Massachusetts men, women and children, in 1920 was 3,522,255.

Summer Resort Fires

Nantasket beach Thursday morning emphasized again one of the summer resorts' problems. In former days any kind of construction was considered good enough for beach and mountain resorts. Houses of light construction were packed in closely without consideration of the possibility of a fire. Yet the high winds that are prevalent at the seashore in the summer as well as at other seasons render it certain that a small blaze in any portion was likely to sweep the entire resort.

The centre of Old Orchard was wiped out in a few hours. Salisbury beach was swept clean at a similar point. Hampton beach and Revere have suffered similar losses. Meanwhile mountain and country resorts have lost leading hotels within recent years. It has been fortunate that these fires have not been accompanied by loss of life.

The chamber of commerce bulletin for April contains the following article on the proposed new hotel for Lowell: "Authorities in hotel financing say that financing a hotel for Lowell would be a very easy matter. The difficult matter is to get the proper leaseholder or tenant—one perfectly efficient and equipped with experience and finances to manage a new hotel. Just as soon as this proper tenant is secured then a new model hotel for Lowell is practically assured. Many hotel men and hotel managing concerns have expressed the desire to lease a new hotel in Lowell, but they have not been of the calibre desired by promoters."

CANADIAN TRADE WITH U. S. DECREASED

OTTAWA, Ont., April 2.—Canada's foreign trade for 1922 amounted to $1,647,701,592, or an increase of more than $45,000,000 over 1921, according to the report of the federal department of trade and commerce.

Total imports for the year amounted to $762,339,369, the report shows. Total exports reached $885,362,223. The year closed with a favorable trade balance of $32,123,337.

Great Britain was Canada's best customer during 1922 and the United States was second, according to the report. England purchased Canadian products to the extent of $774,751,594, an increase of more than $65,000,000 over 1921, while the United States purchased $340,186,247 worth of goods, an increase of about $14,000,000 over 1921.

A surprising feature of the report is the fact that Canada's purchases from the United States during 1922 amounted to a decline as compared with 1921, amounting to $506,324,760, as against $565,081,000, a falling off of $58,756,240. Canada's purchases from Great Britain showed an increase in value of more than $13,000,000, jumping from $123,149,776 in 1921, to $136,376,288, last year.

CHILD INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Richard Beauchemin, aged 5 years and residing at 102 Hale street, sustained a broken collar bone and other painful injuries last evening when he was struck by a taxi of the Yellow Cab Co., operated by Eddie R. Nichols. The accident occurred at the corner of Branch and Canal streets, at about 6:30 o'clock. It is claimed that the little fellow, who was walking along the sidewalk, was walking toward the curb when he was struck by the automobile. The chauffeur, who was driving the car, was not injured. The chauffeur volunteered to remove the child to the hospital, but the grandmother objected and the little fellow was taken to his home, where he received medical attendance.

The guy who says, "See!" I don't mind; Nor he who says, always, "Yuh know!" But there is one type of mankind Which causes my temper to glow— And that's the gazabo, the bird or the bean, Who's constantly saying, "You know what I mean?"

"I'm wondering whether—you know what I mean? This uncertain weather will stay on the scene? I feel like a winner all peppy and keen, I've just had my dinner—You know what I mean?"

With rising inflection he uses this phrase And keeps on repeating it all of his days, Till, though I'm a person well poised and serene, I feel I must kill him—"You know what I mean?"

"That girl is a pippin—you know what I mean?" She sets my heart skipping, she sure is a queen! The grass keeps on growing—its color is green, The wind's always blowing—you know what I mean?"

So sentence by sentence and time after time And whether the subject be gay or sublime This phrase he repeats without reason or rhyme, This constant, "You know what I mean?"

The guy who repeats "Understand?" With every remark that he makes, Is one that should promptly be canned; But greatest of human mistakes Is that pesky bozo or bimbo or bean Who ends every sentence, "You know what I mean?" (Copyright, 1923, The Lowell Sun.)

PILGRIM COMMANDERY AT FIRST CHURCH

Easter services held last evening at the First Congregational church were very impressive, a feature of the important event in the annals of this society being the presence of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templars, who marched to the church to hear an inspiring sermon on "Immortality" delivered by the pastor, Rev. Percy E. Thomas.

The pulpit was elaborately decorated with palms and Easter lilies, with a background of deep red velvet with an illuminated cross in the center. The organ recital at 6:30 p. m. was given by Miss Ella L. Gale. At 6:30 the members of the commandery, under Eminent Commander Perry D. Thompson, marched into the church to seats reserved for the fraternity. Every other seat in the edifice was quickly filled and many hundreds of people turned away after 6:30 o'clock because of lack of seating room.

Pastor Thomas' sermon theme was taken from the passage in the book of Job, "If a man die, so shall he live again." The spirit of immortality touches the heart and mind of all at some time during life, although little thought is given to it until the years pass on and one grows old, began the pastor. There are people who say they are not concerned with such thoughts and profess no real concern, but the majority feel that such a thing is of the most vital concern and really do give it a great deal of consideration. Moody, on his death-bed, declared to his sympathizing friends gathered at his death-bed, that he was "sweeping on towards heaven." Many other great leaders in religious faiths have had similar revelations. In the heavens of most of us, the pastor continued, there is a feeling that immortality exists. He praised those who go to church to profess their belief in God and the immortality, he declared, actually shows the strength of the Statesmen, poets, artists and workmen alike declare that there is a hereafter. Senator Johnson is scheduled to return home in June, about the time President Harding is booked to start on his European tour. He has been taken for granted that Senator Johnson will give his impressions of Europe to audiences in the New England and middle western states—and give them in a loud voice, too. What Senator Johnson will say regarding America's representation in the court of international justice will be a notable among other things for its violent dissent from President Harding's statements on the same subject.

Senator Moses will be back in his native land early in the summer and will be a sort of terminus for Senator Johnson in the matter of denouncing the international court and the president's management of the case. The students recognize it. There are predictions that Senator Moses will attempt to anticipate President Harding's speech-making in favor of American participation in the court by issuing a series of statements while he is traveling through Europe; the burden of these being "take care!" and also "beware!"

George Werrenrath's father was Johann Peter Werrenrath, a famous Danish basso, and his wife, Klraten Christensen, was a noted singer of Norway. And for two generations back of these were two Engelbert Werrenraths both of them famous musicians.

On the maternal side the musical ancestry of Reinald Werrenrath is no less distinguished and is purely American. His grandfather, Henry Camp, a bass singer and a player of the sax violon, was a great grandfather, Jonathan Camp, and his wife, Rachel Hottelak, both of them singers, and finally it is possible to go back two more generations to Nicholas Camp, who founded Milford Conn., in 1635, and undoubtedly would have sung in the choir of the meeting house except that those dour Puritans of that day frowned on music as being one of the chief weapons of the devil.

If Reinald Werrenrath had become anything but a singer and a very good singer, it is certain that many graves would have been disturbed by the turning in them of his musical ancestors.

After all known antiseptics had failed to check infection in the war hospitals of France, the Carrel-Dakin Solution was discovered. It drove infection from the hospitals, healed great gaping wounds like magic, and saved the lives of countless numbers of men.

Zonite, a stabilized and improved form of the famous World-war antiseptic, is now accomplishing similar wonders in the hospitals, homes and factories throughout the United States. Below is a letter from Mrs. L. T. Brendle, Newton Center, Mass., that indicates the effectiveness of Zonite when used for chronic infections.

"Zouli! No one can possibly know what that name means to me, not unless they have had an experience such as mine.

"For five years I had a virulent ulcer on my right leg. While it was there, it was the most part of the misery and unhappiness it caused me. Never for a single minute did it stop discharging in all that time. I had to wear a bandage constantly and change it at least twice a day.

"I am not necessary to say that everything humanly odious was tried in an effort to stop the discharge and heal the wound, but nothing was of the slightest benefit that I could see.

"I read of Zouli and thought that I would wish trying. In fact, I bought it hoping to use it with the drug water about what this sort of antiseptic had done in the war.

"I began using it that night, washing the sore with half Zonite and half water and then wetting the bandage thoroughly. I have used three bottles of the antiseptic. Before I had finished the third bottle the sore was completely healed but I kept on using it a week longer to make sure.

"The only thing I can say is that what has happened amounts to a miracle from heaven. I have sent you Zonite for a bad sore throat and over night it was cured, but this hardly seems worth talking about after such an experience as mine. It would be inappropriate for me to put my gratitude into words."

Zonite, although more than twice as powerful as pure carbolic acid, is non-poisonous, non-irritating and healing. It destroys germs like fire, yet can be used on the most delicate membrane and tissues with no harm whatsoever.

Spanish War Veterans Will Observe Anniversary at Annual Encampment

Lowell war heroes are after more honors, this time in convention channels with historic old Cambridge the battle ground for record attendance figures.

Programs for the 25th anniversary of the Spanish war and the 21th annual encampment of the U.S.W.V.A. will be held in Cambridge, April 17, 18 and 19, were out today.

Lowell camp is preparing to have its biggest delegation in the state on and for all three days' events. Two auxiliaries will also be extensively represented, and plans are being made to have Lowell capture attendance honors on each day, if possible, but on the last day at least.

The war veterans' encampment will open in historic Sanders theatre at 8 p.m. April 17, with a formal meeting on behalf of the city of Cambridge and Leslie F. Hunting camp of that municipality. After the formalities, there will be a buffet luncheon served in the Sanders theatre, which is close by the theatre. Then comes a positively high class concert and an 1923 campfire with 1923 trimmings in Sanders theatre.

Major Walter R. Joyes was informed that Sanders theatre, rich in memories that cluster around it in the old of Harvard college students, has been turned over gratis to the United States Spanish War Veterans by Harvard university.

On April 18, the veterans will open their annual convention in 1218's hall, Central square, Cambridge. More freedom of the city and free use of the fraternal brother's private headquarters for the visiting war veterans and their ladies!

The Ladies' auxiliary will open their convention at the American Legion headquarters in the Cambridge square on April 18, also, both conventions being called to order at 9 a. m. sharp.

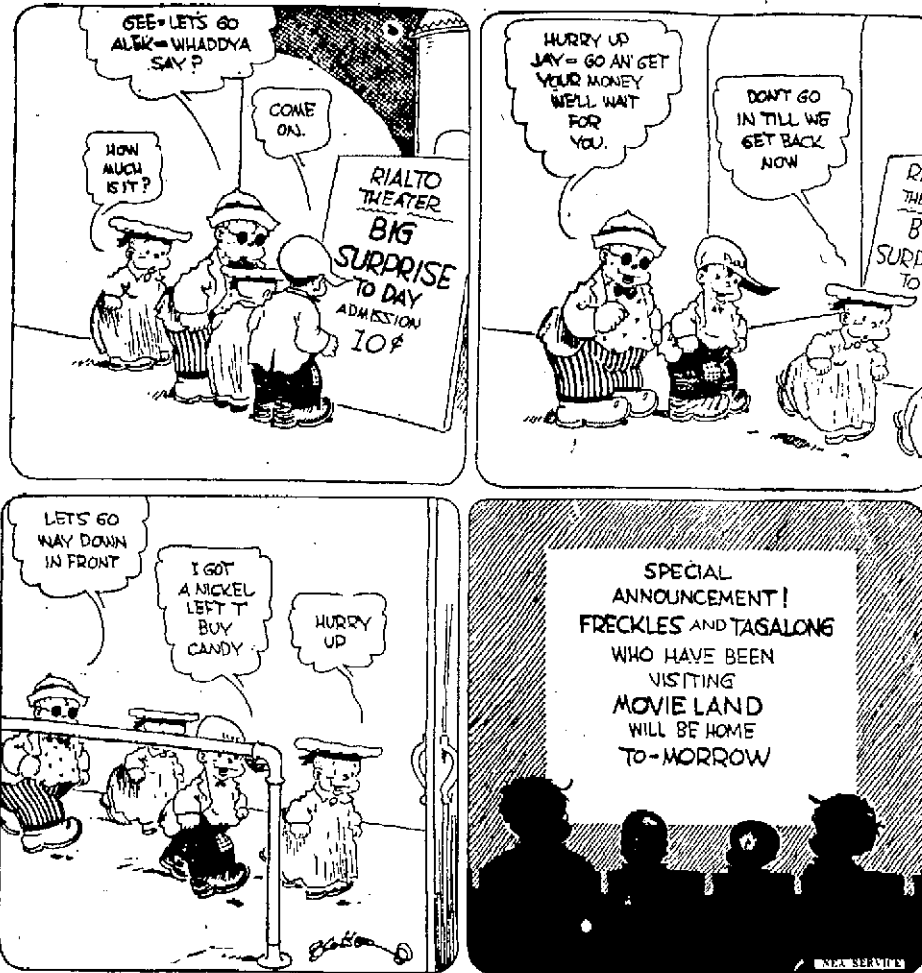

Reports have it that Lowell may secure the next annual convention, and local delegates will work hard to that end.

A feature of the April three-day gathering of the clans in Cambridge will be the bringing of souvenirs and flags of the Spanish war, together with interesting relics, which will be displayed for the view of all visiting veterans and their ladies and the people of Cambridge.

The list of honored guests will include Governor Channing Cox and one or two congressmen. Invitations have already gone out to noted regular army authorities, including a general or two.

The Spanish War Veterans are still after that state appropriation amounting to $5000, in order to help the organizations properly celebrate the 25th anniversary of the war with Spain. The original plan was for a parade in Boston with the naval brigade and the six regiments officially recognized as from this state and not for other commands in which Massachusetts men served. The commander of the Spanish War Veterans for Massachusetts, at the hearing in Boston, March 14, demanded that the appropriation be made large enough to in-

GYRSIES AROUSE BERLIN POLICE

BERLIN, April 2.—Silver-spurred cowpunchers of America's golden west, the rough-riders of the Pendleton round-up and Cheyenne's frontier day, would be green with envy if they could see the trappings of German gypsies who have a camp near Berlin.

These gypsies recently created a furore in police circles by offering heavy solid gold spurs and other precious metal for sale in shops which buy old gold and other precious metal. The metal dealers advised the police and sought their aid in finding out how the wanderers came to have such valuable trappings.

An investigation showed that all the members of the band had similar spurs, and had owned them for generations. They were heirlooms of the tribe, and the owners had decided to part with some of them for the purpose of raising more money to engage in horse-trading on a larger scale than their depreciated paper marks made possible.

LINCOLN, England, April 2.—Four mice got inside a transformer at the municipal power house and bit through the rubber of a cable, plunging the town into darkness.

Four Generations Helped to better health by this time-tested laxative

Dr. True's Elixir

The True Family Laxative

For over 72 years this pleasant and effective laxative has given proper relief to thousands of men, women and children who have suffered from constipation, deranged stomach, and other troublesome complaints brought on by disordered, sluggish bowels.

For good health—to be free from headaches, bad fasting mouth, all-gone feeling in stomach, dizzy spells, constipation, the bowels must be kept tuned up. Nature can be assisted by using Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller.

Safeguard your own health, look after the children who show signs of worms and should be rid of them the easiest, safest way—by taking Dr. True's Elixir.

Your dealer knows of its world-wide reputation, gained through four generations of public health service. Made from imported herbs of strictly pure quality.

Signs of Worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full stomach, with pains, pale face, eyes heavy and dull, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, tongue coated and covered with little red points, starting during sleep with troublesome dreams, slow fever.

Mrs. Henry Johnson, 820 Hayward Ave., Baltimore, says: "I have bought Dr. True's Elixir for over 10 years and know it is good."

Mrs. H. N. Roberts, 501 Anyhumb St., Flint, Mich., says: "My little girl is relieved of her worms." And in a later letter wrote: "Baby is fine and it was your medicine, Dr. True's Elixir, that helped her."

clude the 7000 members of that order, regardless of whether they served in regiments or the naval brigade of the state. The plan is still "in the air."

Some local veterans feel that everybody in the state who enlisted in the Spanish war and served, should be entitled to parade in the anniversary column as veterans of the 1918 struggle.

One of the last pieces of legislation passed by the last congress was the so-called Sweet bill, which modifies the war risk insurance act in the interest of disabled veterans, and brings veterans of all wars under some of its provisions.

When a veteran of any war dies after his discharge or release from active service and does not leave sufficient assets to meet the expense of his burial and transportation of the body, the government will provide funds not to exceed $1000. If the death occurs while the veteran is receiving treatment, either medical or hospital, under government care, or if he is receiving vocational training, the veteran bureau will pay in addition the actual expenses of transportation of the body to the place of burial.

DIG OUT STALLED CAR IN BILLERICA

That stalled electric car that was abandoned in huge snow drifts on St. Valentine's Day near Nutting's Lake on the Billerica-Bedford street railway line and duly pictured in The Sun, was dug out late Saturday afternoon and taken to the car barns in North Lexington for repairs.

Thus ends the tale of the somewhat famous storm-bound car that made a long journey through blinding snow and big drifts only to wind up on the afternoon of Feb. 14, more than six weeks ago, on the outskirts of Billerica Centre, there to remain, tying up the through line from Billerica to Boston via Bedford and Arlington Heights transfer. Employees of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway tolled nearly all of last week to open the country traffic line and free the lonely car from its snowdrift and icy prison.

And rains, drifts of snow, with a solid bottom of thick ice, have been found in a number of places, burying the tracks to a depth of two feet.

Regular service on the main line between Arlington Heights and Billerica was resumed late Saturday afternoon. Cars on the main line have been running between Arlington Heights and Bedford. With the breaking out of the main line, work was started clearing the Concord line between Bedford and Concord, and service on this line will probably be resumed in a day or two.

This line, the last snowbound stretch of iron on the Lexington division of the Middlesex and Boston, has been out of commission for more than two months.

PRES. HARDING NOT A SHOWMAN

Sec. Davis Declares President Not Bothering His Head About Politics of 1924

Says Executive Poor Advertiser—Works on Job, But Doesn't Talk About It

BOSTON, April 2.—President Harding is "not bothering his head over much about the politics of 1924," Secretary Davis told the Women's Republican Club of Boston in a speech here today. The president's secretary, after expressing his views on woman's place in politics, discussed Mr. Harding's attitude toward the forthcoming presidential campaign. "The president's plans seem to be worrying many of our people," Secretary Davis said. "I think that every newspaperman I have talked to for the past month or more, has wanted to know what they are. Well, I'll tell you something about the president. President Harding is probably the poorest advertiser in the United States today. The smallest corner grocer in Boston could undoubtedly give him a big handicap and beat him at the game of getting himself sold, as they call it, to the public. This is not the time of our old and respected friend Theodore Roosevelt, who had the faculty of letting folks know what he was doing, and how fast he was doing it. President Harding reminds me of the man who was made boss of the mill, back in the days when I worked with my hands. This mill worker was a man that nobody had ever noticed. He never had been engaged in any of the ordinary disputes about the plant, but the quiet man got the job. And we found out why. He worked at his job. He didn't talk about it. Well, that is President Harding. He works at his job. He doesn't talk about it.

"President Harding is an indefatigable worker and his accomplishments tremendous results. He is a plain business-like individual, with a genius for stabilizing the things. He is not the man to do his work to the tune of a brass band. I have often urged him to let the people know the seriousness of the tasks confronting him and the steps he has taken, and is taking to perform them, for I know something of the value of publicity. But he has insisted that the work will speak for itself, and the people will find the things out. When I have sought to point out that there is a campaign of 1924 coming, and that a little advertising for the administration would do no harm, he has told me that he is not a showman, not a stage director. He holds that today the best politics is service to the people.

MAJ. GEN. BULLARD WILL COME TO LOWELL

Maj. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, commanding officer of the Second Corps area, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y., has received orders from the war department to attend the big party to be given by the Organized Reserve men of Lowell at the Memorial Auditorium on April 18, if he can possibly do so without interfering with his other duties.

Maj. Gen. Bullard is a native of Alabama and a graduate of West Point. During the war he was in command of the second army and received the distinguished service medal from the U. S. government and was also decorated by France, Belgium and Italy. It was he who wrote that message at the opening of the second battle of the Marne, in July 1918, which concluded with the following: "We are going to counter-attack." This message was written when it appeared that the allied forces were doomed to defeat, and the message did much to save the day for it proved to the French, Belgian and British forces that the U. S. army did not know the word retreat and were going forward. The action of his army saved the day and the Germans were thrown back after it seemed that victory was theirs.

Maj. Gen. Andrew Brewster, commanding officer of the first corps area, with headquarters at Boston, is also expected to attend this big meeting. He is well known in Lowell, having addressed a gathering of Legion men but a short time ago.

Maj. Tonney is planning on making this meeting at the Auditorium the highest and the future will be held in regard to Organized Reserve affairs, and he plans on throwing the Auditorium open to all who would be interested in hearing these men who have become leaders in the army tell of their experiences and of the Organized Reserve. His plans are not yet completed. He will, however, be in Lowell, and he can now go ahead and complete his plans.

overmuch about the politics of 1924. He is spending his time working for the people of the United States today, tomorrow and 100 years from now. The country's economic recovery during the present administration, Secretary Davis said, has no precedent in its history. Within a few months the nation has emerged from industrial and financial panic to prosperity, he said, with indications of prosperity on every hand.

Discussing the position of women in politics, the secretary said: "I am one of those who find a great consolation for the present, a great hope for the future, in the advent of our American women into political life through the exercise of the right of suffrage. I am one of those who believe that women in politics means better politics; no worse women, and that women will bring into public life those same virtues that they have so long displayed in American home life."

Japanese Prince Killed in Auto Accident

BERNAY, France, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of Prince Kitashirakawa, who was killed in an automobile accident here yesterday, rested today in the nave of the tiny church at Perriers la Campagne to which it was transported by the French authorities with the honors befitting a member of the imperial family of Japan. The prince was a brother-in-law of Emperor Yoshihito. Onotake Sato, councillor of the Japanese embassy in Paris and son of the former ambassador to Washington is here directing the efforts being made to save the lives of Princess Fushiko, widow of Kitashirakawa; Prince Yasuhiko Asaka, cousin of the mikkado and Mlle. Elizabeth Saury, lady-in-waiting, who were injured.

Man Disappointed in Love Ends Life

BOSTON, April 2.—James F. McDonald, disappointed in love, committed suicide at a lodging house in the East Boston district where his body was found today. He had hanged himself to the bedpost in his room. Mrs. James Falla, the landlady, said McDonald had received word recently that the young woman to whom he was engaged, had married another man.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MEERMAK SQUARE THEATRE. "Adam's Rib," one of the greatest and most lavish photoplays ever produced by C. M. de Mille, opened a new engagement at the Meerma Square theatre yesterday. Crowds who saw the opening performance were so impressed by the business of the production, and there is no doubt that it will attract capacity houses all week.

"Adam's Rib" is the most lavish production of its kind since the time of the great producer, de Mille. It unfolds a story of real human interest with an all-star cast, including Miss Mary Astor, Mrs. N. N. Patten, and Mrs. J. J. Nissen in the leading roles. There will be no increase in admission prices because of this big production. The settings range from a brilliant society ballroom to a princely jungle in the heart of Africa. The production is a masterpiece of the art of the theatre, and it is a pity that it is not being shown in more theatres.

THE STRAND. It has been three long years since Norma Talmadge and Eugene Pallette have been co-starred in a picture. The return of this pair to the silver screen will surely be a source of general pleasure to all patrons of the Strand. The picture is "The Whirlwind from the Minaret," a story in which the great actress, Norma Talmadge, is given wide range in her performance. The picture is a masterpiece of the art of the theatre, and it is a pity that it is not being shown in more theatres.

TO COMBAT POPULARITY OF MOTION PICTURES

NEW YORK, April 2.—Channing Pollock, today announced tentative plans for the production of legitimate drama at small admission prices to combat the growing popularity of motion pictures, which he admits will cause his backers a loss of at least $2000 a week. The highest priced seats will be $1 each, according to Pollock.

Pollock said that in the 1924-25 season he and his backers would lease a theatre seating no more than 1400 persons, in which to produce the best of modern plays. There also would be seats for 25c, 50c and 75c, he declared.

BODY OF CHUKRI BEY, TURKISH DEPUTY FOUND

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of Chukri Bey, deputy from Erzurum to the Turkish national assembly at Ankara, was found floating in the Bosphorus today. The body was found near the home of the deceased, and the authorities, in view of the circumstances, sought to inter-view Osman Agla, but he had disappeared.

Chukri Bey was one of the founders of the newspaper Tan, which has consistently opposed the policies of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, nationalist leader. After his disappearance, one of his colleagues hinted in a speech before the assembly that he had fallen victim to his political opinions.

KLAN INVOLVED IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—Intense feeling and rivalry between Ku Klux Klan and anti-Klan forces today marked the close of the municipal election campaign here.

Three of the eight candidates for city commissioner are said to have received the endorsement of the Klan, while the other five are said to have been elected by the anti-Klan forces. The Klan is said to have committed men in each of the 61 precincts of the city and plans of the anti-Klan forces call for the stationing of at least 10 workers at each precinct Tuesday.

RECORD FREIGHT BUSINESS ON B. & A.

BOSTON, April 2.—The Boston & Albany railroad announced today that its freight business for last month was the heaviest for any month of March in its history. B. & A. handled with its western gateway 33,150 loaded freight cars, an average of 1099 per day. There were five days when more than 1200 loaded cars were handled.

The previous B. & A. record for March, which was in 1918, was 31,625 loaded freight cars moved east from the Hudson river.

WELL KNOWN PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS TODAY

Sparks, C. H. Molloy's Sons, and the Peter Savage undertaking establishment. The property on Market street is numbered from 347 to 351, and on Northern street from 153 to 171. The assessed valuation of the property is $48,500 and it is stated that the purchase price was in the vicinity of $55,000. Messrs. Fudim and Silverblatt bought the property for investment purposes.

Dr. Sparks has conducted a veterinary surgeon's business on this location for a great number of years, and up to three years ago hired the stable for business purposes. Three years ago he purchased the property from the original owner. This is the second time the property has been conveyed, it being owned by John Hadley until its sale to Dr. Sparks.

"The Hero," a delightful Aftermath of the great war, with David Butler in the leading role supported by an all-star cast, is the leading attraction of the opening at the Elitist theatre beginning this afternoon. The supporting attractions are also very good.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Harold Killing and Miss Ellen Parent were married last evening at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. G. Backlund, O.M.I. The bride wore blue tulle and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Rose Killing, who was attired in grey silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Mr. Joseph Parent, a brother of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Killing, 209 Laidlaw street, and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Pawtucket, R. I. Upon their return they will make their home at 209 Laidlaw street.

Dion—Parent

The marriage of Mr. Alfred Dion and Miss Young Parent took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Louis rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Labrosse. The bride wore blue tulle and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by her bridesmaid, Miss Rose Killing, who was attired in grey silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Mr. Joseph Parent, a brother of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Killing, 209 Laidlaw street, and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Pawtucket, R. I. TRAIL WOMAN IN KEENAN CASE

Newest Central Figure in Police Pursuit of Clues to Solution of Mystery

Acting Dist. Atty. Pecora Withdraws From Investigation for Present at Least

NEW YORK, April 2.—A woman now is the newest central figure in the police pursuit of clues to a solution of the mystery of the murder of Dorothy Keenan, who was chloroformed to death a score of days ago.

It was learned today that the police had for some time been trailing the sweetheart of a man who for several days has been under suspicion, chiefly because he has been unable to account for his actions for the hours between midnight preceding the murder and 8 o'clock the next morning.

The woman, they said, was being trailed in the hope that she might attempt to dispose of some of the jewels or other articles that were stolen from the model's West 57th-street apartment. She already has been interviewed by the police, having provided the suspected man with an alibi for the hours before and after the murder with the exception of the eight that still remain unexplained.

The suspect is believed to have known the slain model intimately, the authorities said. They now are working on the theory that blackmail led to the girl's murder, and that the robbery was an afterthought.

Acting District Attorney Pecora announced yesterday that he had withdrawn from the investigation for the present at least. He said he would not again re-enter the case unless specifically asked to do so by the police.

HIGH SCHOOL ANNEX FIRE LOSS ADJUSTED

The work of adjusting the fire loss at the high school annex has been finished, but the exact amount of money the city will receive under its insurance policies will not be figured for a day or two. Except for one or two minor instances both sides in the matter are in accord and it is expected the final papers will be ready for signature this week.

With the exact amount determined, the department is interested in the heads of departments to return the repairs necessary to return the building to a condition comparable with that which existed prior to the fire will sit in conference to determine the best method and extent of rebuilding operations.

Lowell Man Will Face Polygamy Charge

Mrs. Morin, when called to testify, told the court her husband left her three years ago and had not been seen or heard from by anyone connected with her family until last Saturday, when he was found in a tenement house. She further stated that three children, aged 9, 7 and 3 years, were dependent upon her for support. Since her husband left, she said, she has been doing her best to support them. The appearance of her husband in the dock, she claimed, was the first time in three years she had seen him. A marriage certificate was produced, showing that he had since married again, saying that his reason for the desertion of his first wife was at her own request. There were no children by the second marriage.

Judge Fisher asked the man if he was working and replied that he was. Asked how much he thought he could contribute to the support of his wife and children, he said he considered $5 weekly a fair estimate. The amount was then fixed at $9 by the court, and with this settled, the charge of polygamy was preferred.

BANDIT'S BODY STILL UNCLAIMED

To Hold Inquest in Death of W. U. Grant, Shot to Death in Southboro, Friday

Report Uncle of Dead Man, Said to Live in Haverhill, to Claim Body

WORCESTER, April 2.—Judge William E. Fowler announced this noon that the inquest in the death of Webster U. Grant, the bandit shot by officers of the state police patrol in Southboro, Saturday will take place in the Westboro district court Friday at 9 o'clock.

The body still lies unclaimed in a Westboro undertaking establishment. It was announced unofficially that an uncle of the dead man, said to live in Haverhill, where the man is reported to have spent considerable of his time during the past few months has announced his intention of claiming the body.

A lock of blonde hair found among the bandit's possessions and the prescription for a rare drug obtainable only in Germany and used by motorists, the Jimmy used by the man in making into the Southboro drug store and a traveling bag are clues on which the police are working, seeking to establish a history of the man's movements since he was employed in Whitinsville several months ago.

State detectives and police were in Southboro again today. The finding of a jewelry case in the snow in Marlboro bearing the name of Smith's Jewelry Store, leads to the belief that Grant may have made the recent break in that store. He was seen in Marlboro Friday afternoon and evening, when he lunched at a local restaurant.

VIGOROUS MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN IN DETROIT

DETROIT, April 2.—The answer to a vigorous mayoralty campaign is being written by voters here today. Frank E. Doremus, former congressman, and Dr. James W. Ingham, former police commissioner, are the candidates to fill the unexpired term of United States Senator James Couzens. Minor state officers are being selected in a state-wide election.

STRIKE CLOSES PART OF PLANT ANDOVER, April 2.—Two departments of the Andover mills of the Lowell Textile Co. were closed today because of a strike of weavers. Unless the strike is settled soon, the entire plant will have to close, officials said. About 250 are employed.

ANOTHER WAGE INCREASE LAWRENCE, April 2.—The Lawrence Duck Co., the Fairwell Beach-house, and the Katana mills, employing a total of about 1000, announced today that wages would be increased April 30. The amount was not stated.

Listing of Polls and Property

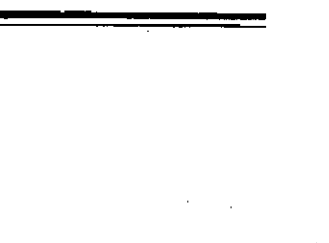

assigned in an effort to have the job finished according to schedule.

Two patrolmen have been assigned to each of the city's 31 precincts and as far as possible these men have been placed to cover sections and neighborhoods with which they are familiar and through which they have traveled.

Final instructions were given the men just before they left police headquarters at 3 o'clock this morning by Supt. Atkinson and J. Omer Allard, clerk of the board. Printed instructions were distributed and each officer also was given copies of last year's lists, which it is expected, will greatly aid and expedite the work.

Every man and woman 20 years of age and upward, in the city will be listed by the officers and every building must be accounted for, occupied or empty and whether it be dwelling house, factory, store, stable or garage. Also all dogs will be listed, with male or female designations. Only residents

Increased health from simple warm water

600,000 men and women have found a new road to increased health, energy and efficiency. Simply from the proper use of warm water.

Yet 9 out of 10 people today are needlessly in constant danger of serious illness—caused by Constipation and "Auto-intoxication", which means "self-poisoning". This is due to the fact that, with the sedentary lives we lead, waste matter accumulates in the large intestine. Not even cathartics can cleanse the intestine properly. The residue remains and breeds large colonies of poisonous germs—which are absorbed by the blood.

The Internal Bath—with the J. B. L. Cascade—gives the proper cleansing with simple warm water. It is the method perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell after years of research. More than 600,000 Americans have been restored to new health and energy by this method.

The story of Dr. Tyrrell's life work and the "how and why" of internal bathing are of vital interest to you. They are told in an interesting book entitled "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient." If you will write or call on us, we will be glad to give you a copy of this book free—and entirely without obligation.

Adventures of The Twins

KING GINGERBREAD OWNED A KNICK-KNACK DOG, AND THE CUT-OUT LADY OWNED A COCONUT CAT.

The next adventure that Nancy and Nick had was in Sugar-Plum Land. The Fairy Queen sent them there because King Gingerbread owned a knick-knack dog, and the Cut-Out Lady, who did his mending, owned a coconut cat, and the two of them thought so that the knick-knack dog and the coconut cat were all over the place and got into the eyes and ears and mouths of the Sugar-Plum Landers.

"Sugar-Plum Land has always been a peaceful place," declared the Fairy Queen indignantly. "and there isn't a particle of noise in allowing two silly animals to carry on so."

Boudies, as trouble always does it not only upset the two trouble makers but also their owners.

The Cut-Out Lady who owned the coconut cat was so upset when her pet came limping home with most of the coconut bark off him, that she almost cried her one eye out. Then, of course, having no other eye to see with, she couldn't sew the king's buttons on straight and they would miss the buttonholes by an inch or more.

And when the king got up in the morning and went to put on clean clothes out of his candy-box bureau drawer, his lace frilled shirt (made out of candy-box trimmings) and his red tartan coat (made out of a Christmas tree stocking), both buttoned on as crooked as a pig's tail and made him look shocking.

As a result, his temper was quite testy. And he made laws that nobody could obey, and things got into an awful fix.

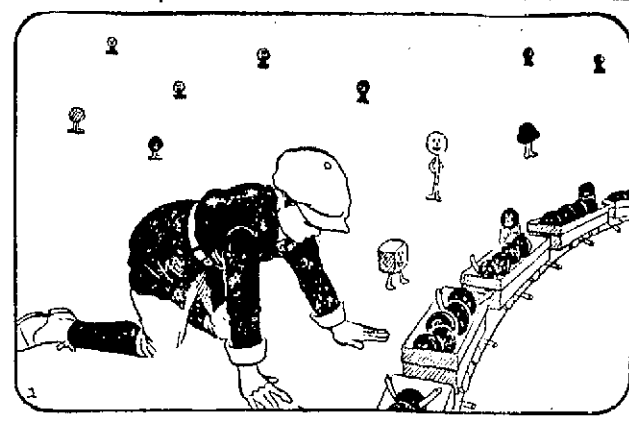

"See what you can do, kiddies," said the Fairy Queen kindly. "Your magic shoes will take you there in a twinkling. Sugar-Plum Land lies north of Soda-Water Ocean, south of Custard-Sauce Sea, and directly between Custard Land and Pumpernickel Land."

"We'll find it!" said Nancy happily. "And we'll try as hard as we can to put things to rights."

Jack Daw in Candy Land. Chapter 10

Jack noticed that the little candy box cars were made so that each one took just so many chocolate peppermints. There was room for just one row and the peppermints started hopping in. It was great fun to watch them go over the side of the boxes and into place.

One by one the candy box cars were filled. As the last peppermint got into a car the little Candy Land train pulled up a bit and the next box was ready. Finally every peppermint was aboard. Then two more All-Day-Suckers started putting the covers on the candy box cars.

"Who are those All-Day-Suckers?" asked Jack. "Why, that first one is the brakeman of the train and the other is the conductor," replied Caramel. By this time the candy box car covers were all on and the brakeman waved to the engineer. Then the train started to move. (Continued.)

CIVIL SESSION OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OPENED HERE WITH JUSTICE QUARREN PRESIDING

The April session of the superior court for civil cases opened in this city this morning with Justice Stanley E. Quaren on the bench. Justice James H. Sisk of Lynn was scheduled to preside at the session, but owing to death in his family, he was unable to be present.

After the opening of the court prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. C. E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church. The list of jurors was read by Clerk Roger Lund and eleven of them were excused. The court heard several motions and at 10:45 o'clock the jurors were excused and court was adjourned until tomorrow morning, at which time it is expected Justice Sisk will be able to start the first case.

The jurors who are scheduled to serve at this session are as follows: Richard T. Barrow, Littleton, farmer; Clyde J. Bachevalier, North Reading, superintendent of streets; Fred S. Brown, Shirley, carpenter; Joseph Cadoretti, Lowell, mason; Arthur L.

Charlton, Westford, machinist; John Cullinan, Peppared, railroad worker; John S. Cullen, Lowell, barber; Grover N. Dodge, Billerica, retired; Timothy P. Driscoll, Stow, farmer; Frank P. Fitzgerald, Lowell, clerk; George P. Fogarty, Dracut, spinner; William F. Gleason, Groton, clerk.

Albert Hamblett, Dracut, retired; Lewis H. Hastings, Acton, employee of the Boston Water Co.

Thomas McGuane, Ayer, laborer; Denis J. Moran, Lowell, wire worker; Ernest A. Morrow, Woburn, bookkeeper; Fred P. Nickles, Carlisle, painter; Parkinson Uddy, Littleton, farmer; Karl M. Perham, Chelmsford, farmer; William H. Rice, Tewksbury, farmer; Edward J. Robbins, Chelmsford, real estate; Colum S. Smith, Billerica, farmer; Charles Snay, Dunstable, laborer; Angelo L. Sparrow, Tyngsboro, storekeeper; Charles A. Wright, Townsend, lawyer.

SECRETARY OF LABOR WILL SPEAK AT MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Big Crowd Will Hear Hon. James J. Davis Talk on "Labor Immigration and Naturalization"—Meeting Open to General Public

The visit of Hon. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, to Lowell this afternoon, as the guest of all the people of the city, promises to be memorable in every way, thousands of men and women planning to attend the Memorial Auditorium and hear the distinguished member of President Harding's cabinet and receive the message he is bringing to Lowell.

The Davis speech will be delivered at 6:15 o'clock in the Auditorium. This hour was set to accommodate the working people of Lowell and it is expected that they will turn out in large numbers to hear the secretary.

who has promised to speak upon "Labor Immigration and Naturalization."

It was the secretary's special request made to the Lowell Rotary club, which secured Mr. Davis' promise to come to Lowell this afternoon, that the meeting be held at a reasonable hour to accommodate the laboring people, men and women of the city.

No visitor to the Auditorium meeting this afternoon need "dress up" for the Davis reception, the business men of the city arranging the secretaries visit requesting everyone to come to the meeting directly from the

AUDITORIUM CUSTODIAN
Trustees of Memorial Auditorium Will Elect Manager and Custodian Tonight

The public trustees of the Memorial Auditorium will elect a building manager and custodian at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock and advance information and prognostication seems to favor Collin H. MacKenzie, present incumbent, for the position. Mayor John J. Donovan will cast his vote for Harry Sullivan, first on the submitted eligible list which contains the names of Messrs. Sullivan, Preston and MacKenzie in that order and it is believed the other trustees will favor MacKenzie.

Charles H. Hobson, chairman of the board, said today an election would doubtfully be held at tonight's meeting. He said it was more or less obligatory, inasmuch as the certificate now at hand expires on the 5th and unless action is taken tonight, a special meeting will be necessary and Mr. Hobson sees no reason why the election should be postponed any longer.

Girl Tells Police of Having Swallowed Poison After Being Put Out of Chamber

Became Infatuated With Movie Star and Gained Entrance Through Ruse

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 2.—A young woman saying she is 15 years of age and claiming acquaintance with General Francisco Serrano, Mexican minister of war and Pedro J. Alvarado, general of police in Mexico City, has been ejected from the room of Charlie Chaplin's bedroom.

She gave the name of Mrs. Marina Vega of Mexico City. While no traces of poison were found, the movie comedian, in whose automobile she was taken to the receiving hospital for treatment, told of several entrances effected to his house through the back.

Her story was of infatuation with the comedian through seeing his picture in Mexico City and unsuccessful attempts to see him at the studio, followed by gaining entrance to his residence while he was out and remaining there by a Japanese servant when the comedian returned with his Negri, his fiancée, and a physician.

The girl was induced to leave after a brief talk with him, but returned a second time and after being put out said she purchased poison at a nearby drugstore and again effected entrance. Induced to enter an automobile, she collapsed and was brought back into the house, saying she had taken poison.

She was rushed to the receiving hospital, but after treatment, surgeons shook their heads and placed a question mark on the hospital chart.

Copies of messages addressed to General Serrano and Inspector Alvarado, appealing for funds, were found in her possession.

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—Five or six men armed with sawed-off shotguns, section of the city, took a quantity of mail including nine pouches of registered mail, locked the driver and a messenger in the cage of the truck, and escaped.

The truck was on its way from the postoffice to a sub-station. The stock brokerage district. Postoffice inspectors said they would be unable to estimate the value of the stolen pouches until a check had been made. It was said that there was no big bank mail in the lot.

Opinion Prevails That Unions Will Accept Proposition and Prevent Strike

FALL RIVER, April 2.—In preparation for the wage conference this afternoon between the Cotton Manufacturers' association and the textile council, to discuss the demand of the union operatives for an advance in wages of 15 per cent, a meeting of the executive committee of the Manufacturers' association was held this morning. No statement as to the outcome of the meeting was made. It is understood that an offer of a 12 1/2 per cent. increase will be made at today's conference. The opinion prevails that the union will accept such a proposition, thereby paving the way for a real settlement of the wage controversy. The conference is slated to begin at two o'clock.

Although not parties to the conference, the United Textile Workers of America, which have made a demand for a 25 1/2 per cent. advance, also awaited its results in determining that a 12 1/2 per cent. advance would find acceptance among I. W. T. W. members in many cases.

BEGINS PROBE OF WARD-PETERS MURDER CASE

ALBANY, N. Y., April 2.—Atty. Gen. Sherman today began an investigation of the Ward-Peters murder case. He seeks to become familiar with every detail of the case, from the discovery of the body of Clarence Peters, former member of the marine corps, near the Kenosha reservoir, to the dismissal of the indictment against Walter S. Ward, his confessed slayer.

The discovery of the body on May 16, last, was described by George Lohr and Frank Tatter, telephone linemen. Lohr said that at first he and his companions thought Peters was intoxicated and asleep. Tatter corroborated this testimony and added that when they investigated they found that Peters was dead. They did not touch the body, he said, as they feared they might leave finger prints and he accused the murderers. Tatter declared that a photograph of the body, entered as an exhibit, did not show the position as they saw it. The photograph shows that the head of the dead man was toward the road, while Tatter declared emphatically that when they discovered the body the head was toward the road.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 2.—Among the passengers on the steamer Asia of the Fabra line which arrived here today from Marseilles were Captain Vladimir Smith and Colonel Alexander Galevsky, alleged anti-bolshevik attaches to the Russian embassy at Constantinople. Captain Smith was accompanied by his wife and three sons. They claimed they are coming to America as part of an anti-soviet mission and will make their headquarters at 2083 Fifth avenue, New York, described by the captain as the home of the anti-bolsheviks in America.

Conditions in Russia today under soviet rule, are worse than under the regime of the czar, they declared.

Sent Out Today to Begin
Work of Making Personal Property Assessments

The actual work of listing all male and female residents of the city of Lowell under the direction of the newly organized listing board got under way shortly after 8 o'clock this morning when 52 regular police officers, armed with curs, pencils and instructions, sheets instead of tickets, were sent out to do the job which prior to this year has been done by assistant assessors working under the direction of the assessing board.

It is hoped and generally believed that the listing will be completed in seven working days and if Supt. Thomas R. Atkinson, chairman of the board finds that work in larger precincts is not proceeding as rapidly as wished, additional patrolmen will be

Twenty-one assistant assessors today began the annual work of assessing personal property and within the next ten days will turn in at the office of the assessors the names of all persons who own taxable property, personal property and the lists thereof. Whatever questions are asked by these men simply are in line with their duties and should not be deemed unnecessarily personal or of a prying nature. The law requires such an accounting and the assistant assessors are sworn public servants.

This year the rate of compensation has been changed by the board of assessors from $1.50 per day to 10 cents per name. While this change probably will not reduce the amount of money each man may earn, it is be-

MILLIKEN IS OUT OF FUEL
DISTRIBUTION SERVICE

Former Local Emergency Fuel Distributor Albert D. Milliken is the proper title today.

Just before entering an important directors' meeting of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce today, Mr. Milliken greeted a dozen or more business men and chamber executives with the smile that refuses to come off. There was a reason.

"Yes, I'm through. It's all over. I am no longer fuel distributor for the city of Lowell or anywhere else," said Mr. Milliken.

The Sun wanted some sort of a statement or review of the season's work. Mr. Milliken thought gravely.

POLYGAMY CHARGE

When Louis G. Morin was arraigned in the district court this morning in answer to a charge of non-support, preferred against him by his wife, it was discovered that he had remarried since deserting his original wife in this city about three years ago. Consequently, at the conclusion of the trial for non-support, on which he was found guilty and ordered to contribute $9 weekly to Mrs. Morin and her three children, the more serious charge of polygamy was preferred against him. He will be called to answer this lat-

Camel Will Soon Be at Home in New York

NEW YORK, April 2.—Broadway will be as dry as Sahara and even a camel will feel at home there, said Palmer Cantfield, state prohibition director in announcing today that 21 more cabarets and restaurants in the white light district would shortly be closed. He said the places in question had failed to heed warnings to cease selling liquor.

American Woman Found Dead in London

LONDON, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—An American woman believed to be Mrs. Jessie May Mellon Bowie, aged 48, and possibly a resident of San Francisco, died suddenly Saturday night at a hotel in the West End of London. The authorities have been unable to identify her further, but she was apparently well to do, and is reputed to have been the wife of an American millionaire.

Girl Named by Farrar Wants Jury Trial

NEW YORK, April 2.—Attorneys for Stella Adler—(Sella Larri-more on the Stage—a correspondent in Geraldine Farrar's suit for divorce from Lou Tellegen, today petitioned supreme court for a trial by jury in order that she might refute testimony recently introduced by the prima donna. Miss Adler wanted to clear her name, her counsel told Justice O'Malley. Argument on the petition was postponed until later today.

Speculation Cause of Rise in Sugar Price

BOSTON, April 2.—Sugar refiners, wholesalers and retailers told Eugene C. Hultman, chairman of the state commission on necessities, today that speculation was the cause of the recent rise in the price of sugar. They agreed that the public was showing no signs of hoarding and that trading in sugar at present was flat.

TRIAL DELAYED BY DEATH OF JUROR'S SON

MARION, Ill., April 2.—(By the Associated Press) The Herrin trial was delayed for the third time today by the death of an infant son of George Mohler, one of the jurors.

When the child was first stricken with scarlet fever a week ago the court recessed for two days to permit Mohler to return to his home. A previous delay of 11 days was caused by illness in the family of J. T. Barnes, another juror. The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

MISS E. A. CONWAY INJURED BY FALL

Miss Elizabeth A. Conway, residing at 219 Church street, fell on that street, some distance from her home, on Saturday, and received a fracture of the leg. She is now resting comfortably at St. John's hospital and it will be some weeks before she is able to be out.

TO VISIT LAWRENCE LODGE OF ELKS

Officers and many of the members of the Lowell Lodge of Elks will journey to Lawrence next Thursday evening to take part in the installation of officers of the Lawrence lodge. Richard T. Robinson, past master of the Lowell lodge, has been named installing officer for the occasion. It is expected that many prominent Lowell men will be in his party which is hoped will number several hundred or more.

EGG ROLLING ON WHITE HOUSE LAWN

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Rolling egg rollers of the capital held full sway on the north grounds of the White House, thrown open for the annual Easter festival. As it was still decidedly overcast weather here the bright frocks of swarming youngsters were missing from the colorful scene of other years.

The occasion this year also lacked the presence of the president and Mrs. Harding, who were here to welcome the merry-makers last Easter.

BASEBALL OPENING

PORTLAND, Ore., April 2.—In an official proclamation issued from the state capital today, Governor Pierce declared a half holiday throughout Oregon on the afternoon of April 27, the date of the opening of the baseball season in Portland.

In making the half holiday proclamation the governor said he had done so with the impression that the game of baseball was America's leading outdoor sport and as such needed and deserved the support of every inhabitant of the state.

ART STUDENT IS OUT WITH FACTS

Bowering Tells of Long Suffering From Stomach Trouble and Quick Restoration by Tanlac

Victor E. Bowering, 132 Austin St., Cambridge, Mass., gifted student of the Boston Art school, is still another popular young man to publicly express his gratitude for the benefits he has derived from Tanlac. "The Tanlac treatment overcame my stomach trouble and run-down condition in quick time," he declared. "I came down with the flu about three months ago and it left my stomach all upset and my whole system worn-out. My appetite was so poor I don't believe I ate half what I would under normal conditions. My food fermented in my stomach and gas bloated me until I was in misery. My mind was foggy with headaches and dizzy spells. I was nervous, irritable and suffered with constipation. I can paint a different picture when taking Tanlac, but heartily and regularly, never have indigestion, nerves steady as a rock, and in nearly every way I feel better than ever. I certainly am a Tanlac enthusiast."

Jews Celebrate the Feast of Redemption

Jewish-speaking residents of Lowell, in conjunction with their co-religionists throughout the world, at sunset Saturday began a week's celebration of "The Feast of Redemption," or the feast of unleavened bread, as the Passover holidays are sometimes called. The observance began with the holding of "Seder" services, and in the orthodox homes was repeated last evening.

The "Seder" services are of special significance among the Jews. About the family table on Passover eve the entire household is gathered, there being no one left unoccupied for a moment, the stranger and his protector.

A special ritual features the service. A narrative called the "Haggadah" is read. In this volume are venerable and highly-prized stories of the exodus from Egypt, and many quaint legends and fantasies of the ancient rabbis, as well as many bits of ancient songs and lore.

Passover was originally an agricultural feast, being the springtime festival, also the period when the thresholds in very remote antiquity were consecrated.

At a later period it became identified with the historical events in the early career of the Hebrews and their sojourn in the land of Egypt. The association of the primitive agricultural rites with a historical crisis invested Passover with a new and highly significant message. It became the "Feast of Redemption," the feast of liberty.

It is firmly the symbolism of the "Feast of the Passover" intrenched that, during the week, every Jewish family abstains from eating leavened bread, and uses instead the matzo, thin, flat or disk-shaped wafers, a reminder of the bread eaten by their remote ancestors in their hasty departure from Egypt.

The matzo is symbolic of the festival note of rejoicing over their deliverance from bondage. Reform and orthodox Jews alike partake of it.

Special services in the various Jewish reform and orthodox temples took place yesterday morning. There were also special services in the institutional havens where charity is distributed by friendly and sympathetic Jewish-speaking people.

Thousands of pounds of matzot have been distributed to the poor during the last week or two. Gifts of money were also made so that the necessary special foodstuffs could be purchased.

WAS SUFFOCATED BY SMOKE IN HIS ROOM

Peter O'Neill, aged 44 years, who lived at 46 Tyler street, was overcome by smoke in his room early yesterday morning and died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital.
As far as could be learned O'Neill returned to his room late Saturday night and built a fire in the small stove which he used to heat his apartment. It is believed that he went to sleep, leaving the fire burning, and the partition in the wall becoming overheated, ignited. When the blaze was discovered shortly after midnight an alarm was sent in from box 525 and the fire was extinguished without any serious damage.
After the fire was all out the firemen found the unconscious form of O'Neill in bed. The ambulance was summoned and the man was rushed to the Lowell corporation hospital, but when the institution was reached it was found that life was extinct. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

O'MORE HERE ON THURSDAY NIGHT

With but a few days remaining before the big musical event, the re-appearance here of Colin O'More, the celebrated tenor at the Memorial Auditorium on Thursday night, the demand for reservations indicates that a great crowd will turn out to greet the noted artist. O'More came here on Sunday, Feb. 11, practically unknown and he sang his way into the hearts of Lowell music lovers. His resonant voice, smoothly produced and admirably controlled, brought him into instant favor. His program was well arranged and he gave every number with evident feeling for the mood of the songs.

His songs the classic airs with beauty of phrasing and ample breath of tone, keeping them at all times in the classic vein. He varies his program with popular Irish songs, classic airs, and a delightful group of French pieces, and in every one his every word, whether in English or French, is clear and distinct and perfectly enunciated.

O'More has a singer received such generous applause that he accorded O'More here and elsewhere in the immediate demand in every city where he has appeared for a return engagement indicates his popularity, demonstrates a deep appreciation of his voice and art and augurs well for him winning a vogue on the concert stage.

adPgysgkch 1-400-wrthshyln Romm Mr. O'More will again have Miss Knille Knox violinist, and Carl Hunsner, pianist, as assisting artists, both of whom are ranked highly in concert circles.

SWEDEN WILL COPY AMERICAN HIGHWAYS

STOCKHOLM, April 2.—The complete modernization of Swedish roads, made desirable by the rapidly increasing automobile traffic is being undertaken in earnest. The latest significant step in this movement is the establishment of a "Good Roads Institute" on the initiative of the Royal Automobile Club, which is now celebrating its twentieth anniversary.

American highways will be studied as models for Swedish construction, and a Swedish expert highway engineer, Mr. Paul Wretling, is already in the United States for that purpose.

While the Royal Automobile Club has taken the initiative in establishing the Good Roads Institute, several other organizations and government departments are interested, according to Captain A. Nordlander, general secretary of the club. The board of directors will have representatives from the Department of Roads and Waterways, the Government Testing Institute, the Academy of Engineering Sciences, the Swedish Technological Association and the Swedish Roads Association. The first financing has been made by the Royal Automobile Club, but further support is expected from the road-using public in general.

MANY FIRES OVER THE WEEK END

There were no less than six alarms for fires Saturday evening and yesterday, so that the firemen were kept very busy during the week-end. The first alarm was from box 622 at 9.26 o'clock Saturday night for a slight bed fire at 24 Exeter street. At 11.31 o'clock a telephone alarm was sent in for a grass fire in the rear of the Chelmsford street hospital. At 12.30 o'clock yesterday morning there was an alarm from box 229 for a fire in the partition at 46 Tyler street, where Peter O'Neill smothered to death. The alarm from box 13 was sounded at 3.30 o'clock for a partition fire in a pool room at 350 Market street. At 9.32 p. m. there was an alarm from box 25 for a motor fire at the Howard street garage and at 2.09 o'clock in the afternoon a grass fire in Middlesex street was responsible for an alarm from box 518.

EIGHT HUNDRED NEW MEMBERS - INITIATED BY EAGLES

Street Parade and Mass Meeting at the Memorial Auditorium—Initiation Conducted by Worcester Aerie—Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, Principal Speaker

With appropriate ceremonies, which included a street parade and mass meeting of members of the order at the Memorial Auditorium, Lowell aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles yesterday afternoon initiated a class of 800 members. This is by far the largest class initiation ever conducted by an aerie in the commonwealth and considerable credit is due the organizers of the affair as well as the members of the recruiting committee, who spared no time nor efforts to make the event a banner one in the history of the local aerie.

It was the John M. Hogan class initiation, this name being given in honor of John M. Hogan, the general financial secretary of the aerie, who has held that office for the past 20 years and who during that long period has served the organization faithfully.

The parade was held in the early part of the afternoon with over 3000 men in line. Included in the roster were high officers of the organization as well as the famous degree team of the Worcester aerie, present and past officers of Lowell aerie and numerous visiting members from other parts of the state. The number of marchers was over 3000 and the marching was to strains of music furnished by two bands.

The parade formed in Middle, Palmer and Market streets. It was headed by a platoon of police and a large squad of marchers, followed by the Worcester aerie band of 20 pieces, Joseph Angell, conductor. Then came the Worcester aerie degree team, followed by the Worcester aerie band of 20 pieces, Joseph Angell, conductor. Then came the Worcester aerie degree team, followed by the Worcester aerie band of 20 pieces, Joseph Angell, conductor.

The parade was held in the early part of the afternoon with over 3000 men in line. Included in the roster were high officers of the organization as well as the famous degree team of the Worcester aerie, present and past officers of Lowell aerie and numerous visiting members from other parts of the state. The number of marchers was over 3000 and the marching was to strains of music furnished by two bands.

has become the inspiring motive of the half-million men who are now members of the order.

"Patriotism led the founder of the fraternity to adopt the name 'Eagles' after the 'Proud Bird of our Country.' Naturally, the societies in which the members gathered were named Aeries—that is, Eagles' nests. The complete organization consists of subordinate aeries, or local societies, state aeries, having certain geographical jurisdiction, and a grand aerie, which embraces the entire order.

"Now if you ask any member why he has joined the Eagles, ninety-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you, with a certain approving emphasis, 'For the benefits.' These are the services of the aerie physician, the sick benefit, and the funeral benefit, all of which are substantial. For the sick benefit, and the funeral benefit, all of which are substantial. For the sick benefit, and the funeral benefit, all of which are substantial.

These services the Eagles render to the member and his family individually. They have a further service to offer to the community. They make it a practice to back actively any social welfare movement which it is soon would evacuate in benefit to society generally. This broader community service in which the Eagles take keen pleasure has manifested itself to date in the enactment in all strong Eagle communities of mores laws, laws providing for workingmen's compensation for industrial diseases and accidents, and laws restricting child labor and establishing minimum wages and maximum hours for women and minors.

"The crowning achievement of this order in its role as a social benefactor, bids fair to be the early adoption in the strong Eagle states of laws establishing pensions for those who have toiled their due and yet found themselves at sixty-five without a competence in their old age. This undertaking came about in this wise. Early in 1921 subordinate and state aeries began to pass resolutions in favor of old age pensions and in August, 1921, the Grand aerie unanimously endorsed the proposition. Thirty thousand was appropriated to defray the expenses of a year's educational campaign to inform and arouse public sentiment, and an age pension commission of prominent members was appointed to conduct the propaganda.

"This commission at once entered upon an investigation of industrial conditions as affecting old age, especially the old age of the worker. It found that the high cost of living, moving machinery of modern factories not only requires keen eye-sight, steady nerve, and skilled hand, but tends to impair all three, so that the working man's efficiency is destroyed at a comparatively early age. It found, too, that civilization has brought the world ever warring with the problem how best to care for the worn-out veterans of their industrial armies.

"As a result of its painstaking investigation the commission was conclusively reached by the several aeries that the old age pension is the most effective and, on the whole, the least expensive method of caring for the disabled toilers. Accordingly, it has, by the preparation and distribution of literature and through clubs and public addresses, sought to create a public sentiment that will bring about enactment of laws providing old age pensions. This work has reached a point where men and women of the industrial age can begin to feel assured that no poorhouse is awaiting them as the reward of what they have contributed in toil to the general prosperity, for old age pensions are now certain in our way.

Thanks to the Eagles.

Members in World War

"The Eagles have one other patriotic record of which they are very proud and which is bringing into order many thousands of the war veterans. They are proud of the fact that their members went into the military service of the country in the World War; and of the fact that the order led the way, even for the government, in providing adequately for the needs of those who should lose their lives. Within ten days after our country entered the war, the bond of Grand trustees of the order proposed a plan which the grand aerie accepted into law, by which a patriotic fund of one and one-half million dollars was established, out of which gratuities of $1000 each were to be paid to the dependents of those Eagles who should lay down their lives as the toll of that war. At this date fourteen hundred such claims have been paid and the fund still is functioning—as the service members die from the effects of their wounds or exposure. Several other societies followed the Eagles in this noble plan, but the order of Eagles is the only one of them today that still continues such financial aid to ex-service men and their dependents.

"Annually, moreover, the Eagles commemorate Armistice day with an impressive ritual which attracts the entire community and keeps alive a wholesome regard for the veterans of the World War achieved and suffered. In this, also, they stand alone among American fraternities. That the men who served appreciate the patriotic spirit of the order of this order is indicated in the fact that it has today on its rolls more than 12,000 World war veterans.

Aerie's Charitable Work

"The order is forward in many other less conspicuous but not less worthy good works. Never do the aeries fail to distribute Christmas offerings and Thanksgiving bounties. Scarcely is there an aerie that does not support some charity—it may be a shoe fund for poor children, a charity clinic, the help of the local branch of the Salvation Army or of the Red Cross. They can be depended on in any community to lead and co-operate in every worthy cause.

"Now, measuring the capabilities of any organization in these times, its financial condition must also be carefully considered. The impregnable financial strength of the Eagles was demonstrated during the influenza

CITY OF LOWELL

Notice is hereby given as required by section 23 of chapter 43 of the General Laws, that the following order was adopted by the City Council of the City of Lowell, March 20, 1923, and approved by the Mayor March 21, 1923, to wit:

years of 1918-19 when the sickness and funeral benefits ran into the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Not one aerie defaulted or even delayed in making the payment required. This, it will be found, is an enviable record.

Grand Secretary's Report

"In short, the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands forth among the first in the land as a patriotic, community and individual-serving social welfare fraternity and institution. Its strength and beneficial activities are succinctly set forth in the following official report of the Grand Secretary, of June 30, 1921:

A membership of approximately 500,000.

Real estate valued at $8,345,000

Invested funds to the amount of $2,277,000

Cash on hand, $2,134,000

Loans outstanding and Advances $2,206,000

Total $15,412,000

The assets of the benefit fund, used exclusively for the payment of sick and funeral benefits, $4,188,000.

The E.O.E. paid out from the date of its organization, February 8, 1920, to June 30, 1921:

For sick benefits, $13,534,000

For funeral benefits, $2,134,000

For medical services, $510,000

Total $16,178,000

Increase for the year ending June 30, 1921, $1,644,000.

In membership, 42,610.

In net assets, $1,833,274.79.

In value of property in the benefit fund, $183,455.81.

actually a vendor of postage stamps, now is asked by the postoffice department to become a travelling first-aid station.

The postal advice, given in great detail for the edification of the postal authorities of Uncle Sam all over the country and the land possessions, says:

"In case of emergency, call a doctor. If you can't get a doctor, call a postman. The circular issued by the department then proceeds with a lot of instructions to the postman himself—the man who delivers your mail twice a day. It begins thusly:

"Go on! Take command and give orders. Try to locate the injury. Apply bandage and wrapped not water bottles," and so on, through the category of accepted methods for applying bandages, compresses, probing for "foreign objects" in a wound and all the things that first-aid experts recommend.

The instructions are just out and of course all letters to carriers and office clerks are going to carry them out to the letter whenever emergencies arise, but the simple truth is that of all the postal experts from Postmaster Deltale in business dress down to the gray-coats who toll regularly down on the buzzing wings of the United States first-aid-in-an-emergency business was on rigor in the Appleton building when Messrs. New and other G. O. P. notables were youths in short pants.

The man behind the first-aid guns at the Lowell postoffice today, if you overlook Mr. Deltale for a moment, is none other than that expert druggist and near-bone-setter, the well known "Jim" O'Dea, who has been unofficially listed as head of the first-aid bureau in the Appleton street building for quite a long time.

There is a regulation, up-to-date first-aid kit at the Lowell postoffice with everything necessary to handle any emergency sickness or accident case, right handy in a big cupboard at the postoffice day or night. And when "Jim" O'Dea, who knows every kind of medicine and every brand of bandage and every new bandage cross-stitch and germ-destroyer, as well as having some knowledge of bringing back to consciousness fainting ladies in distress in the corridors—which is not at all rare in holiday rushes—why "Jim" O'Dea, so they say, could set a broken arm as good as any "doc" if you gave him a fair chance! And for ailing ladies, they always survive under the Lowell expert treatment.

And so Postmaster Deltale is glad to say today that while the new first-aid orders just received, will be treated as a matter of course, the instructions will only be a sort of duplicate, as it were, of local instructions previously given and always faithfully adhered to by the local postal service employees, who each and every one like to tell of life-saving in a historical way if properly summarized and described in detail.

usual supplies of cream, but not enough to cause any alarm.

For these reasons, dealers interviewed this morning declared, there is no prospect of any cheaper-priced milk in Lowell and vicinity until May 1 at the latest. It is predicted that on that date there may be a cut of possibly one cent but certainly no more. Occasionally you meet a dealer who declares that there will be no lower prices all summer, but that opinion is not held by the largest distributor, who agrees to be prepared for lower-priced milk when warmer weather comes along and remains.

The local milk situation was informally discussed last Saturday evening by prominent distributors, who are keeping close touch with the situation as regards supplies and who have stated more than once during the past month that the milk question in Lowell is more a question of the present time of getting enough to supply local demands at almost any price.

The announcement in Boston today by Secretary Richard H. Pattee, speaking for the New England Milk Producers' association, that beginning with Sunday's deliveries, milk in that section of the state will be 13½ cents a quart instead of 14½ cents, has caused wide-spread interest in all distributing and consuming circles of the milk industry. The new Boston price allows the milk producers 7½ cents a quart, beginning today, instead of 8½ cents.

The farmers who first market their product will get 5½ cents a quart under the new price, and being and transportation, the distributors assert, will bring the cost to 7½ cents.

Lowell milk distributors had little to say this morning about the unexpected jump in the retail price of milk in the Billerica district yesterday, when it was formally announced that the dealers had raised prices from 11 cents to 14 cents retail and from 8 to 11 cents to storekeepers. No previous notice had been given Billerica consumers of the proposed advance, all receiving notices yesterday with other Easter gifts. It was the talk of the town all day after the homeward parade from the churches.

"The dealers in Billerica have a local problem of their own in the milk distributing business," said a well known Lowell distributor this morning. "They know what they are doing."

The milk distributors of Billerica, who have advanced the price are J. W. Johnson, C. W. White, R. J. Cather, Fred Reardon and Tower Farm Dairy. They have stated that they are obliged to pay 10 cents per can for milk and to retail it for 11 cents a quart to the homes and 9 cents to stores has been entirely unprofitable considering the conditions that all distributors have had to meet during the past winter.

SPEND $7,000,000 FOR
1923 EQUIPMENT

CHICAGO, April 2.—Returns from one-third of the mileage in the United States indicate that the railways will spend more than $700,000,000 for improvements and additions during 1923, according to the Railway Age in its annual report on the railroad conditions.

Twenty-seven railways operating an aggregate of 98,000 miles, or approximately one-third of the total mileage of the country, will spend something more than $250,000 for improvements to roadway and structures, and for new equipment, says the report.

"It may be assumed," the report adds "that an equal amount will be spent by the remaining two-thirds of the railways. The significance of this is the fact that in only one year, 1917, during the last ten years, the records of the interstate commerce commission show an increase in investment in road and equipment of this amount. This money will go for new lines, for second tracks, new yards and terminals, freight and passenger stations, shops and shop equipment, signaling, cars and locomotives, and other facilities that make up road equipment. "Large as this amount seems, it includes only those expenditures which have been definitely approved. Many other projects will be undertaken during the year, and their total will add much to the amount."

Locomotives ordered during 1922 for service in the United States 2600, according to the Railway Age's statistics. This is more than ten times the figure reported in 1921. Freight cars ordered during 1922 were 150,154, the largest total in any year since 1912. The most active roads thus far in approving equipment expenditures for 1923 are the Pennsylvania, with $45,000,000; the New York Central, which carried over for 1922 $29,000,000 of an appropriation of $50,000,000 in 1922, and the Louisville and Nashville, which carried over $20,000,000 of appropriations for use this year out of the $26,000,000 appropriated late in 1922.

The Illinois Central also has an improvement program on to the extent of $42,000,000, and the Norfolk and Western $32,000,000.

The Union Pacific is listed as having approved expenditures for 1923 amounting to $20,000,000.

The report states that a large part of these appropriations will go to terminal facilities as "There have been regarded as the limiting factor in fixing the capacity of the railroad. It is here that congestion first develops and becomes most pronounced."

SEEK TO FRUSTRATE
SLAUGHTER OF BIRDS

CHICAGO, April 2.—Organization of an army of citizens subscribing to break up what they call "the gun-toters' conspiracy" against birds, flowers, trees, crime and disease, is the purpose of a movement started here by Joseph Bert, an attorney, which already has numbered among its recruits some of the leading men, fraternal bodies, civic clubs and commercial firms in the middle west.

Pledges have been circulated urging every man, woman and child to "help break the gun-toters' conspiracy against our friends the birds," and so satisfactory has been the response in signatures that the ambition has become nation-wide, according to Mr. Bert.

"The movement had its inception in the Michigan Audubon society, and Senator Woodbridge Ferris has promised to make his Washington office a clearing house for the society's aims," said Mr. Bert, who is chairman of the crime prevention of the society. "It has spread beyond the society and Michigan, however, and we are receiving pledges and inquiries from points throughout this section. The movement was designed for the protection of birds, but will raise its voice against animals and inanimate things. Constructiveness, not destructiveness, prevention of crime, not punishment for crime, are remedies for many of our troubles."

Organizations which have subscribed to the movement include the Hamilton club, the Knights of Pythias, Masonic lodges, Lions club, common pleas courts, penal and corrective institutions, rotary clubs, wild flower, bird and horticultural societies, playground associations and numerous large commercial companies.

A poster depicting a black hawk of a man holding a smoking gun, while on the ground lies a slaughtered bird, has been designed as the official poster for the movement.

K. OF C. WILL HOLD
DANCING PARTY

The Knights of Columbus will celebrate the ending of the Lenten season with a dancing party and entertainment in their new clubhouse tonight. The party will be held in the large hall at the club where already many fine parties have been held. Dancing will begin at 8.30, following a short entertainment program, and will continue until a late hour.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. "No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a 'dark brown taste,' a bad breath, a dull, listless, 'no good' feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face."

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowels complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nine or a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 20c.—Adv.

Wage Increases Effective in So. Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 2.—Thousands of textile operatives throughout South Carolina today begin working on increased wages, raises of from 10 to 12 1/2 per cent becoming effective in more than a score of cotton mills. Most of the increases followed announcement of similar action by woolen and worsted mills in New England. The Pacific Mills Co., operating four plants here, yesterday announced a wage increase of 12 1/2 per cent for the more than 1600 operatives, in line with higher scales granted textile operatives of this company's New England mills. All the mills are operated on the non-union plan.

Mysterious Slaying of G. O. P. Leader

CHICAGO, April 2.—Gang politics, gambling and robbery were advanced as possible motives for the mysterious slaying last night of Theodore Krusch, a republican precinct captain and friend of State Attorney Crowe, a little more than 24 hours before the municipal election. Krusch operated a cigar store, with a card room in connection, where he was found shot to death. His place of business also was the polling place for his precinct.

Brockton's Building Laborers Strike

BROCKTON, April 2.—Brockton's building laborers or hod carriers, in sufficient numbers to tie up all big building jobs under way and many new jobs due to start today, are on strike to force a demand for $1 per hour against their old wage of 72 cents. The master masons offered 75 cents.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

PITTSBURGH, April 2.—A wage increase for building trades and workers in Pittsburgh, ranging from 10 to 25 cents an hour, was announced today by the employers' association.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Under present conditions the timber supply of this country will disappear in between 40 and 50 years, W. B. Greeley, chief forester of the department of agriculture today told the special senate committee on reforestation.

TOKYO, April 2.—(By the Associated Press.) The recent announcement of the intention of the governments of Japan and the United States to cancel the Lansing light agreement, recognizing Japan's "special interests" in China, is not treated as sensational news by the Japanese press, except for the papers that use the decision to attack the Japanese administration.

DANBURY, April 2.—The case of Mrs. Eleanor Williams, arrested near Waterbury, recently on a charge of perjury in connection with an affidavit in the divorce case of J. E. Stokes of New York, was continued in court at Bethel today until next Monday, owing to the inability of Mrs. Stokes to be present.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y., defending champion, today advanced to the fourth round in the national indoor singles tennis tournament by defeating George Whitlock of New York, 6-1, 6-3.

BOSTON, April 2.—C. Suydam Cutting of New York and G. A. Lyon of Boston were winners in first round matches in the national court tennis championships here today.

HAVERHILL, April 2.—The scale of $1 an hour effective in the Haverhill building trades during 1921-1922 was restored today, when new agreement was signed between the Haverhill Master Painters' Association, and local union 517, painters, decorators, and paper hangers. The plumbers, electricians and sheet metal workers have presented like demands and have agreements pending.

WORCESTER RECTOR SAYS YESTERDAY NOT EASTER

WORCESTER, April 2.—Henry W. Hobson, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, the largest and wealthiest of the denomination in Worcester, declared today that although yesterday was observed as Easter Sunday it was not Easter after all.

"Under the church rule which governs the determination of the day Easter," he said, "should be next Sunday, the first Sunday after the full moon following the 21st of March, and if the full moon happens on a Sunday, Easter day is the Sunday after."

INDICTED ON CHARGE OF JURY TAMPERING

NEW YORK, April 2.—A federal grand jury today returned an indictment against the Great State Petroleum Co., Inc., of Texas, and 10 individuals, charged with using the mails to defraud investors in the stock of the corporation. The corporation is capitalized at $5,270,000.

The marriage of Mr. Felix Garneau and Miss Anna Boudreau took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Alphons Archambault, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Medeiros Garneau and John B. Boudreau, fathers of the bride and bridegroom, respectively.

Lavoine-Lausier
Mr. Louis H. Lavoine and Miss Mabel J. Lausier were married last evening at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Alphons Archambault, O.M.I. The couple were attended by their fathers, Mr. Medeiros Lavoine and Mr. William Lausier. At the close of the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents at 8 Flowers street, and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to New York.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 2.—Operators for the rise began bidding up stocks at the opening of today's stock market. A good demand was noted for such leaders as United States Steel common, Baldwin, Seaboard, the Pan-American, General Electric, the International Paper, and others, all of which opened fractionally higher. Brown Shoe duplicated its previous top of the year and Century Litho was pushed up to a new high record. There were only a few heavy spots, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, each of which fractionally, being the most important.

The closing was weak. Prices in a number of stocks broke sharply in the late dealings, net losses of 2 to 3 1/2 points being recorded in the last hour by such recent favorites as American, Baldwin, Reading, Corn Products, California Petroleum, Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville & Nashville, and a number of others.

Cotton Market
NEW YORK, April 2.—Cotton futures opened firm, May, 28.57; July, 28.56; October, 28.46; December, 28.55; January, 28.55.

Cotton futures closed steady, May, 28.50; July, 28.52; October, 28.52; December, 28.53; January, 28.54.

UNMASKED HOODED MEN

Lawyer Acted After Pastor Had Ordered Klansmen From Pittsburgh Church

PITTSBURGH, April 2.—Elmer L. Kidney, a lawyer who, yesterday, tore the masks from half a dozen hooded men in the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal church, today refused to discuss the incident other than to say he had plans which would develop in due time.

The Rev. Dr. H. B. Emery, who was in the pulpit at the church in the midst of Easter morning services when the men entered, said he would have nothing more to do with the matter. Any action Mr. Kidney may take will be for himself and not for the church.

"So far as I am concerned," said Dr. Emery, "the incident is closed. These men, masked and robed, walked into our church and were really disturbing a religious meeting when I invited them to retire. Such disturbance is in violation of the law, but I meant what I said when I told them they were welcome to remain if they would remove their disguises."

Mr. Kidney, who reported the incident to the Pittsburgh police, is an officer of the church and was standing near the door when six men, masked and robed, entered the room. They were followed by ten others.

As the minister ordered them to leave, Kidney moved toward them and they left the building. Outside the church were a number of automobiles and to these the men hurried. But Kidney, it is stated, succeeded in unmasking a number of them before they gained the cars.

Mr. Kidney stated last night that the attention of the district attorney's office would be called to the matter with a view to prosecution.

TELEGRAPHERS' BANK

WILL OPEN IN JUNE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—The Telegraphers' National bank, which probably will open here about June 1, will be conducted along the lines of the Locomotive Engineers' Co-operative National Bank of Cleveland, according to E. J. Mantion, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, who will head the new institution.

Organization of the bank which will have a capital stock of $500,000 and a surplus of $100,000, was authorized at a session of the grand division of the Railroad Telegraphers' union at Savannah, Ga., in May, 1921. The capital and surplus has been subscribed, Mr. Mantion stated, and the majority of it by members of the union.

Although the bank will be controlled by the union, no distinction is to be made in the list of depositors. The accounts of all persons will be solicited. E. J. Toss, grand secretary and treasurer of the union, will be a vice-president and cashier.

Under the by-laws as adopted by the board of directors, a limit of 10 per cent, to be declared, earnings above this, Mr. Mantion says, will go either to the surplus or be divided among the depositors as a bonus.

ONE QUALITY ONLY—THE BEST

A letter that is interesting for three reasons

HERE is a letter from a woman who has put floors of Armstrong's Linoleum in her house. As you read it, you will note three things of interest:

Dear Sirs: June 13, 1922

I wish to thank you for the great help you have been to me in making my house a home. I had no idea linoleum could be so attractive.

I wish your book on Home Decoration could be read by every housewife in the United States.

I have bought from Maas Brothers, Tampa, Florida, the linoleum you suggested for my two baths, sleeping porch and kitchen—the blue Jaspé is beautiful.

Since buying this linoleum I have decided to use Armstrong's Linoleum in my sun room. I should like you to suggest something that would make this room very attractive. Enclosed is rough sketch of our new house. Walls rough stucco like house. Am having walls of the sun room painted a flat tone bright sage green. In the center is to be a fountain of cement. Floor at present is cement, but I expect to place linoleum over it.

I know this room can be made beautiful, therefore I am appealing to you to suggest anything you can to help me make it a little unusual.

Thanking you again, I am
Sincerely yours,
(Name on request)

Frostproof, Florida

In the first two paragraphs there is an undercurrent of mild, pleased surprise that linoleum floors should have proved so satisfactory. She liked them better than she had expected to—a very comfortable feeling to have after making any purchase.

Next, you will note that she has decided to put down more linoleum floors.

Also, she is enlisting the service of our Department of Interior Decoration for suggestions as to color harmony and the securing of a certain effect.

Typical of many letters

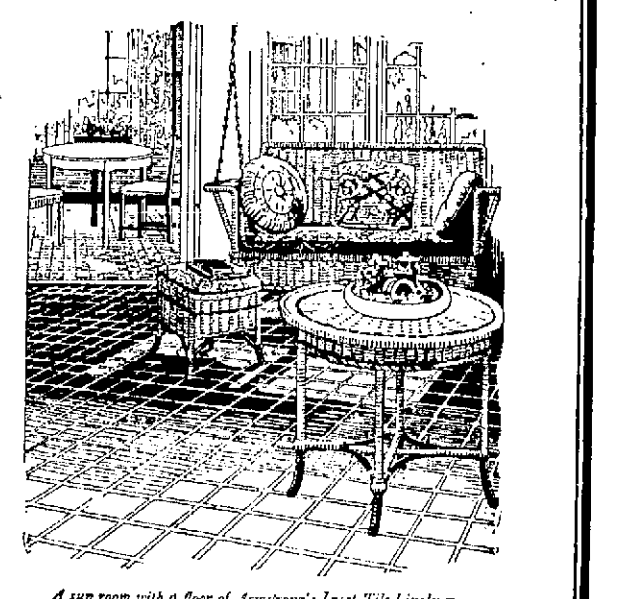

This letter is typical of many we receive. More and more women are turning to linoleum for floors. Some houses are being built in which floors of Armstrong's Linoleum are specified for every room. And again and again letters come from women, saying they "had no idea" linoleum would look so well and be so easy to take care of.

There is every reason why a floor of linoleum should be satisfactory. The wealth of colors and patterns in which Armstrong's Linoleum is made gives full opportunity for beautiful effects either bright and colorful, or quiet and subdued.

New York Office, 205 Fifth Avenue.

Armstrong's Linoleum for Every Floor in the House

A sun room with a floor of Armstrong's linoleum.

Qualities peculiar to linoleum

From a practical point of view, linoleum makes a splendid floor. Linoleum is water-proof, dust-proof, grease-proof. It is the easiest of all floors to clean, and it is quiet. When carefully laid; linoleum makes a permanent floor and requires little attention beyond an occasional waxing and polishing. Floors of linoleum can be laid in new homes, in remodeled homes or in old homes where floors need refinishing.

The 1923 patterns of Armstrong's Linoleum include beautiful Jaspé (two-tone) effects, parquetry inlaid, tile inlaid, and carpet inlaid. Then there are a number of plain colors and attractive printed designs.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old." The booklet contains a score of colorplates of distinctive designs in Armstrong's Linoleum that you can see at good stores; Jaspés, carpet inlaid, tile inlaid, marble tiles and printed patterns; also, information on laying linoleum and how to care for your linoleum floors.

Your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant can give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum, laid in your home.

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs

For people who live in apartments or who have houses on short leases and consequently do not wish to install permanent linoleum floors, Armstrong's Linoleum is also made in the form of bordered rugs. Thirty attractive patterns, in four sizes, from 6 x 9 feet to 9 x 12 feet.

Look for the CIRCLE "A" trademark on the back of the rug.

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING,

LOWELL, MASS.

A SENSIBLE VETO

Mayor Donovan has done the right thing in vetoing the order for the expenditure of $30,000 on the proposed change of the dangerous corner at the junction of Hall and Allen streets. The sum of $30,000 is altogether too much to be expended for any such purpose when the desired object can be attained for probably less than one-half the amount. The mayor states the reasons for his veto very clearly and they are sound and logical. The change proposed is necessary; but it should be made in the most practical and economical way. It is not at all necessary that the proposed property should be made in the most practical that street corner as safe as the average in any thickly settled district.

BOOMING THEIR COMPETITORS

It seems to us that the textile officials of New England are continually booming the mills of the south by magnifying the importance of southern competition. It is true that the southern mills are growing more rapidly than those of New England; but it is also true that if the New England mills would take an interest in their own district and talk less of moving south, they would have more success and be the better able to meet competition from the south or any other point.

One of the worst features in connection with some of our textile industries is that they do not seem to be indigenous to the soil; they do not feel at home here; their thoughts seem to be outward-bound; and when any class of operatives asks for an increase of wages, the officials usually set up the claim that an increase is impossible as southern competition is undermining their business and taking away their profits. It is worthy of note, however, that most of them are putting away surplus funds for future emergencies and that instead of trying to expand their business here, the surplus funds are used in many cases for expansion in the south. Thus it is, that New England textile industries are building up the south with capital taken from such cities as Lowell, Lawrence and Fall River. How long can this process continue without overthrowing the supremacy of the New England textile industries and sending it to Georgia, Florida or Alabama? It seems to us that the attitude of New England textile industries in this respect is almost suicidal. Wages are lower and hours of work longer in the south than in New England; but when the walking delegates get down there, this will speedily change. Then the mills of the south will have to contend with precisely the same conditions which caused some of them to flee the north.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S FAME

How long will the fame of Sarah Bernhardt endure? If we are to judge from the fate of other great actors and actresses, we should be obliged to give a pessimistic answer.

According to press reports, the unostentatious vault that received the body of the great Sarah Bernhardt contained but the simple one-word inscription "Bernhardt." But yesterday all Paris passed to pay respect to the memory of the world's greatest exponent of the spoken drama; today, the tumult of the winds in France is softer; a nation knows and mourns; tonight there in the cemetery Père La Chaise, her epitaph needs no artistic adornment—just "Bernhardt" and all the world understands.

Not so long ago, this same France engaged in a great world war, the ravages of which claimed millions of lives. The gallant soldiers who fell and are buried in the poppy fields of Flanders, without ceremonial or eulogy—they, too, were actors, leading characters on the flaming stage of war. In 1918 they were, like Bernhardt in 1923, universally mourned, but in a few years the gay boulevards of Paris were again in full operation, apparently forgetful of the heroic dead that lay beneath wooden crosses in scarred and barren battlefields. And while today Bernhardt's death, like that of innumerable other celebrities of international fame, occasions the profoundest expressions of sympathy and sorrow, tomorrow she may be forgotten. Her place shall be taken by another, and when tourists, years hence, visit the little French cemetery, gazing upon the inscription, "Bernhardt," many will inquire who was "Bernhardt," and those who know will bow their heads in sadness and murmur "sic transit gloria."

The nature of the dramatic art is not calculated to bring enduring fame; as would works of art or literature. The spoken word, though uttered with the highest art of turning eloquence, does not resound across the ages except through the phonograph. Written addresses of a high order live in literature, but not so the art of the actor or actress that is heard and enjoyed only by the auditory to which it is delivered. The time may come when not only the spoken word but the facial expression and dramatic action accompanying it may be transmitted to posterity by the use of the phonograph.

NOT MANDATORY

It is very plain that an attempt was made to have the legislature bind the city council to pay the members of the election commission $2000 each. This legislature saw how unjust it would be to do anything of the kind, and it has not done so. It has given the city council the power to pay each member of the commission a salary not exceeding $2000; but it has not enacted a statute making it mandatory upon the city council to pay that amount. To do so would be a violation of the principle of home rule and an unwarranted interference by the legislature in the affairs of our city. The members of the election commission may be worth $2000 each to the city or even a larger amount. That is not the point at issue. The question is, whether the legislature has passed a law compelling the city council to pay the members of this commission the sum of $2000 each. To do so would betray a piece of political jobbery for which neither the commission nor the legislature should care to be responsible.

LOWER GAS IN LAWRENCE?

Important news comes from Lawrence, as it very often does, of course. We are informed by the Lawrence Telegram that April 11 is going to be almost a red-letter day for Lawrence citizens, if that proposed hearing on the reduction of the rates charged by the Lawrence Gas company for both gas and electricity, brings the desired results. The department of public utilities has set the day upon petition of the Lawrence city council, that planned for this event some time ago and now has the chance to put the matter up to the proper people in the proper way. We wish our Lawrence friends well in this emphatic effort to secure lower prices for the commodities named. Not always is a campaign of this sort successful, even when backed up by large majorities; but at the same time it shows that Lawrence has the spirit to stand up and ask for what it wants. The outcome will be watched with interest.

NEW RAILWAY EQUIPMENT

Good news comes from the executive offices of the Massachusetts public trustees of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, who formally announced that on March 23, an order was placed with well known street car manufacturing plants in New England for 50 new double-truck cars of the one-man operating type. The cost is estimated at $580,000. Deliveries are to be made in October and in November and the cars will be equally distributed among several of the fifteen operating districts. We hope Lowell will get its share and a little bit more, if possible. The new cars ought to greatly improve the service and the healthy-sized order that has gone out for better rolling stock indicates that the Eastern corporation has a little more money in sight and hopes to get back to a good paying basis before long, which is as it should be.

THE GUILD BALL

The Sun is glad to commend to public favor and patronage the annual ball of the Lowell Guild to be held at the Auditorium on Friday, April 6. The Guild is doing splendid work in furnishing prepared milk for babies in the summer time, and providing nurses at a nominal expense for those who need them in case of sickness. These district nurses have done a great deal of good in their attendance upon the sick; and much of their success lies in the instructions they give for the proper care and treatment of mothers and little children. It is safe to say that they have already helped very materially to reduce the infant mortality in Lowell. Those who attend the ball at the Auditorium will thereby aid in raising funds to continue this benevolent work.

OUR FOOD

Did you ever stop to wonder where the food you eat comes from? A commission man, "shopping" in New York city finds spinach from Mexico, honeydew melons from South Africa, fresh almonds from the Holy Land, new potatoes from Florida, green peas and asparagus from California, butter from Denmark, eggs from China, meats from New Zealand and Argentina.

The prices are prohibitive to most people, on the foods "out of season," but even the average person "has it out" such ancient personages as King Tut, when it comes to dining on the far corners of the earth for food. That is what modern transportation and cold storage refrigeration (invented by Tellier, who died in poverty) does for us. Why, Tut didn't even have ice to keep his milk from spoiling nor coal blasts to save him from the scorching winds of the desert. In this light does it not appear that the average person today enjoys more luxuries than did the royal personages of old?

HEAR DAVIS

Let the people from the mills and factories hasten to the Auditorium as soon as they quit work this afternoon at five o'clock. They will be well repaid for going there in hearing the address of Secretary James J. Davis of the department of labor at Washington. We shall all want to hear the message that Mr. Davis brings us from Washington.

A new steamship service has just been inaugurated between southern ports and Boston. Two more large steamship lines have also petitions with the Interstate Commerce commission, seeking to establish ocean-freighting routes that will have Boston as a terminal and forwarding point. It is to be regretted that there has to be so much petty official fussing and quibbling with the Interstate Commerce department before popular steamship companies can establish lines to American terminal ports such as Boston, which needs a great deal more shipping before it can regain its lost prestige as a popular port of entry and dispatch of world's trading commodities.

Thought Transference

A couple of high school principals were discussing various manifestations of thought transference. "Is thought transference possible?" asked one. "I fear not," answered the other. "You seem to think there is no chance."

Sing On

Sing, oh sing, for the night is dark
And the dawning twilight long
And the woe of the land with shadow
Lies wings
It is still by the power of song
There is never a light on the land tonight
There is never a star in the sky
Only the glances of the lightning's lance
And the white waves leaping high.

The seabird swings on tireless wings,
The waves with rhythmic beat
Forever along the shore repeat
Their world-old song repeat:
And borne on whiffs of air
The silver echoes fill
The vault of heaven from star to star,
The earth from hill to bill.

Sing, oh sing, for the night is past,
And the sun shines over the sea,
And the heart of the world is a song
Of love
And hope for the days to be.
The tears that flow through the night
Are the tears of the night
And the powers of the dark are gone.
Till the music fills the echoing hills,
Hear of my heart, sing out!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A little hotel up in New Hampshire received a lot of publicity in the newspapers last week to which it is not entitled. The item read about as follows:

Mrs. Anna P. Remick, 87, who brought fame to the Porter and to a particular out of backstreet, died here yesterday. She developed such skill in carving steaks from the sides of heavy beef that the tender cuts which she served soon became known as porterhouse steaks.

The facts are that a good many years before Mrs. Remick was born there was a celebrated hostelry in what is now the down-town section of New York that served meals as well as porter. This hostelry was in the New York with their ships were in the habit of going there, because of the delicious quality of the steaks that were served and which were furnished by a New York butcher who cut them in accordance with instructions that were given by the porter of the porter house. The butcher cut steaks in this way for this one customer only, and the men in the market, the men who did the cutting soon got in the habit of referring to them as porterhouse steaks instead of steaks for the porter house. In the time of the porterhouse steak got its name, as most readers of the Butcher's Advocate know.

Lowell radio fans who listened in on Newark, N.J., were well pleased when they found that there was to be a rendition of the opera "Martha." To the many who usually throw up their hands when opera is mentioned, "Martha" came as an unexpected surprise. Opera to them formerly meant a confused jumble of screeches and howls emitted by some untalented singer of foreign extraction. But they certainly were surprised to hear a beautiful voice sing to the music of "The Last Rose of Summer," and then the song that has made and unmade many tenors, "M'Appari." "Martha" is based on country life in England, and the theme of the whole opera is based on the old Irish song, "The Last Rose of Summer." To the who enjoy opera and who understand a little about it, it was really noticeable in the various numbers the undertone of all the

Alleged Enemies of Liberty

New York World: "Neither communism nor fascism has anything to do with liberty," writes Premier Mussolini of Italy who boasts that "fascism is not afraid to declare itself illiberal or anti-liberal." He has already passed, and if necessary will again pass, without the slightest hesitation over the body, more or less decomposed, of the goddess of liberty.

To the average American no political statement could be more revolting than this. No political statement could be more ruthlessly at war with every tradition of the republic. Yet while no American would publicly avow the opinion that Mussolini has so brutally expressed millions of Americans engaged daily in practicing the theory of government that he exalts.

Organization after organization in the United States is consecrated to the principles of Mussolini, whatever its public professions may be. The Anti-Saloon League is an example of fascism, and so is the Ku Klux Klan.

Summer Resort Places

Nantasket beach Thursday morning emphasized again one of the summer resorts' problems. In former days any kind of construction was considered good enough for beach and mountain resorts. Houses of light construction were packed in closely without consideration of the possibility of a fire. Yet the high winds that are prevalent at the season in the summer season, as at other seasons made it certain that a small blaze in any portion was likely to sweep the entire resort.

The centre of Old Orchard was wiped out in a few hours. Salisbury beach was swept clean at a similar point. Hampton beach and Rye have suffered similar losses. Meanwhile Mount and Conway, have lost leading hotels within recent years. It has been fortunate that these fires have not been accompanied by loss of life.

The chamber of commerce bulletin for April contains the following article on the proposed new hotel for Lowell: "Authorities in hotel financing say that financing a hotel for Lowell would be a very easy matter. The difficult matter is to get the proper leasehold or tenant—one perfectly efficient and equipped with experience and finance to manage a new hotel. Just as soon as this proper tenant is secured then a new model hotel for Lowell is practically assured. Many hotel men and hotel managers have expressed the desire to lease a new hotel in Lowell, but they have not been of the calibre desired by promoters."

CANADIAN TRADE WITH U. S. DECREASED

OTTAWA, Ont., April 2.—Canada's foreign trade for 1922 amounted to $1,847,701,592, or an increase of more than $45,000,000 over 1921, according to the report of the federal department of trade and commerce.

Total imports for the year amounted to $762,339,093, the report shows. Total exports reached $584,362,553, the year closed with a favorable trade balance of $221,337,337.

Great Britain was Canada's best customer during 1922 and the United States was second, according to the report. England purchased Canadian products to the extent of $274,731,844, an increase of more than $55,000,000 over 1921, while the United States purchased $340,165,247 worth of goods, an increase of about $14,000,000 over 1921.

A surprising feature of the report is the fact that Canada's purchases from the United States during 1922 showed a decline as compared with 1921, amounting to $606,823,760, as against $555,091,000, a falling off of $51,732,760. Canada's purchases from Great Britain showed an increase in value of more than $13,000,000, jumping from $123,149,776 in 1921, to $136,568,258, last year.

CHILD INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Richard Deauchemin, aged 5 years and residing at 162 Hale street, sustained a broken collar bone and other painful injuries last evening when he was struck by a taxi of the Yellow Cab Co., operated by Cedric R. Nichols. The accident occurred at the corner of Branch and Coral street, at about 6:30 o'clock. It is claimed that the little fellow, who was walking along with his grandmother, Mrs. Georgianna Angers, ran from the sidewalk into the path of the automobile. The chauffeur swung his car over in order to avoid a collision, but the rear end of the machine skidded and struck the child, knocking him to the ground. The chauffeur volunteered to remove the child to the hospital, but the grandmother objected and the little fellow was taken to his home, where he received medical attendance.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem MERE PREJUDICE

The guy who says, "See!" I don't mind;
Nor he who says, always, "Yuh know!"
But there is one type of mankind
Which causes my temper to glow—
And that's the gazabo, the bird or the bean,
Who's constantly saying, "You know what I mean?"

"I'm wondering whether—you know what I mean!"
This uncertain weather will stay on the scene!
I feel like a winner all peppy and keen,
I've just had my dinner—You know what I mean!"

With rising infection he uses this phrase
And keeps on repeating it all of his days,
Till, though I'm a person well poised and serene,
I feel I must kill him—"You know what I mean!"

"That girl is a pippin—you know what I mean!"
She sets my heart skippin', she sure is a queen!
The grass keeps on growing—its color is green,
The wind's always blowing—you know what I mean!"

So sentence by sentence and time after time
And whether the subject be gay or sublime
This phrase he repeats without reason or rhyme,
"This constant, 'You know what I mean!'"

The guy who repeats "Understand!"
With every remark that he makes,
Is one that should promptly be canned;
But greatest of human mistakes
Is that pesky bozo or bimbo or bean
Who ends every sentence, "You know what I mean?"

PILGRIM COMMANDERY AT FIRST CHURCH

Easter services held last evening at the First Congregational church were very impressive, a feature of the important event in the annals of this society being the presence of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templars, who marched to the church to hear an inspiring sermon on "Immortality" delivered by the pastor, Rev. Percy E. Thomas.

The pulpit was elaborately decorated with palms and Easter lilies, with a background of deep red velvet with an illuminated cross in the center. The organ recital at 6:15 p. m. was given by Miss Ella L. Gale. At 6:30 the members of the commandery under Eminent Commander Perry D. Thompson marched into the church to seats reserved for the fraternity. Every other seat in the edifice was quickly filled and many hundreds of people turned away after 6:20 o'clock because of lack of seating room.

Pastor Thomas' sermon theme was taken from the passage in the book of Job, "If a man die, so shall he live again." The spirit of immortality touches the heart and mind of all at some time during life, although in some cases it seems to be given but little thought until the years pass on and one grows old, began the pastor. There are people who say they are not concerned with such thoughts and profess no real concern, but the majority feel that such a thing is of the most vital concern and really do give it a great deal of consideration.

Moody, on his death-bed, declared to his sympathizing friends gathered at his death-bed, that he was "sweeping on towards heaven." Many other great leaders in religious faiths have had similar revelations. In the hearts of most of us, the pastor continued, there is a feeling that immortality exists. He praised those who go to church to profess their belief in God and immortality. The Easter spirit actually shows the strength of the belief in immortality, he declared. Statesmen, poets, artists and workmen alike declare that there is a hereafter. Addressing more particularly the ers are bound to note the contrast and conflict between Mr. Harding's proposals and the Idaho senator's demands, and this difference and disagreement between the prophets of the republican party is pretty sure to be reflected in the rank and file of republican voters.

With Senator Borah talking to the same audience that the president addresses—and either before or after the latter has spoken to them—their hear-

Senator Johnson is scheduled to return home in June, about the time President Harding is expected to start on his oratorical journey. It is taken for granted that Senator Johnson will give his impressions of Europe to audiences in the New England and middle western states—and give them in a loud voice, too. What Senator Johnson may say regarding America's representation in the council of international justice will be notable, and other things for its violent dissent from President Harding's statements on the same subject.

Senator Moses will be back in his native land early in the summer and will soon be teammate for Senator Johnson in the task of denouncing the international court and the president's recommendation that the United States recognize it. There are predictions that Senator Moses will attempt to anticipate President Harding's speech-making in favor of American participation in the council by issuing a series of editorial statements while traveling through Europe; the burden of these being "take care!" and also "beware!"

FACES 141ST SENTENCE
 ROME, April 2.—Previously sentenced 140 times for various offenses, Costimi Uniporelli is again under arrest charged with fraud.

It would have been difficult for Reinhold Werrenrath, the distinguished baritone who appears here at the Auditorium on April 10, to have escaped being a singer and a good singer. It being a family tradition that he should be a hereditary count for anything he was doomed to this fate from the day he was born, for both his father and mother were distinguished singers, all of his brothers and sisters following in the footsteps of their father in the genealogy of the Werrenraths and the Camps (the latter his mother's family) makes one think of the famous Bach family of Pischach.

George Werrenrath, Reinhold's father, was a distinguished dramatic tenor, a first in his native country, Denmark, then in this country, whither he came in 1876. For seven years he was tenor soloist in Henry Ward Beecher's Plymouth church, where he was a member. He married Aretta Raymond Camp, a concert singer well known in his time.

George Werrenrath's father, was Johann Peter Werrenrath, a famous Danish basso, and his wife, Kirsten Christensen, was a noted singer of Norway. And for two generations back of these were two Engelbert Werrenraths both of them famous musicians.

On the maternal side the musical ancestry of Reinold Werrenrath is no less distinguished and is purely American. His grandfather, Henry Camp, was a singer and a player on the bass viol; his great great grandfather, Jonathan Camp, and his wife, Rachel Hickok, both of them singers, and finally it is possible to go back two more generations to Nicholas Camp, who founded Milford Conn. in 1625, and undoubtedly played his part in the choir of the meeting-house except that these four Puritans of that day frowned on music as being one of the chief weapons of the devil.

If Reinold Werrenrath had become anything but a singer and a very good singer, it is certain that many graves would have been disturbed by the turning in them of his musical ancestors.

New Form Of Antiseptic That Drove Infection From Allied Hospitals Is Equally Successful In The Home

After all known antiseptics had failed to check infection in the war hospitals of France, the Carrel-Dakin Solution was discovered. It drove infection from the hospitals, healed great gaping wounds like magic, and saved the lives of countless numbers of men.

Zonite, a stabilized and improved form of the famous World-war antiseptic, is now accomplishing similar wonders in the hospitals, homes and factories throughout the United States. Below is a letter from Mrs. L. T. Brendle, Newton Center, Mass., that indicates the effectiveness of Zonite when used for chronic infections.

"Zonite! No one can possibly know what that name means to me, not unless they have had an experience such as mine.

"For five years I had a carbuncle ulcer on my right leg, while it was very painful, it was the most part of the misery and unhappiness it caused me. For a single minute did it stop discharging in all that time. I had to wear a bandage constantly and change it at least twice a day.

"I tried every remedy to say that ever existed, humbly as well as tried in an effort to stop the discharge and heal the wound, but nothing was of the slightest benefit that I could see.

"I read of Zonite and thought that it was worth trying. In fact, I bought it, hopeful of after talking with the druggist about it, that sort of antiseptic had done in the war.

"I began using it that night washing the sore with half Zonite and half water and then wetting the bandage thoroughly. I have used three bottles of the antiseptic. Before I had finished the third bottle the sore was completely healed but I kept on using it a week longer to make sure.

"The only thing I can say is that what has happened seems like a miracle. I am now able to walk and work. Zonite for a bad sore throat and over night it was cured, but this hardly seems worth talking about after such an experience as mine. It would be impossible for me to put my gratitude into words."

Zonite, although more than twice as powerful as pure carbolic acid, is non-poisonous, non-irritating and healing. It destroys germs like fire, yet can be used on the most delicate membrane and tissues with no harm whatsoever.

Spanish War Veterans Will Observe Anniversary at Annual Encampment

Lowell war heroes are after more honors, this time in convention channels with historic old Cambridge the merry battle ground for record attendance figures.

Programs for the 25th anniversary of the Spanish war and the 24th annual encampment of the U.S.W.V.A., to be held in Cambridge, April 17, 18 and 19, were out today.

Lowell camp is preparing to have the biggest delegation in the state on hand for all three days' events. The auxiliary will also be splendidly represented, and plans are being made to have Lowell capture attendance honors on each day, if possible, but on the first day at least.

The war veterans' encampment will open in historic Sanders theatre at 8 p. m., April 17, with a formal meeting on behalf of the city of Cambridge and the Leslie F. Hunting camp of that municipality. After the formalities, there will be a buffet luncheon served in Memorial hall, which is close by the theatre. Then comes a positively high class concert and an 1893 campfire with 1923 triumphs in Sanders theatre.

Mayor Walter H. Joyce was informed today that Sanders theatre, rich in memories that cluster around it in the world of Harvard college students, has been turned over gratis to the United States Spanish War Veterans by Harvard University.

On April 18, the veterans will open their annual convention in Mike's hall, Central square, Cambridge. More freedom of the city and free use of the fraternal order's private headquarters for the visiting war veterans and their ladies!

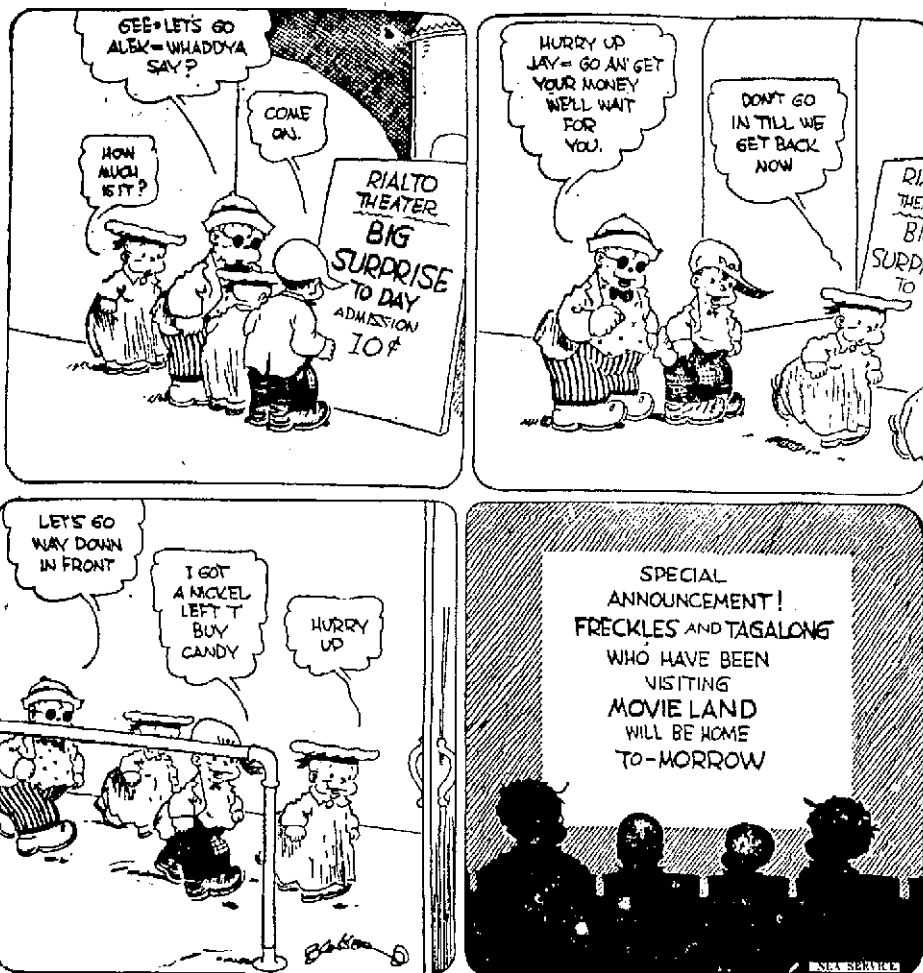

The Ladies' auxiliary will open their convention at the American Legion headquarters in the Cambridge square on April 18, also, both conventions being called to order at 9 a. m. sharp. Reports have it that Lowell may secure the next annual convention, and local delegates will work hard to that end.

A feature of the April three-day gathering of the clans in Cambridge will be the bringing of souvenirs and flags of the Spanish war, together with interesting relics, which will be displayed for the view of all visiting veterans and their ladies and the people of Cambridge.

The list of honored guests will include Governor Channing Cox and one or two congressmen. Invitations have already gone out to noted regular army authorities, including a general or two.

The Spanish War Veterans are still after federal state appropriation amounting to $8000, in order to help the organizations properly celebrate the 25th anniversary of the war with Spain. The original plan was for a parade in Boston with the naval brigade and the six regiments officially recognized as from this state and not for other commands in which Massachusetts men served. The commander of the Spanish War Veterans for Massachusetts, at the hearing in Boston, March 14, demanded that the appropriation be made large enough, to in-

Four Generations Helped to better health by this time-tested laxative

Dr. True's Elixir The True Family Laxative

For over 72 years this pleasant and effective laxative has given proper relief to thousands of men, women and children who have suffered from constipation, deranged stomach, and other troublesome complaints brought on by disordered, sluggish bowels.

For good health—to be free from headaches, bad tasting mouth, all-gone feeling in stomach, dizziness, constipation, the bowels must be kept tuned up. Nature can be assisted by using Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller.

Safeguard your own health, look after the children who must show signs of worms and should be rid of them the easiest, safest way—by taking Dr. True's Elixir. Your dealer knows of its world-wide reputation, gained through four generations of public health service. Made from imported herbs of strictly pure quality.

Signs of Worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full stomach with pains, pale face, eyes heavy and dull, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, tongue coated and covered with little red points, starting during sleep with troublesome dreams, slow fever.

Mrs. Henry Johnson, 320 Hayward Ave., Baltimore, says: "I have bought Dr. True's Elixir for over 10 years and know it is good."

Mrs. H. N. Roberts, 501 Asylum St., Flint, Mich., says: "My little girl is relieved of her worms." And in a later letter wrote: "Baby is fine and it was your medicine, Dr. True's Elixir, that helped her."

Don't experiment—buy Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. For the whole family, either child or grandparent. 40c—60c—$1.20. Adv.

clude the 7000 members of that order, regardless of whether they served in regiments or the naval brigade of the state. The plan is still "in the air."

Some local veterans feel that everybody in the state who enlisted in the Spanish war and served, should be entitled to parade in the anniversary columns as veterans of the 1898 struggle.

One of the last pieces of legislation passed by the last congress was the so-called Sweet bill, which modifies the war risk insurance act in the interest of disabled veterans, and brings veterans of all wars under some of its provisions.

When a veteran of any war dies after his discharge or release from active service and does not leave sufficient assets to meet the expense of his burial and transportation of the body, the government will provide funds not to exceed $1000. If the death occurs while the veteran is receiving treatment, either medical or hospital, under government care, or if he is receiving vocational training, the veteran bureau will pay in addition the actual expenses of transportation of the body to the place of burial.

DIG OUT STALLED CAR IN BILLERICA

That stalled electric car that was abandoned in huge snow drifts on St. Valentine's Day near Nutting's Lake on the Billerica-Bedford street railway line, and duly pictured in The Sun, was dug out late Saturday afternoon and taken to the car barns in North Lexington for repairs.

Thus ends the tale of the somewhat famous storm-bound car that made a long journey through blinding snow and big drifts only to wind up on the afternoon of Feb. 14, more than six weeks ago, on the outskirts of Billerica Centre, there to remain, tying up the through line from Billerica to Boston via Bedford and Arlington Heights transfer. Employees of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway tolled nearly all of last week to open the country traffic line and free the lonely car from its snowdrift and icy prison.

The snow has been piled high over the trucks between Billerica and Bedford and even after the recent thaws and rains, drifts of snow, with a solid bottom of thick ice, have been found in a number of places, burying the tracks to a depth of two feet.

Regular service on the main line between Arlington Heights and Billerica was resumed late Saturday afternoon. Cars on the main line have been running between Arlington Heights and Bedford. With the breaking out of the main line, work was started clearing the Concord line between Bedford and Concord, and service on this line will probably be resumed in a day or two.

This line, the last snowbound stretch of iron on the Lexington division of the Middlesex and Boston, has been out of commission for more than two months.

PRES. HARDING NOT A SHOWMAN

Sec. Davis Declares President
Not Bothering His Head
About Politics of 1924
Says Executive Poor Advertiser—Works on Job, But Doesn't Talk About It

BOSTON, April 2.—President Harding is "not bothering his head over much about the politics of 1924," Secretary Davis told the "Women's Republican Club of Boston" in a speech here today. The president's secretary of labor, after expressing his views on woman's place in politics, discussed Mr. Harding's attitude toward the forthcoming presidential campaign. "The president's plans seem to be worrying many of our people," Secretary Davis said. "I think that every newspaperman I have talked to for the past month or more, has wanted to know what they are. Well, I'll tell you something about the president. President Harding is probably the poorest advertiser in the United States today. The smallest corner grocer in Boston could undoubtedly give him a big handicap and then beat him at the game of getting himself sold as they call it, to the public. This is not the time of our old and respected friend Theodore Roosevelt, who had the faculty of letting folks know what he was doing, and how fast he was doing it. President Harding reminds me of the man who made horse of the mill, back in the days when I worked with my hands. This mill worker was a man that nobody had ever noticed. He never had been engaged in any of the ordinary disputes about the plant. But the quiet man got the job. And we found out why. He worked at his job and didn't talk about it. Well, that is President Harding. He works at his job. He doesn't talk about it. "President Harding is an indefatigable worker and he accomplishes tremendous results. He is a plain business-like individual, with a plain business-like mind. He is not the man to do his work to the tune of a brass band. I have often urged him to let the people know the seriousness of the tasks confronting him and the steps he has taken, and is taking, to perform them, for know something of the value of publicity. But he has insisted that the work will speak for itself, and the people will find the things out. When I have sought to point out that there is a campaign of 1924 coming, and that a little advertising for the administration would do no harm, he has told me that he is not a showman, not a stage director. He holds that today the best politics is service to the people. "Just between you and me, President Harding is not bothering his head

MAJ. GEN. BULLARD WILL COME TO LOWELL

MAJ. GEN. Robert Lee Bullard, commanding officer of the Second Corps area, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y., has received orders from the war department to attend the big party to be given by the Organized Reserve men of Lowell at the Memorial Auditorium on April 13, if he can possibly do so without interfering with his other duties. Maj. Gen. Bullard is a native of Alabama and a graduate of West Point. During the war he was in command of the second army and received the distinguished service medal from the U. S. government and was also decorated by France, Belgium and Italy. It was he who wrote that message at the opening of the second battle of the Marne, in July 1918, which concluded with the following: "We are going to counter-attack." This message was written when it appeared that the allied forces were doomed to defeat, and the message did much to save the day for it proved to the French, Belgian and British forces that the U. S. army did not know the word retreat and were going forward. The action of his army saved the day and the Germans were thrown back after it seemed that victory was theirs. Maj. Gen. Andrew Brewster, commanding officer of the first corps area, with headquarters at Boston, is also expected to attend this big meeting. He is well known in Lowell, having addressed a gathering of Legion men but a short time ago. Maj. Tooley is planning on making this meeting at the Auditorium the biggest that has ever been held in regard to Organized Reserve affairs, and he plans on throwing the Auditorium open to all who would be interested in hearing these men who have become leaders in the army tell of their experiences and of the Organized Reserve. His plans are not yet completed, but with Gen. Bullard and Gen. Brewster's acceptance of his invitation he can now go ahead and complete his plans. "I am one of those who find a great consolation for the present, a great hope for the future in the advent of our American women into political life through the exercise of the right of suffrage. I am one of those who believe that women in politics means better politics; no worse women, and that women will bring into public life those same virtues that they have so long displayed in American home life."

Japanese Prince Killed in Auto Accident

BERNAY, France, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of Prince Kitashirakawa, who was killed in an automobile accident near here yesterday rested today in the nave of the tiny church at Perriers La Campagne to which it was transported by the French authorities with the honors befitting a member of the imperial family of Japan. The prince was a brother-in-law of Emperor Yoshihito. Ootake Sato, councillor of the Japanese embassy in Paris and son of the former ambassador to Washington is here directing the efforts being made to save the lives of Princess Fusako, widow of Kitashirakawa; Prince Yasuhiko Asaka, cousin of the mikado and Mlle. Elizabeth Sauvay, lady-in-waiting, who were injured.

Man Disappointed in Love Ends Life

BOSTON, April 2.—James F. McDonald, disappointed in love, committed suicide at a lodging house in the East Boston district where his body was found today. He had hanged himself to the bedpost in his room. Mrs. James Falla, the landlady, said McDonald had received word recently that the young woman to whom he was engaged, had married another man.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERQUIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Adam's Rib," one of the greatest and most lavish photoplays ever produced by Cecil B. de Mille, opened a new engagement at the Merquimack Square theatre yesterday. Large crowds who saw the opening performance were thrilled by the bigness of the production and there is no doubt that it will attract capacity houses all week. "Adam's Rib" is the most lavish production of its kind turned out for some time by the great producer, de Mille. It unfolds a story of real human interest with an all-star cast, including Milla de Mille, and O. J. Nelson in the leading roles. There will be no increase in admission prices despite the cost of this big production. The settings range from a brilliant and costly ballroom to a princely jungle in which fierce savages won the bewitching daughter of Eve from a related private yacht into the frenzied finance of the Chicago board of trade; from scenes of passion amid the 14,000,000-acre domain of a great estate to a year-old dressmaker's and a luxurious slave place swept to ruins by a revolution. The unusual element surrounding program being shown.

THE STRAND
It has been three long years since Norma Talma and her husband, Edward, have been co-starred in a picture. The return of this pair to the silver screen will be a source of general pleasure to all who remember the pleasure they derived from "The Voice from the Midget," a story in which the couple were introduced. Norma's exceptional accomplishments are also reflected in no uncertain manner in her new picture, "The Girl in the Red Velvet Gown." Then Ralph Graves and Jeanette Loring, who were co-stars in "The Girl in the Red Velvet Gown," will also appear. The special feature on the triple combination program for the week beginning Thursday, will be "The Mysterious Mr. X," a picture in which the French malleable man has ever appeared. He tells all about his day by day, in a very way, and he is a very good actor. See the picture and benefit by the same as if you attended one of his famous lectures. Remember this picture is here for three days only. Attend early.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
For Easter Monday—which is today—there will be headlined at the H. F. Keith theatre the best known jazz symphony orchestra in America. Lloyd Black's Entertainers is the name given to the act, and it is rated positively without any doubt as the best over of saucy, perfectly timed, modern music. "Steps and Tunes" is the particular turn which the Entertainers will give, and the part of the program will be presented by a youngster who is said to have more exciting dance steps to offer in a short time than any other dancer in the city. Then, too, there is Allen Quick, a saxophone soloist, who has been sought by European orchestras for solo work. Quick can send forth as sweet a tone as any on playing the intriguing instrument. However, let it be understood that the orchestra is principally noted for its ensemble work, and not for individual playing. That it will score a knockout on its visit here is doubted. There are six other acts to be presented, every one of which should make a special appeal. Harry Norwood and Alpha Ray, have been dubbed "You are fifty," modern entertainers, who sprinkle their comedy with bursts of song. Both have had experience on both legitimate stage, in both drama and musical comedy. Their work is of a high order of excellence. "Grooming the Groom," in which Billy Zeck and Gladys Randolph are featured is something of a comedy, with an amusing climax to it. Here the unsophisticated man from the country has a tilt with the miss of the city. The results are startling. "A Day's Work" is a story act. It is quite the contrary. York McKello are featured and good dancing is one of the points which will appeal to all. The Major Sisters in "Songs and Steps" are another first rate party act. They are actually sisters, as the casual onlooker will at once perceive. The Three Whirlwinds are sensational acrobats and roller skaters. Ed and Ida Tindell will supply a variety of stunts which cover many different points of entertainment. And, in conclusion, everybody should remember that this is National Vaudeville Artists' week, observed all over this broad land, and that special "dukes" will be in order at each performance.

RIALTO THEATRE
"The Hero," a delightful aftermath of the great war with David Butler in the leading role supported by an all-star cast, is the leading attraction of the booking at the Rialto theatre beginning this afternoon. The supporting attractions are also very good.

MATRIMONIAL
Mr. Harold Killing and Miss Alice Parent were married last evening at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. G. Buchand, O.M.I. The bride wore blue tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by a sister of the bridegroom. Miss Irene Killik, who was attired in grey with champagne with hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Joseph Parent, a brother of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Chenele, 208 Latham st., and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Pawtucket, R. I. Upon their return they will make their home at 208 Latham street.

Dion—Parent
The marriage of Mr. Alfred Dion and Miss Yvonne Parent took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Louis' rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. J. L. Labrecque. The bride wore tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was given away by her father, Mr. Pierre Parent, while the bridegroom was attended by his father, Mr. J. Dion. At the close of the ceremony the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Boston and New York. They will make their home at 77 Tremont street.

TO COMBAT POPULARITY OF MOTION PICTURES

NEW YORK, April 2.—Channing Pollock, today announced tentative plans for the production of legitimate drama at small admission prices to combat the growing popularity of motion pictures, which he admits will cause his backers a loss of at least $2000 a week. The highest priced seats will be $1 each, according to Pollock. Pollock said that in the 1924-25 season he and his backers would lease a theatre seating no more than 1400 persons, in which to produce the best type of modern plays. There also would be seats for 25c, 50c and 75c, he declared.

BODY OF CHUKRI BEY, TURKISH DEPUTY FOUND

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of All Chukri Bey, deputy from Erzurum in the Turkish national assembly at several days has been found buried near the home of the notorious Osman Agha. The body was fully clothed. The authorities, in view of the circumstances, sought to intercept the body, but he had disappeared. Chukri Bey was one of the founders of the newspaper Tan, which has consistently opposed the policies of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, nationalist leader. After his disappearance, one of his colleagues hinted in a speech before the assembly that he had fallen on a victim of his political opinions.

KLAN INVOLVED IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 2.—Intense feeling and keen rivalry between Ku Klux Klan and anti-Klan forces today marked the close of the municipal election campaign here. Three of the eight candidates for city commissioner are said to have received the endorsement of the Klan, with the understanding that should they be elected, they would appoint city officers. A mayor and four commissioners are to be elected tomorrow. The Klan is said to have committed men in each of the 61 precincts of the city and plans of the anti-Klan forces call for the stationing of at least 10 workers at each precinct Tuesday.

RECORD FREIGHT BUSINESS ON B. & A.

BOSTON, April 2.—The Boston & Albany railroad announced today that its freight business for last month was the heaviest for any month of March in its history. The B. & A. hauled from its western gateway 33,150 loaded freight cars, an average of 1069 per day. There were five days when more than 1200 loaded cars were hauled east. The previous B. & A. record for March, which was in 1918, was 31,825 loaded freight cars moved east from the Hudson river.

TRAIL WOMAN IN KEENAN CASE

Police Pursuit of Clues to
Solution of Mystery
Acting Dist. Atty. Pecora
Withdraws From Investigation
for Present at Least

NEW YORK, April 2.—A woman now is the newest central figure in police pursuit of clues to a solution of the mystery of the murder of Dorothy Keenan, who was chloroformed to death a score of days ago. It was learned today that the police had for some time been trailing the sweetheart of a man who for several days has been under suspicion, chiefly because he has been unable to account for his actions for the hours between midnight preceding the murder and 8 o'clock the next morning. The woman, they said, was being trailed in the hope that she might attempt to dispose of some of the jewelry or other articles that were stolen from the model's West 57th street apartment. She already has been interviewed by the police, having provided the suspected man with an alibi for the hours before and after the murder, with the exception of the eight that still remain unexplained. The suspect is believed to have known the slain model intimately, the authorities said. They now are working on the theory that blackmail led to the girl's murder, and that the robbery was an afterthought. Acting District Attorney Pecora announced yesterday that he had withdrawn from the investigation for the present at least. He said he would not again re-enter the case unless specifically asked to do so by the police.

HIGH SCHOOL ANNEX FIRE LOSS ADJUSTED

The work of adjusting the fire loss at the high school annex has been finished, but the exact amount of money the city will receive under its terms of the agreement will not be figured for a day or two. It is not in one or two minor instances both sides in the matter are in accord and it is expected the final papers will be ready for signature this week. With the exact amount determined, heads of departments interested in the repairs necessary to return the building to a condition comparable with that which existed prior to the fire will sit in conference to determine the best method and extent of rebuilding operations.

ter charge at tomorrow morning's session. Mrs. Morin, when called to testify, told the court her husband left her three years ago and had not been seen or heard from by anyone connected with her family until last Saturday, when her two sisters accidentally found him in a downtown store. She further stated that three children, born 9, 7 and 3 years, were dependent upon her for support. Since her husband left, she said, she has been doing her best to support them. The appearance of her husband in the dock, she claimed, was the first time in three years she had seen him. A marriage certificate was produced to show that he had since married again, saying that his wife was at her own request. There were no children by the second marriage. Judge Fisher asked the man if he was working and he replied that he was. Asked how much he thought he could contribute to the support of his wife and children, he said he considered $9 weekly a fair estimate. The amount was then fixed at $9 by the court, and with this settled, the charge of polygamy was preferred.

Well Known Property Changes Hands Today

pany, C. H. Molloy's Sons, and the Peter Savage undertaking establishment. The property on Market street is numbered from 347 to 351, and on Worthen street from 153 to 171. The assessed valuation of the property is $45,000 and it is stated that the purchase price was in the vicinity of $55,000. Messrs. Pridim and Silverblatt bought the property for investment purposes. Dr. Sparks has conducted a veterinary surgeon's business on this location for a great number of years, and up to three years ago hired the stable for business purposes. Three years ago he purchased the property, from the original owner. This is the second time the property has been conveyed, it being owned by John Hadley until its sale to Dr. Sparks.

BANDIT'S BODY STILL UNCLAIMED

To Hold Inquest in Death of
W. U. Grant, Shot to Death
in Southboro, Friday
Report Uncle of Dead Man,
Said to Live in Haverhill,
to Claim Body

WORCESTER, April 2.—Judge William E. Fowler announced this noon that the inquest in the death of Webster U. Grant, the bandit shot by officers of the state police patrol in Southboro, Saturday will take place in the Southboro district court Friday at 9 o'clock. The body still lies unclaimed in a Westboro undertaking establishment. It was announced unofficially that a uncle of the dead man, said to live in Haverhill, where the man is reported to have spent considerable of his time during the past few months has announced his intention of claiming the body. A lock of blonde hair found among the bandit's possessions and the prescription for a rare drug obtainable only in Germany and used by maniacs, the Jimmy used by the man in breaking into the Southboro drug store and a traveling bag were clues on which the police are working, in seeking to establish a history of the man's movements since he was employed in Whitinsville several months ago. State detectives and police were in Westboro again today. The finding of a jewelry case in the snow in Marlboro bearing the name of Smith's Jewelry Store, leads to the belief that Grant may have made the recent break in that store. He was seen in Marlboro Friday afternoon and evening, when he lunched at a local restaurant.

assigned in an effort to have the job finished according to schedule. Two patrolmen have been assigned to each of the city's 31 precincts and as far as possible these men have been placed to cover sections and neighborhoods with which they are familiar and through which they have patrolled.

Final instructions were given the men just before they left police headquarters at 8 o'clock this morning by Supt. Atkinson and J. Omar Allard, clerk of the board. Printed instructions were distributed and each officer also was given copies of last year's lists, which it is expected will greatly aid and expedite the work.

Every man and woman, 20 years of age and upward, in the city will be listed by the officers and every building must be accounted for, occupied or empty and whether it is dwelling house, factory, store, stable or garage. Also all dogs will be listed, with male and female designations. Only residents

600,000 men and women have found a new road to increased health, energy and efficiency. Simply from the proper use of warm water.

Yet 9 out of 10 people today are needlessly in constant danger of serious illness caused by Constipation and "Auto-intoxication", which means "self-poisoning". This is due to the fact that, with the sedentary lives we lead, waste matter accumulates in the large intestine. Not even cathartics can cleanse the intestine properly. The residue remains and breeds large colonies of poisonous germs—which are absorbed by the blood.

The Internal Bath—with the J. B. L. Cascade—gives the proper cleansing with simple warm water. It is the method perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell after years of research. More than 600,000 Americans have been restored to new health and energy by this method.

The story of Dr. Tyrrell's life work and the "how and why" of internal bathing are of vital interest to you. They are told in an interesting book entitled "Why Man of Today Is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient." If you will write or call on us, we will be glad to give you a copy of this book free—and entirely without obligation.

Adventures of The Twins

KING GINGERBREAD OWNED A KNICK-KNACK DOG, AND THE CUT-OUT LADY OWNED A COCONUT CAT.

The next adventure that Nancy and Nick had was in Sugar-Plum Land.

The Fairy Queen sent them there because King Gingerbread owned a knick-knack dog, and the Cut-Out Lady, who did his mending, owned a coconut cat, and the two of them fought so that the knick-knack dog and the coconut cat flew all over the place and got into the eyes and ears and mouths of the Sugar-Plum Landers.

"Sugar-Plum Land has always been a peaceful place," declared the Fairy Queen indignantly, "and there isn't a particle of sense in allowing two silly animals to carry on so."

Resides, as trouble always does it not only upset the two trouble makers but also their owners.

The Cut-Out Lady who owned the coconut cat was so upset when her pet came limping home with most of the coconut bark off him, that she almost cried her one eye out. Then of course, having no other eye to see with, she couldn't see the king's buttons on straight and they would miss the buttonholes by an inch or more.

And when the king got up in the morning and went to put on clean clothes out of his candy-box bureau drawer, his lace frilled shirt (made out of candy-box trimmings) and his red turtleneck (made out of a Christmas tree stocking), both buttoned on as crooked as a pig's tail and made him look shocking.

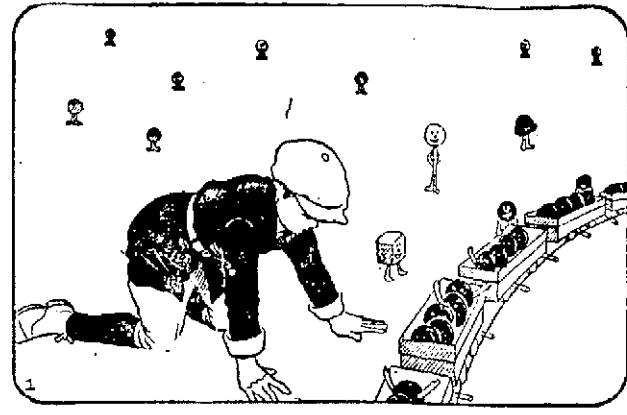

As a result his temper was quite testy. And he made laws that nobody could obey, and things got into an awful fix.

"See what you can do, kiddies," said the Fairy Queen kindly. "Your magic shoes will take you there in a twinkling. Sugar-Plum Land lies north of Soda-Water Ocean, south of Custard-Sauce Sea, and directly between Custard Land and Plaster Land."

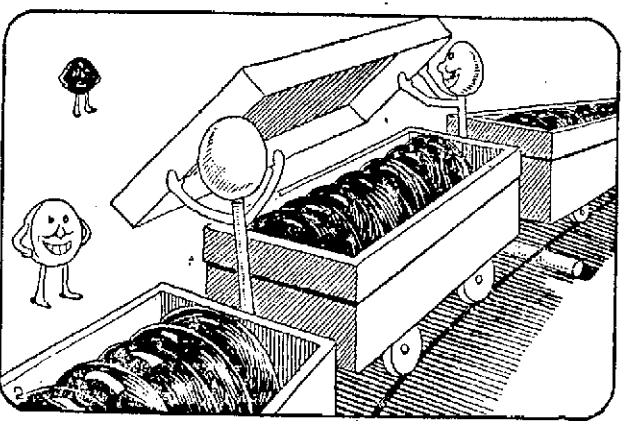

"We'll find it," said Nancy happily. "And we'll try as hard as we can to put things to rights."

Jack Daw in Candy Land. Chapter 10

Jack noticed that the little candy box cars were made so that each one took just so many chocolate peppermints. There was room for just one row and the peppermints started hopping in. It was great fun to watch them go over the side of the boxes and into place.

One by one the candy box cars were filled. As the last peppermint got into a car the little Candy Land train pulled up a bit and the next box was ready. Finally every peppermint was aboard. Then two more All-Day-Suckers started putting the covers on the candy box cars.

"Who are those All-Day-Suckers?" asked Jack. "Why, that first one is the brakeman of the train and the other is the conductor," replied Caramel. By this time the candy box car covers were all on and the brakeman waved to the engineer. Then the train started to move. (Continued.)

LONG LOST CHRONICLE TO GUARD WHISKEY

Manuscript Found in London Identified as Chronicle Whiskey in Warehouses Written in 17th Century Government to Concentrate Whiskey in Warehouses Where it Can Be Guarded

HANOVER, N. H., April 2.—Identification of a manuscript found in London in 1908 as a long lost chronicle written by Councillor Perrin of Geneva early in the 17th century, was announced at Dartmouth college today. Professor Herbert D. Foster of the history department at Dartmouth, who discovered the manuscript, succeeded in identifying it through research in the British museum and the archives of Geneva.

By means of photographs of pages of the manuscript which he compared with others in the Geneva archives, he was able to establish the handwriting as that of Perrin and to verify the contents. The chronicle of more than 700 pages which is now in the British museum, was suppressed by the council of Geneva because it was considered too indiscreet in its revelations of the internal history of the little republic.

LIQUOR CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Owing to the absence of several members of the liquor squad who have been detailed to listing work, the cases of Rosier Chadeau, Albert de Angelo and George Katsaros, Manuel Tschonko, charged with illegally keeping intoxicating liquor, were continued until Saturday when they were called in the district court before Judge Fisher this morning.

George Michael Zaher, whose premises on Suffolk street were raided last Saturday afternoon entered pleas of guilty to illegal sale and keeping. For the sale, he was fined $100, and for the charge of keeping, a fine of $100 and sentence of three months in the house of correction were suspended for a year.

Adam Surro pleaded guilty to illegal keeping, a fine of $100. He was also found guilty of fishing without a license and additional fine of $10 was imposed for this offence.

The third fine of $100 for illegal keeping was imposed on Charles McQuarrie on a plea of guilty.

Joseph M. Galvin pleaded guilty to drunkenness. As he is already on probation for the same offence, the case was continued for sentence until Oct. 23.

William Arnauld, on a drunkenness charge was given a suspended sentence of six months to the house of correction, while a like charge against Thomas F. McCarthy was continued until June 2.

MATRIMONIAL

A pretty wedding took place this morning at St. Louis church when Mr. Edward Gargan and Miss Marie Marquis, two well known young people of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a high nuptial mass celebrated at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. J. N. Gauthier. During the service hymns were sung by the choir, under the direction of Oliver J. David. Miss Ida Monaghan presiding at the organ. The bride was attired in white tulle and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Ida Charbonneau, who wore pink tulle and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The best man was Mr. James Gargan. At the close of the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Charbonneau, 135 Hildreth street, where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Gargan, who received numerous wedding gifts, left this afternoon on a honeymoon trip to New York and Washington. After May 1 they will be at home to their friends at 135 Hildreth street.

Milford—April

The marriage of Mr. Joseph George Milot, a well known resident of Brockton, and Miss Laura Aurora Milot, a popular young woman of Salem street, took place this morning at St. Jean Baptiste church at 7 o'clock. The ceremony being performed at a high nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I. The bride wore a tulle traveling suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by her father, Mr. J. Milot. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father in Salem street. The couple left at noon on a honeymoon trip to Boston, Providence, R. I. and New York, and upon their return they will make their home at 733 Moody street.

Rainville—Salem

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Jeanne d'Arc's rectory in White street, Mr. Alfred Rainville and Miss Alma Stang were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I. The bride wore white crepe de chine with veil and carried a bouquet of pink roses. She was attended by her father, Mr. John Stang, while the groom was attended by his father, Mr. Thomas Rainville. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride in Dracut. This evening a reception will be held at the home of the groom's parents, 643 Broadway, and tomorrow the couple will leave on a wedding trip. After April 15 they will make their home in this city. Among the gifts received by the couple were two purses of gold, one from the groom's parents and the other from the Courier-Citizen Co.

Cote—Allan

Mr. Alfred Cote and Miss Marie Anne Allan were married at St. Jean Baptiste church this morning, at a nuptial mass celebrated at eight o'clock. The witnesses were Messrs. M. Dumas and J. Cote. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. Dumas in Alken avenue and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Manchester, N. H. Upon their return they will make their home at 475 Moody street.

BIG ATTRACTION AT AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

One of the features in connection with the Easter Monday concert and dance under the auspices of the National Temperance Institute in the Memorial Auditorium this evening will be a spectacular march of 14 Vocational school dressmaking classes in competition for $200 in gold the pageant to include the latest designs in modern dressmaking and posturing as taught by the teachers in the Vocational school. The event should prove a source of education to the public as it will show what can be done and what actually is done by persons interested in this particular art.

The grand march will get underway at 8:45 and will be preceded by a concert by Campbell's orchestra, beginning with the popular overture, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers." Specialty song and dance numbers by Lowell's best-known talent will follow. General dancing will continue until 1 o'clock.

WILL GIVE TALK ON COTTON AND ITS USES

James McDowell, who formerly lived in Lowell, but who is now cotton buyer for the Hamilton and Sharp Manufacturing companies, with headquarters in Boston, is to give an illustrated talk in Liberty hall at the Lowell Memorial Auditorium, Tuesday night, at 7:45 o'clock, on "Cotton and Its Uses." This will be a most interesting and free course for mill operatives and others interested in the cotton industry. The speaker is a native of Lowell and has been in the cotton business for many years. He is a member of the Massachusetts Safety Council, the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, and the Lowell Textile school, and it promises to draw the largest audience to date.

There will be two speakers on this program. Everett King of Boston, giving a twenty-minute talk on "Textile Mill Hazards." He is safety supervisor for six plants employing 2,000 people. The general public is invited to this meeting, which has its place in the program to make Lowell a safer city in 1923.

"UNCLE DUDLEY" IN
REMINISCENT MOOD

Dudley J. Page, "Uncle Dudley" to many, dropped into the recruiting office of the 11th Corps at the Hill-dreth building today, and told Major Toohay, U.S.A., who is in charge of the office, several interesting facts concerning the old 11th Corps and its service during the Civil war. Mr. Page was a member of that corps and was with it in its first battle at Chancellorsville, when it met with a slight reverse at the hands of Gen. Lee's army. He was then transferred to the 11th Corps through the march to the sea with General Sherman and the end of the war.

The 11th Corps met defeat in its first battle, but it redeemed itself in the battle of Cemetery Hill, at Gettysburg and when, shortly after this battle, it was merged with the 12th Corps and became the 20th, it again redeemed itself by raising the siege of Chattanooga and brought relief to the half-starved troops of Gen. Thomas, who were cooped up in that town by the rebel forces of Gen. Hood. After this action it joined with Gen. Sherman's army and accompanied him to Georgia, and took active part in the battle which Johnson's rebel army and caused their surrender. From that time on it was in no major battles, but accompanied Sherman to Mobile, Alabama, and was on its way from there to join Gen. Grant when the news of Lee's surrender at Appomattox, Virginia, came. Shortly after this it was demobilized and those who had lived through its strenuous battles returned to their homes.

This corps was formed in September, 1862, and was attached to the department of Virginia; and after a short service with them, joined the army of the Cumberland and then joined the army of Potomac, and during this time had many commanding officers. Among those were such men as Major-General Franz Sigel, Brig.-Gen. J. H. Stahel, Maj.-Gen. Carl Schurz, Brig.-Gen. A. Van Selsamer and Maj.-Gen. Oliver O. Howard.

At the end of the Civil war the corps was discontinued and was not reorganized until recently, when the government started the Organized Reserves. As the corps had seen such active service during the Civil war and as many of its men had come from the New England states, it was considered that it should be allocated to New England as part of the new army of reserves.

NATIONAL BANK CHARTER ANOTHER BODY FOUND

Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Company is Now National Bank

The Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust company was granted a charter to operate as a national bank on last Saturday, and it also became a member of the Federal Reserve board on the same day. This announcement was made at a meeting of the directors held Saturday night at which it was also announced that, beginning today, the bank would be known as the Middlesex National bank.

FRANK P. MCGILLY
President

The directors have had this matter under consideration for a long time and it was only after considering the question from every angle that the final decision was made.

After application had been made to the government authorities, it was necessary to submit to an examination by the National Bank examiners and to have the final approval of the controller of currency at Washington. Everything being satisfactory, the charter of currency signed the charter Saturday morning.

The reason for the change was because of recent court decisions concerning the taxation of trust companies in this state and also because the directors feel that under federal supervision and as a member of the

Taken From Ruins of Tower Which Collapsed Saturday

—Death Toll Now Eight

HARTFORD, Conn., April 2.—Another body was taken this morning from the wreckage of the Fuller Brush Co. tower which collapsed Saturday, making eight known dead in the accident. The finding indicated that the body was that of a workman and identified as that of Peter Normandin, an ironworker, of this city. It was believed at least one more body was under the mass of steel and concrete which piled up when the tower collapsed and a 50,000 gallon water tank plunged from the top.

A steam shovel was used throughout the night and this morning to clear away the debris and load it into trucks as fast as it was sifted over by the workmen who were looking for bodies. A fool which had been severed from a man's body was dug out shortly after the body of Normandin was found. One of those killed was James F. Bent, vice president of the R. G. Bent Co., contractors in charge of the construction of the building and tower.

WILL LECTURE AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Professor A. H. Wilde, dean of the School of Education of Boston university, will speak at the Normal school at 2:15 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, upon the general theme of "Educational Opportunities for Protective Teachers." This lecture will take the place of the one announced for April 4 by Miss Louise French, who has been called to Washington. Consequently, her lecture for Wednesday is postponed to a future date which will be announced later.

Reserve Board the depositors will be even better served than they have been before.

The bank has operated as a trust company with a savings department. Under the new regime these departments will be continued and there will be no change in the personnel. The Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust company is the second in the state to become a national bank since Nov. 1, 1902. The first one was the Federal Trust company of Boston, which was chartered in March 20, 1922. The Middlesex bank's charter is dated March 31 and is signed by the controller of currency.

The officers of the Middlesex National bank are: Frank P. McGilly, president; Larkin T. Fraill, vice-president; Charles E. Wadsworth, vice-president; Arthur J. Dion, cashier; Edward A. McGilly, assistant to president.

CIVIL SESSION OF THE SUPERIOR COURT OPENED HERE WITH JUSTICE QUA PRESIDING

The April session of the superior court this morning with Justice Stanley B. Qua on the bench, Justice James H. Sisk of Lynn was scheduled to preside at the session, but owing to death in his family, he was unable to be present.

After the opening of the court prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. C. E. Fisher, pastor of the First Universalist church. The list of jurors was read by Clerk Roger Hurd and eleven of them were excused. The court heard several motions and at 10:45 o'clock the jurors were excused and court was adjourned until tomorrow morning, at which time it is expected Justice Sisk will be able to start the first case.

The jurors who are scheduled to serve at this session are as follows:

Trustees of Memorial Auditorium Will Elect Manager and Custodian Tonight

The public trustees of the Memorial Auditorium will elect a building manager and custodian at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock and advance information and prognostication seems to favor Collin H. MacKenzie, present incumbent, for the position. Mayor John J. Donovan will cast his vote for Harry Sullivan, first on the submitted eligible list which contains the names of Messrs. Sullivan, Preston and MacKenzie in that order and it is believed the other trustees will favor MacKenzie.

Charles H. Holson, chairman of the board, said today an election undoubtedly will be held at tonight's meeting. He said it was more or less obligatory, inasmuch as the certificate now at hand expires on the 5th and unless action is taken tonight, a special meeting will be necessary and Mr. Holson sees no reason why the election should be postponed any longer.

12½ P. C. Offer Submitted By Fall River Manufacturers Late This Afternoon — General Impression That It Will Be Accepted By Unions

FALL RIVER, April 2.—The Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' association today offered a wage advance of 12½ per cent. to the textile council to meet the demands of a 15 per cent. advance made by them. The general impression prevails that the offer of the manufacturers will be accepted by the unions and a threatened strike averted. The offer was submitted in this afternoon.

EJECTED FROM CHAPLIN'S ROOM

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., April 2.—A young woman saying she is 15 years of age and claiming acquaintance with General Francisco Serrano, Mexican minister of war and Pedro J. Alameda, inspector general of police in Mexico City, has interested police surgeons here with declarations of having swallowed poison after having been ejected from Charlie Chaplin's bedroom.

She gave the name of Mrs. Marina Vega of Mexico City. While no traces of poison were found, the movie comedian, in whose automobile she was taken to the receiving hospital for treatment, told of several entrances effected to his house through the rear.

Her story was of infatuation with the comedian, seeing his pictures in Mexico City and unsuccessful attempts to see him at the studio, followed by gaining entrance to his residence while he was out and containing in his bedroom until discovered there by a Japanese servant with a knife. The woman returned with a knife, his fiancée, and a physician.

SAYS FRENCH FIRED ON DEFENSELESS CROWD

BERLIN, April 2.—(By the Associated Press) The communist newspaper Rote Fahne referring to the disturbance at the Krupp plant, Essen, last Saturday, which resulted in the death of nine Germans and the wounding of 34 others, says that for several weeks past the walls and workshops of the plant had been covered with German nationalist placards. The dispatch continues:

"Immediately on learning of the arrival of French troops at the works a number of nationalists incited the workers to resist and urged them not to allow any soldier to leave the plant alive. When members of the workers' council who had been deliberating, left the conference hall, they found themselves in the presence of a compact crowd led by enraged nationalists. Including numerous students, who were shouting 'Down with France!'"

TRIAL DELAYED BY DEATH OF JUROR'S SON

MARION, Ill., April 2.—(By the Associated Press) The Herrin riot trial was delayed for the third time today by the death of an infant son of George Mohler, one of the jurors.

When the child was first stricken with scarlet fever a week ago the court recessed for two days to permit Mohler to return to his home. A previous delay of 11 days was caused by illness in the family of J. T. Barnes, another juror. The trial will be resumed tomorrow.

TOOK POUCHES OF REGISTERED MAIL

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—Five or six men armed with sawed-off shotguns, held up a mail truck in the business section of the city, took a quantity of mail including nine pouches of the registered mail, locked the driver and a messenger in the cage of the truck, and escaped.

The truck was on its way from the main postoffice to a sub-station. The holdup occurred in the heart of the stock brokerage district. Postoffice inspectors said they would be unable to estimate the value of the stolen pouches until a check had been made. It was said that there was no big bank mail in the lot.

BEGINS PROBE OF WARD-PETERS MURDER CASE

ALBANY, N. Y., April 2.—Atty. Gen. Sherman today began an investigation of the Ward-Peters murder case. He seeks to become familiar with every detail of the case, from the discovery of the body of Clarence Peters, former member of the marine corps, near the Kensico reservoir, to the dismissal of the indictment against Walter S. Ward, his confessed slayer.

The discovery of the body on May 15, last, was described by George Lohr and Frank Taxter, telephone hucksters, who said that they and his companions thought Peters was a victim of an accident and did not suspect he was dead. They did not touch the body, he said, as they feared they might leave finger prints and be accused as the murderers. Taxter declared that a photograph of the body, entered as an exhibit, did not show the position as they saw it. The photograph shows that the feet of the dead man were toward the road, while Taxter declared emphatically that when they discovered the body the head was toward the road.

ACTIVITY IN FACTORY LOCATION SITES

More activity is reported in factory location sites in Lowell, particularly in the Ayer City section of the city. Chamber of commerce reports several individuals "looking around" for choice locations in the Tanner street territory, where there are a number of good buildings suitable for general manufacturing and storage.

The latest concern to locate in this part of Lowell where rentals are reasonable and railroad facilities adequate for all business purposes, is the "Converters" Paper Co., a concern that is now installing machinery in the former plant of the Bunker Piano Stool Co. at Lincoln and Tanner streets, preparatory to starting the manufacture of a new process paper.

TO VISIT LAWRENCE LODGE OF ELKS

Officers and many of the members of the Lowell Lodge of Elks will journey to Lawrence next Thursday evening to take part in the installation of officers of the Lawrence lodge. Richard T. Robinson, past exalted ruler of Lowell, has been named installing officer for the occasion. It is expected that many prominent Lowell men will be in his party which it is hoped will number several hundred or more.

ANTI-SOVIET MISSION

Two Alleged Anti-Bolshevik Attachés Arrive on Steamer Asia

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 2.—Among the passengers on the steamer Asia of the Pacific line which arrived here today from Marseilles were Captain Vladimir Smitt and Colonel Alexander Guevsky, alleged anti-bolshevik attachés to the Russian embassy at Constantinople. Captain Smitt was accompanied by his wife and three sons. They claimed they are coming to America as part of an anti-soviet mission and will make their headquarters at 2033 14th avenue, New York, described by the captain as the home of the anti-bolsheviks in America.

WELL KNOWN PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS TODAY

Announcement was made through the office of Mortimer Robbins and son today, that the property at the corner of Market and Worthen streets, known as the John Hadley property, had been purchased by Samuel E. Silverblatt, in conjunction with Bennett Silverblatt, from Dr. James H. Sparks.

The property consists of two buildings, built of brick, containing a large garage, four stories and ten tenements. The stores are occupied at the present time by the Lowell Auto Lamp company.

EGG ROLLING ON WHITE HOUSE LAWN

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Rolling egg rollers of the capital held full sway on the south grounds of the White House, thrown open for the annual Easter festival. As it was still decidedly overcast weather here the bright flocks of swarming youngsters were missing from the colorful scene of other years.

The occasion this year also lacked the presence of the president and Mrs. Harding, who were here to welcome the merry-makers last Easter.

LISTING OF POLLS AND PERSONAL PROPERTY ASSESSMENTS GET UNDER WAY TODAY

Work of Listing All Residents Sent Out Today to Begin of City Was Begun by the Police Today Work of Making Personal Property Assessments

The actual work of listing all male and female residents of the city of Lowell under the direction of the newly organized listing board got under way shortly after 8 o'clock this morning when 62 regular police officers, armed with cards, pencils and instruction sheets instead of night-sticks, bracelets and kais, spread out over the voting precincts to do the job which prior to this year has been done by assistant assessors working under the direction of the assessing board.

It is hoped and generally believed that the listing will be completed within seven working days and it is expected that the listing will be completed by the 10th of April.

MILLIKEN IS OUT OF FUEL LOWELL MAN WILL FACE POLYGAMY CHARGE

Former Local Emergency Fuel Distributor Albert D. Milliken Is the Proper Title Today

Just before entering an important directors' meeting of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce today, Mr. Milliken greeted a dozen or more business men and chamber executives with the smile that refuses to come off. There was a reason.

"Yes, I'm through. It's all over. I am no longer fuel distributor for the city of Lowell or anywhere else," said Mr. Milliken.

The Sun wanted some sort of a statement or review of the season's work. Mr. Milliken thought gravely.

Camel Will Soon Be at Home in New York

NEW YORK, April 2.—Broadway will be as dry as Sahara and even a camel will feel at home there, said Palmer Canfield, state prohibition director in announcing today that 21 more cabarets and restaurants in the white light district would shortly be closed. He said the places in question had failed to heed warnings to cease selling liquor.

LONDON, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—An American woman believed to be Mrs. Jessie May Mellon Bowie, aged 48, and possibly a resident of San Francisco, died suddenly Saturday night at a hotel in the West End of London. The authorities have been unable to identify her further, but she was apparently well to do, and is reputed to have been the wife of an American millionaire.

Speculation Cause of Rise in Sugar Price

BOSTON, April 2.—Sugar refiners, wholesalers and retailers told Eugene C. Hultman, chairman of the state commission on necessities, today that speculation was the cause of the recent rise in the price of sugar. They agreed that the public was showing no signs of hoarding and that trading in sugar at present was flat.

ART STUDENT IS OUT WITH FACTS

Bowering Tells of Long Suffering From Stomach Trouble and Quick Restoration by Tanlac

Victor E. Bowering, 132 Austin St., Cambridge, Mass., gifted student of the Boston Art School, still another popular young citizen to publicly express his gratitude for the benefits he has derived from Tanlac. "The Tanlac treatment overcame my stomach trouble and put me down condition in quick time," he declared. "I came down with the flu about three months ago and it left my stomach all upset and my whole system worn-out. My appetite was so poor I don't believe I ate half what I would under normal conditions. My food fermented in my stomach and gas bloated me up until I was in misery. My head was giddy with headaches and dizzy spells. I was nervous, irritable and suffered with constipation. I can paint a different picture since taking Tanlac. I eat heartily and regularly, never have indigestion, nervous steady as a rock and in nearly every way I feel better than ever. I certainly am a Tanlac enthusiast."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 27 million bottles sold.—Adv.

Jews Celebrate the Feast of Redemption

Jewish-speaking residents of Lowell, in conjunction with their co-religionists throughout the world, at sunset Saturday began a week's celebration of "The Feast of Redemption," or the feast of unleavened bread, as the Passover holidays are sometimes called. The observance began with the holding of "Seder" services, and in the orthodox homes was repeated last evening.

The "Seder" services are of special significance among the Jews. About the family table on Passover eve the entire household is gathered, there being a chair left unoccupied for Elijah, patron of the stranger and his protector.

A special ritual features the service. A narrative called the "Haggadah" is read. In this volume are venerable and highly-prized stories of the exodus from Egypt, and many quaint quips and anecdotes of the ancient rabbis, as well as many bits of ancient songs and lore.

Passover was originally an agricultural feast, being the springtime feast, also the period when the thresholds in very remote antiquity were consecrated. At a later period it became identified with the historical events in the early career of the Hebrews, and their sojourn in the land of Egypt. The association of the primitive agricultural feast with a historical crisis invigorated Passover with a new and highly significant message. It became the "Feast of Redemption," the feast of liberty.

So firmly is the symbolism of the "Feast of the Passover" entrenched that, during the week, every Jewish family abstains from eating leavened bread, and uses instead the matzo, thin, flat or disk-shaped wafers, a reminder of the bread eaten by their remote ancestors in their hasty departure from Egypt.

The matzo are symbolic of the festival note of relating over their deliverance from bondage. Reform and orthodox Jews alike partake of it. Special services in the various Jewish reform and orthodox temples took place yesterday morning. There were also special services in the institution, at which where charity is distributed by friendly and sympathetic Jewish-speaking people.

Thousands of pounds of matzo have been distributed to the poor during the last week or two. Gifts of money were also made so that the necessary special foodstuffs could be purchased.

WAS SUFFOCATED BY SMOKE IN HIS ROOM

Peter O'Neill, aged 41 years, who lived at 46 Tyler street, was overcome by smoke in his room early yesterday morning and died in the ambulance on the way to the hospital. As far as could be learned O'Neill returned to his room late Saturday night and built a fire in the small stove which he used to heat his apartment. It is believed that he went to sleep, leaving the fire burning, and the partition in the wall becoming overheated, ignited. When the blaze was discovered shortly after midnight an alarm was sent in from box 23 and the fire was extinguished without any serious damage. After the fire was all out the fireman found the unconscious form of O'Neill in bed. The body was summoned and the man was rushed to the Lowell Corporation hospital, but when the institution was reached it was found that life was extinct. The body was removed to the funeral parlor of Underhinkers M. H. McElonough Sons.

O'MORE HERE ON THURSDAY NIGHT

With but a few days remaining before the big musical event, the re-appearance here of Colin O'More, the celebrated tenor at the Memorial Auditorium on Thursday night, the demand for reservations indicates that a great crowd will turn out to greet the noted artist. O'More came here on Sunday, Feb. 11, practically unknown and he sang his way into the hearts of Lowell music lovers. His resonant voice, smoothly produced and admirably controlled, brought him into instant favor. His program was well arranged and he gave every number with evident feeling for the mood of the songs.

He sings the classic airs with beauty of phrasing and ample breath of tone, keeping them at all times in the classic vein. He varies his program with popular Irish songs, classic airs and a delightful group of French pieces, and in every one his every word, whether in English or French, is clear and distinct and perfectly enunciated.

Seldom has a singer received such generous applause as that accorded O'More here and elsewhere and the immediate demand in every city where he has appeared for a return engagement indicates his popularity, demonstrates a deep appreciation of his voice and art and augurs well for him winning a vogue on the concert stage.

SWEDEN WILL COPY AMERICAN HIGHWAYS

STOCKHOLM, April 2.—The complete modernization of Swedish roads, made desirable by the rapidly increasing automobile traffic is being undertaken in earnest. The latest significant step in this movement is the establishment of a "Good Roads Institute" on the initiative of the Royal Automobile Club, which is now celebrating its twentieth anniversary.

American highways will be studied as models for Swedish construction, and a Swedish expert highway engineer, Mr. Paul Wretling, is already in the United States for that purpose.

While the Royal Automobile Club has taken the initiative in establishing the Good Roads Institute, several other organizations and government departments are interested, according to Captain A. Nordlander, general secretary of the club. Thus the board of directors will have representatives from the Department of Roads and Waterways, the Government Testing Institute, the Academy of Engineering Sciences, the Swedish Technological Association and the Swedish Roads Association. The first financing has been made by the Royal Automobile Club, but further support is expected from the road-using public in general.

MANY FIRES OVER THE WEEK END

There were no less than six alarms for fires Saturday evening and yesterday, so that the firemen were kept very busy during the week-end. The first alarm was from box 622 at 8.26 o'clock Saturday night for a slight bed fire at 24 Exeter street. At 11.21 o'clock a telephone alarm was sent in for a grass fire in the rear of the Chelmsford street hospital. At 12.34 o'clock yesterday morning there was an alarm from box 220 for a fire in the partition at 46 Tyler street, where Peter O'Neill smothered to death. The alarm from box 13 was sounded at 3.30 o'clock for a partition fire in a pool room at 350 Market street. At 8.32 a. m. there was an alarm from box 23 for a motor fire at the Howard street garage and at 2.09 o'clock in the afternoon a grass fire in Middlesex street was responsible for an alarm from box 518.

EIGHT HUNDRED NEW MEMBERS INITIATED BY EAGLES

Street Parade and Mass Meeting at the Memorial Auditorium—Initiation Conducted by Worcester Aerie—Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, Principal Speaker

With appropriate ceremonies, which included a street parade and mass meeting of members of the order at the Memorial Auditorium, Lowell aerie, Fraternal order of Eagles yesterday afternoon initiated a class of 800 members. This is by far the largest class initiation ever conducted by an aerie in the commonwealth and considerable credit is due the organizers of the affair as well as the members of the recruiting committee, who spared no time nor effort to make the event a banner one in the history of the local aerie.

It was the John M. Hogan class initiation, this name being given in honor of John M. Hogan, the general financial secretary of the aerie, who has held that office for the past 20 years and who during that long period has served the organization faithfully.

The parade was held in the early part of the afternoon, with over 3000 men in line. Included in the parade were high officers of the organization as well as the famous degree team of the Worcester aerie, present and past officers of Lowell aerie and numerous visiting members from other parts of the state. The number of marchers was over 3000 and the marching was to strains of music furnished by two bands.

The parade formed in Middle, Palmer and State streets. It was headed by a platoon of police, followed by a large squad of firemen, followed by East Attleboro aerie band of 20 pieces, Joseph Angell, conductor. Then came the Worcester aerie degree team, followed by the Massachusetts state aerie officials, officers and past presidents of Lowell aerie, presidents of visiting aeries and grand aerie officers, among whom was District Deputy Grand Worthy President John A. Loynds of Watertown.

Next in line came the 300 members of the initiation class, followed by a large squad of firemen, followed by a large squad of firemen, followed by a large squad of firemen.

The marchers went through Central street to Middlesex, to Thorndike, to Merrimack, in East Merrimack and into the Auditorium. The first number on the program at the hall was the initiation, which was conducted by the Worcester aerie degree team and which proved very interesting. After all the members of the class had taken the oath of membership, Worthy President Timothy F. Barry delivered a brief address of welcome, complimenting the new members as well as the committees responsible for such a fine showing and he introduced the following speakers: Hon. Perry D. Thompson, Mayor John J. Donovan, Grand Trustee Thomas B. Murphy, Boston and Past Worthy President John J. Sullivan of Dorchester. The principal speaker of the afternoon was Judge Thomas E. O'Donnell of Kansas City, Mo., who spoke at length on the benefits to be derived from the Fraternal order of Eagles.

The judge's address was in part as follows: "The Fraternal order of Eagles is now in its twenty-fifth year. As it rounds out its quarter of a century of healthy, helpful existence, it finds itself stronger in numbers than it has ever been in its history, stronger in its financial status, stronger in the before good will of the communities which it strives to serve."

"It had its beginning in Seattle, Washington, in a group of about a dozen men who had banded together for companionship and mutual help. These services the Eagles render to the member and his family individually. They have a further service which they render to the community. They make it a practice to back actively any social welfare movement which it has become the inspiring motive of the half-million men who are now members of the order.

"Patriotism led the founder of the fraternity to adopt the name 'Eagles' and the 'Proud Bird of our Country.' Naturally, the societies in which the members gathered were named aeries—that is, Eagles' nests. The complete organization consists of subordinate aeries or local societies, state aeries having certain geographical jurisdiction, and a grand aerie, which embraces the entire order.

"Now if you ask any member why he has joined the Eagles, ninety-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you, with a certain approving emphasis, 'For the Benefits.' These are the services of the aerie physician, the sick benefit, and the funeral benefit, all of which are substantial. For the sick benefit, the aerie physician, who is also a year-round program of high class entertainment and recreation. Latterly, tens of thousands have joined the order, also because of its championship and active leadership of the movement to establish old age pensions.

"Although membership is confined to men, the benefits and the social life of the fraternity are extended in many ways to include the wives, mothers and children, and often the friends of members. It is the fathers, mothers, sisters, wives, children and sweethearts of the members that the order often set the chief store by the benefits and the recreations afforded in membership in the F. O. E. Among the benefits most appreciated by the families is the aerie physician, who furnishes medical attendance free to them, and who, after the death of a member, continues this service to the widow and children. The next most important benefit is the sick benefit, which keeps the wolf away when the member is disabled from working through illness or accident. If the member should die, there is a substantial funeral benefit. The fund from which these benefits are paid, by a law of the order is made absolutely inalienable for any other purpose.

"Patriotism led the founder of the fraternity to adopt the name 'Eagles' and the 'Proud Bird of our Country.' Naturally, the societies in which the members gathered were named aeries—that is, Eagles' nests. The complete organization consists of subordinate aeries or local societies, state aeries having certain geographical jurisdiction, and a grand aerie, which embraces the entire order.

"Now if you ask any member why he has joined the Eagles, ninety-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you, with a certain approving emphasis, 'For the Benefits.' These are the services of the aerie physician, the sick benefit, and the funeral benefit, all of which are substantial. For the sick benefit, the aerie physician, who is also a year-round program of high class entertainment and recreation. Latterly, tens of thousands have joined the order, also because of its championship and active leadership of the movement to establish old age pensions.

"Although membership is confined to men, the benefits and the social life of the fraternity are extended in many ways to include the wives, mothers and children, and often the friends of members. It is the fathers, mothers, sisters, wives, children and sweethearts of the members that the order often set the chief store by the benefits and the recreations afforded in membership in the F. O. E. Among the benefits most appreciated by the families is the aerie physician, who furnishes medical attendance free to them, and who, after the death of a member, continues this service to the widow and children. The next most important benefit is the sick benefit, which keeps the wolf away when the member is disabled from working through illness or accident. If the member should die, there is a substantial funeral benefit. The fund from which these benefits are paid, by a law of the order is made absolutely inalienable for any other purpose.

Service to Community

These services the Eagles render to the member and his family individually. They have a further service which they render to the community. They make it a practice to back actively any social welfare movement which it has become the inspiring motive of the half-million men who are now members of the order.

Grand Secretary's Report

"In short, the Fraternal Order of Eagles stands forth among the first in the land as a patriotic, community and industrial organization, its strength and beneficial activities are evidenced by the fact that it has been early adopted in the strong Eagle states of the United States. A membership of approximately 600,000.

Total estate valued at... $8,845,000
Invested funds to the... 5,227,000
Cash on hand... 2,184,000
Lodge furnishings and... 2,206,000
Total... $18,462,000

The assets of the benefit fund used exclusively for the payment of sick and funeral benefits, $1,188,000. The P. O. E. paid out from the date of its organization, February 6, 1898, to June 30, 1921:

For sick benefits... $18,534,000
For funeral benefits... 4,213,000
For medical services... 5,610,000
Total... $28,357,000

Increases for the year ending June 30, 1922:

In membership, 42,619.
In net assets, $1,833,274.79.
In value of property in the benefit fund, $498,453.31.

"With reason, can the Eagles extend its nation-wide invitation. Come with us and we will do you good."

At the close of Judge O'Donnell's address a social hour was enjoyed and acquainted with the other members of the organization. A buffet luncheon was served and entertainment numbers were given by some of the best talent of the aerie.

POSTOFFICE IS ALSO FIRST-AID STATION

Lowell postal clerks and letter carriers can find nothing objectionable, or really new for that matter, in the fact that the U. S. postoffice department, Washington, D. C., asking them in plain words to become first-aid-to-the-stricken, etc., in cases of emergency.

Postmaster Xaxier Delisle hesitated not a moment when asked what it was all about this morning. He declared that Lowell's P. O. headquarters was not only a postoffice information bureau, but a place for visiting out-of-town acquaintances, workers' club and all that, but had been a first-aid station, so-called, for many a moon.

And what is the latest news from Washington postal first-line outposts, you ask? Simply this:

The gray-coated letter carrier, already a collector for mail-order houses, a keeper of quack bees, angle worms and infant alligators in transit from hither and yon, and also a means of transport for a large part of the country's commerce and, in some localities, actually a vendor of postage stamps, now is asked by the postoffice department to become a traveling first-aid station.

The postal advice, given in great detail for the edification of the postal authorities of Uncle Sam all over the country and the island possessions, says:

"In case of emergency, call a doctor. If you can't get a doctor, call a postman. The circular issued by the department then proceeds to give a list of instructions to the postman himself—the man who delivers your mail twice a day. It begins thusly:

"Be calm! Take command and give orders. Find location of the injury. Apply bandage or wrap hot water bottles," and so on, through the category of accepted methods for applying bandages, compresses, probing for foreign objects, in a word and all the things that first-aid experts recommend.

The instructions are just out and of course all letter-carriers and office clerks are going to carry them out to the letter whenever emergency arises, but the simple truth is that of all the postal experts from Postmaster Delisle in business dress down to the gray-coats who toll regularly down the mezzanine floors in the big "rink" just below the telephone offices, the first-aid-in-an-emergency business was in vogue in the Appleton building when Messrs. New and other G. O. P. notables were youths in short pants.

The man behind the first-aid guns at the Lowell postoffice today, if you overlook Mr. Delisle for a moment, is none other than that expert druggist and near-bone-setter, the well known "Jim" O'Dea, who has been unofficially listed as head of the first-aid bureau in the Appleton street building for quite a long time.

There is a regular, up-to-date first-aid kit at the Lowell postoffice with everything necessary to handle emergency sickness or accident cases, right handy in a big cupboard at the postoffice, or in the night. And when "Jim" O'Dea, who knows every kind of medicine and every brand of bandage and every new bandage cross-stitch and trim-decorator, as well as having some knowledge of bringing back to consciousness fainting ladies in distress in the corridors—which is not at all rare in holiday rush—why "Jim" O'Dea, so they say, could not broken arm as good as any "doc" if you gave him a fair chance! And as for fainting ladies, they always survive under the Lowell expert treatment.

And so Postmaster Delisle is glad to say today that while the new first-aid orders just received, will be treasured, filed away and preserved, the instructions will only be a sort of duplicate, as it were, of local instructions previously given. And always faithfully adhered to by the local postal service employees, who each and every one like to tell of life-saving deeds that would make good reading in a historical work if properly summarized and described in detail.

usual supplies of cream, but not enough to cause any alarm.

For these reasons, dealers interviewed this morning declared, there is no promise of any cheaper-priced milk in Lowell and vicinity until May 1 at the latest. It is predicted that on that date there may be a cut of possibly one cent but certainly no more. Occasionally you meet a dealer, who declares that there will be no lower prices all summer, but that opinion is not held by the largest distributors, who appear to be prepared for lower-priced milk when warmer weather comes along and remains.

The local milk situation was informally discussed last Saturday evening by prominent distributors, who are keeping close touch with the situation as regards supplies and who have stated more than once during the past month that the milk question in Lowell is more a question of the present time of getting enough to supply local demands at almost any price.

The announcement in Boston today by Secretary Richard H. Pattee, speaking for the New England Milk Producers' association, that beginning with Sunday's deliveries, milk in that section of the state will be 13 1/2 cents a quart instead of 14 1/2 cents, has caused wide-spread interest in all distributing and consuming circles of the milk industry. The new Boston price allows the milk producers 7 1/2 cents a quart, beginning today, instead of 8 1/2 cents.

The farmers who first market their product will get 6 1/2 cents a quart, instead of 7 1/2 cents.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten, colds, the chest it may prevent pneumonia, croup and croup, croup and croup.

Notice is hereby given as required by section 23 of chapter 43 of the General Laws, that the following order was adopted by the City Council of the City of Lowell, March 26, 1922, and approved by the Mayor March 31, 1922, to wit:

CITY OF LOWELL

ORDER

To appropriate the sum of Twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) for the purpose of the office of collecting the tax on the First Street Boulevard, and the extension of which is the First Street, including land damages and the cost of pavement and sidewalks laid at the time of said construction.

ORDERED, by the City Council of the City of Lowell, as follows:

That the sum of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) be and is hereby appropriated for the purpose of the original construction of the First Street Boulevard, and the extension of which is the First Street, including land damages and the cost of pavement and sidewalks laid at the time of said construction in the City of Lowell, and to provide the amount necessary a city debt in the amount of Twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) payable by such annual payments and bearing such rate of interest as may be fixed by the City Treasurer with the approval of the Mayor. Other particulars as to the form, issuance and sale of such bonds shall be determined by the City Treasurer.

FURTHER ORDERED, That the City Treasurer shall issue receipts for certificates in exchange for any such coupon bonds, at the request of the holder thereof in compliance with the provisions of chapter 43, section 107, and acts amendatory thereof and in addition thereto.

der the new price, and being and transportation, the distributors assert, will bring the cost to 7 1/2 cents.

Lowell milk distributors had little to say this morning about the unexpected jump in the retail price of milk in the Billerica district yesterday, when it was formally announced that the dealers had raised prices from 11 to 14 cents retail and from 9 to 13 cents to storekeepers. No previous notice had been given Billerica consumers of the proposed advance, all receiving notices yesterday with other homes and 5 cents to stores has been entirely unprofitable considering the conditions that all distributors have had to meet during the past winter.

The milk distributors of Billerica, who have advanced the price are W. Johnson C. W. White, R. J. Catherwood, Frank M. Gannon, F. Todd, D. Fred Reardon and Tower Farm Dairy. They have stated that they are obliged to pay 10 cents per can for milk and to retail it for 11 cents a quart to the homes and 5 cents to stores has been entirely unprofitable considering the conditions that all distributors have had to meet during the past winter.

SPEND $7,000,000 FOR
1923 EQUIPMENT

CHICAGO, April 2.—Returns from one-third of the mileage in the United States indicate that the railways will spend more than $7,000,000 for improvements and additions during 1923, according to the Railway Age in its annual report on the railroad condition.

Twenty-seven railways operating an aggregate of 95,000 miles, or approximately one-third of the total mileage of the country, will spend something more than $500,000 for improvements to roadway and structures, and for new equipment, says the report.

"It may be assumed," the report adds "that an equal amount will be spent by the remaining two-thirds of the railways. The significance of this is the fact that in only one year, 1917, during the last ten, have the records of the interstate commerce commission shown an increase in investment in road and equipment of this amount. This money will go for new lines, for second tracks, new yards and terminals, freight and passenger stations, shops and shop equipment, signaling, cars and locomotives, and other facilities that make up road equipment. "Large as this amount seems, it includes only those expenditures which have been definitely approved. Many other projects will be undertaken during the year, and their total will add much to the amount."

Locomotives ordered during 1922 for service in the United States total 2600, according to the Railway Age's statistics. This is more than ten times the figure reported in 1921. Freight cars ordered during 1922 were 130,154, the largest total in any year since 1912.

The most active roads thus far in approving equipment expenditures for 1923 are the Pennsylvania, with $55,000,000; the New York Central, which carried over for 1923 $23,000,000 of an appropriation of $50,000,000 in 1922, and the Louisville and Nashville, which carried over $20,000,000 of appropriations for use this year out of the $25,000,000 appropriated late in 1922.

The Illinois Central also has an improvement program on to the extent of $12,000,000, and the Norfolk and Western $22,000,000.

The Union Pacific is listed as having approved expenditures for 1923 amounting to $20,000,000.

The report states that a large part of these appropriations will go to terminal facilities. "There have been regarded as the limiting factor in fixing the capacity of the railroad. It is here that congestion first develops and becomes most pronounced."

SEEK TO FRUSTRATE
SLAUGHTER OF BIRDS

CHICAGO, April 2.—Organization of an army of citizens subscribing to break up what they call "the gun-toters' conspiracy" against birds, flowers, trees, crime and disease. Is the purpose of a movement started here by Joseph Burt, an attorney, which already has numbered among its recruits some of the leading men, fraternal bodies, civic clubs and commercial firms in the middle west.

Pledges have been circulated urging every man, woman and child to "help break the gun-toters' conspiracy against our friends the birds" and no satisfactory has been the response in signatures that the ambition has become nation-wide, according to Mr. Burt.

"The movement had its inception in the Michigan Audubon society, and Senator Woodbridge Ferris has promised in making his Washington office a clearing house for the society's aims," said Mr. Burt, who is chairman of the crime prevention of the society. "It has spread beyond the society and Michigan, however, and we are receiving pledges and inquiries from points throughout this section. The movement was designed for the protection of birds, but will raise its voice against animate and inanimate things. Constructiveness, not destructiveness, prevention of crime, not punishment for crime, are remedies for many of our troubles."

Organizations which have subscribed to the movement include the Hamilton club, the Knights of Pythias, Masonic lodges, Lions club, common pleas courts, penal and corrective institutions, rotary clubs, wild flower, bird and horticultural societies, playground associations and numerous large commercial companies.

A poster depicting a black hawk of a man holding a smoking gun, while on the ground lies a slaughtered bird, has been designed as the official poster for the movement.

K. OF C. WILL HOLD
DANCING PARTY

The Knights of Columbus will celebrate the ending of the Lenten season with a dancing party and entertainment in their new clubhouse tonight. The party will be held in the large hall at the club where already many fine parties have been held. Dancing will begin at 8:30, following a short entertainment program, and will continue until a late hour.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It—Drive Them Off
With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.—Adv.

Wage Increases Effective in So. Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 2.—Thousands of textile operatives throughout South Carolina today began working on increased wages, raises of from 10 to 12 1-2 per cent becoming effective in more than a score of cotton mills. Most of the increases followed announcement of similar action by woolen and worsted mills in New England. The Pacific Mills Co., operating four plants here, yesterday announced a wage increase of 12 1-2 per cent for the more than 1600 operatives, in line with higher scales granted to operatives of this company's New England mills. All the mills are operated on the non-union plan.

Mysterious Slaying of G. O. P. Leader

CHICAGO, April 2.—Gang politics, gambling and robbery were advanced as possible motives for the mysterious slaying last night of Theodore Krish, a republican precinct captain and friend of State Attorney Crowe, a little more than 24 hours before the municipal election. Krish operated a cigar store, with a card room in connection, where he was found shot to death. His place of business also was the polling place for his precinct.

Brockton's Building Laborers Strike

BROCKTON, April 2.—Brockton's building laborers or hod carriers, in sufficient numbers to tie up all big building jobs under way and many new jobs due to start today, are on strike to force a demand for $1 per hour against their old wage of 72 cents. The master masons offered 75 cents.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

PITTSBURGH, April 2.—A wage increase for building trades and workers in Pittsburgh, ranging from 10 to 25 cents an hour, was announced today by the employers' association.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Under present conditions the timber supply of this country will disappear in between 40 and 50 years, W. B. Greeley, chief forester of the department of agriculture today told the special senate committee on reforestation.

TOKIO, April 2.—(By the Associated Press.) The recent announcement of the intention of the governments of Japan and the United States to cancel the Lansing-Ishii agreement recognizing Japan's "special interests" in China is not treated as "sensational news" by the Japanese press, except for the papers that use the decision to attack the Japanese administration.

DANBURY, April 2.—The case of Mrs. Eleanor Williams, arrested near Waterbury, recently on a charge of perjury in connection with an affidavit in the divorce case of W. E. D. Stokes of New York was continued in court in Bethel today until next Monday, owing to the inability of Mrs. Stokes to be present.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y., defending champion, today advanced to the fourth round in the national indoor singles tennis tournament by defeating George Whitlock of New York, 6-1, 6-3.

BOSTON, April 2.—C. Suydam Cutting of New York and G. A. Lyon of Boston were winners in first round matches in the national golf tournament championships here today.

HAVERHILL, April 2.—The scale of $1 an hour effective in the Haverhill building trades during 1921-1922 was restored today, when new agreements were signed between the Haverhill Master Painters' Association and local union 517, painters, decorators, and paper hangers. The plumbers, electricians and sheet metal workers have presented like demands and have agreements pending.

WORCESTER RECTOR SAYS YESTERDAY NOT EASTER

WORCESTER, April 2.—Henry W. Hobson, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, the largest and wealthiest of the denomination in Worcester, declared today that although yesterday was observed as Easter Sunday it was not Easter after all.

"Under the church rule which governs the determination of the day Easter," he said, "should be next Sunday, the first Sunday after the full moon following the 21st of March, and if the full moon happens on a Sunday, Easter day is the Sunday after."

INDICTED ON CHARGE OF JURY TAMPERING

NEW YORK, April 2.—A federal grand jury today returned an indictment against the Great State Petroleum Co., Inc., of Texas, and 10 individuals, charged with using the mails to defraud investors in the stock of the corporation. The corporation is capitalized at $5,270,000.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 2.—Operators for the rise began bidding up stocks at the opening of today's stock market. A good demand was noted for such leaders as United States Steel common, Baldwin, Studebaker, the Pan-American, California Petroleum and Industrial Alcohol, all of which opened fractionally higher. Brown Shoe duplicated its previous top of the year and Century Union was pushed up to a new high record. There were only a few heavy spots. Calumet and Southern Pacific, each off fractionally, being the most important.

The closing was weak. Prices in a number of stocks broke sharply in the last dealings, net losses of 2 to 3 1/2 points being recorded in the last hour by such recent favorites as American can, Baldwin Reading, Corn Products, California Petroleum, Atlantic Coast Line, Louisville & Nashville, and a number of others.

BREAK NEW YORK CRIME WAVE

NEW YORK, April 2.—Police officials with the city's force still working overtime, declared today they had broken New York's latest crime wave. A threatened widespread outbreak of crime on Easter Sunday, was checked, the police said, through the department's preparations. Through lengthened working hours, curtailment of holidays, the addition of clerical officers to patrol duty, and the use of all the city's detectives on the streets, the force was increased an estimated one-third. Numerous arrests were made, some of them after the police had engaged in fights with criminals. Plain clothes men visited the resorts where criminals are known to appear, and a number were returned to jail in this dragnet.

WILL DO AWAY WITH 15-RIDE TICKET

Beginning on April 4, next Wednesday, the street railway company will discontinue the use of the 15-rides for $1.00 tickets which are now used on suburban lines running from Lowell, and the 16-for-$1.00 split ticket will be used on every line in the Lowell district where both the 15 and 16 ride tickets are being used at the present time. On the 15-for-$1.00 ticket there was a rebate of five cents payable at the office of the street railway and at several stores throughout the city. This has always caused considerable work and has also been a loss to many people who failed to keep their tickets after the 15 rides had been punched out and turn them in for the rebate. It is to do away with the inconvenience of collecting the rebate that the ticket has been discontinued and the 16-ride ticket put in its place. Monetarily there is very little difference in the two tickets. The 16-ride ticket is worth 6 1/2 cents a ride, and the 15-ride ticket, with the nickel rebate included, figures at 6 1/2 cents a ride. This change will be a great help to the operators of the cars as well as to the general public, as after Wednesday, they will only have to carry the 16-ride ticket.

shop, store and all other places employment.

The secretary of labor is no stranger to honest toil. He was once a steel mill worker when only 11 years of age, and his sympathies have always been with the workers of America. He is today one of the really big men of the Harding cabinet because of his excellent handling of many difficult industrial problems he has been called upon to face and adjust. That is the reason why the Davis administration in the Memorial Auditorium tonight is expected to be a notable event, in this community of workers, for it is said that he has a really new and important message to bring to the thing that will surely fill the auditorium and that to what the distinguished visitor has to say. The reception committee to welcome Mr. Davis, who is expected to reach Lowell about 3:30 o'clock and will first be given a reception in Liberty Hall by members of the Rotary club, follows:

H. Hutchins Parker, chairman; Thomas R. Atkinson, Charles E. Anderson, Thomas M. Craggan, Dr. Herbert R. Davis, Xavier A. Delia, Mayor John J. Donovan, Charles H. Eames, J. Gallagher, Arthur H. Harris, Charles H. Johnson, John M. Hogan, John A. Lambertson, A. D. Milliken, Hugh J. Molloy, Joseph A. Molloy, Parker F. Murphy, Ernest P. Parsons, A. C. Pollock, James B. 155,000 MINERS IDLE BIG DRIVE PLANNED BY NIGHTLY SEA SHOWS RUINS OF CHICHENITSA FOR MAYOR OF CHICAGO REASSEMBLE JURY WHICH CONVICTED CREASY

HAZLETON, Pa., April 2.—Most of the 155,000 miners of the anthracite field remained idle today in celebration of the eight-hour day. In some sections mass meetings were held and speakers had prepared addresses and dwelled on the significance of the eight-hour concession, which was granted in 1912.

LOWELL DAY PROGRAM IN THE HIGH SCHOOL

Lowell day was observed at the high school today at 12:15 o'clock with suitable exercises. There was no speaking except for the announcement of the different numbers on the program and notices on school matters for the coming week by Headmaster Henry J. Hild.

The opening number on the program was a march, played by the L.I.S. orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Fred O'Brien. Following this came two solos, "Italy," and "Birds Are Singing," by Miss Caroline Urbanek of the class of 1924. Miss Urbanek's offering was well received and she gave an encore. Another orchestra selection, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," followed and then the feature of the day's program was given. This was a one-act play entitled, "Sauce for the Gossamer," and was a plea for good English. The cast was as follows:

Richard Taylor, the father, Margaret Taylor, the mother, Elizabeth Smith, '23, Robert Taylor, the son, Elmon Peters '23, Elizabeth Taylor, the daughter, Marguerite Shugrue, '23, Martha Lee, the grandmother, Gladys Kendall, '23, James Ward, a guest, Ralph Butler, '23.

A maid, Helen McCabe.

During this scene the curtain was lowered to denote the lapse of an hour.

NOTED SCIENTISTS TO SPEAK AT NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Apr. 2.—Counselors of the American Chemical society of which nearly two hundred had given advance notice of their intention to attend the 66th convention of the body, together with delegates from other scientific organizations began registering at Ryers hall today. The first formal gathering will be at a dinner tonight which the New Haven chamber of commerce is to give as a welcome to the municipality and the state.

Three noted men in the scientific world will be the speakers, Brig.-Gen. Amos F. Fries of the chemical warfare service who is expected to refer to wartime equipment in peace-time uses, E. C. Franklin, president of the society and Arthur D. Little of Boston.

The first session of the society will be held tomorrow morning and the speaker will be Francis P. Garvan of New York, formerly alien property custodian, who will have for his subject, "Chemistry and the public."

REFUGEE SITUATION BECOMES SERIOUS

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 2.—The refugee situation here is becoming so serious that the American chamber of commerce has called the American Red Cross and Near East Relief urging funds to permit the concentration of the 38,000 Greeks and Russians crowded into the refugee quarters.

The mortality among the refugees now exceeds 1 per cent daily and there seems to be no possibility of checking the epidemics among them so long as present conditions continue. Meanwhile there are continual escapes of individuals among the refugees, who are mingling with the city's population threatening the spread of disease and menacing all Europe, the authorities fear.

AUCTION SALE AT POLICE STATION

Confiscated old stoves, copper stills, bottles, jugs and other distillery paraphernalia were sold at public auction in the shed adjoining the Market street police station this morning. The sale started promptly at 11 o'clock in the presence of a good-sized gathering of men and women. Auctioneer John J. Hayes started things humming when he called for bids on a three-burner oil stove which began at 25 cents and eventually amounted to $1.80, a woman being the lucky winner. Competition for the various articles was keen throughout, and the cleaning up process was completed in short order. The goods consisted of fixtures seized by the liquor squad in successful raids.

REPORT EX-KAISER AND WIFE HAVE SEPARATED

NEW YORK, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Reports of a serious disagreement between former Emperor William and Princess Hermine, his bride of a few months, which have cropped up from time to time, since the first of the year, are revived today by the Evening News who state that the ex-emperor and his wife have definitely separated.

When Princess Hermine left Doorn recently she went ostensibly to inspect family estates in Germany, but in reality asserts the correspondent, she has gone to live with her relatives.

"The actual separation is over a fortnight old," he declares, "but the secret has been kept."

The ex-emperor's life is reported to be very solitary and his establishment very simple, for although his private means are still ample they are not under his control.

In the article the ex-kaiser is described as "one of the most tragic figures in Europe today."

STATE TO INVESTIGATE HOUSE OF DAVID

DETROIT, April 2.—Quo warranto proceedings against the Israelite House of David at Benton Harbor are understood to be planned by Governor Greenback, who has announced that he will investigate the cult because of testimony brought out at a civil suit against the colony.

The state will charge that the colony has violated the state religious law and therefore should be disbanded and required to dispose of its property.

Governor Greenback said today he would ask the legislature to amend the state religious act to prohibit the founding of associations similar to the House of David.

Show Evidences of a Civilization Dating Back to Middle of Fifth Century

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico, April 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Careful examination of the Maya ruins of Chichenitza, just completed by the American scientist Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, has brought to light evidences of a civilization dating back to the middle of the fifth century, which Dr. Morley says was the most advanced of any in the western hemisphere prior to the discovery of America by Columbus.

A SENSIBLE VETO

Mayor Donovan has done the right thing in vetoing the order for the expenditure of $30,000 on the proposed change of the dangerous corner at the junction of Hall and Allen streets. The sum of $30,000 is altogether too much to be expended for any such purpose when the desired object can be attained for probably less than one-half the amount. The mayor states the reasons for his veto very clearly and they are sound and logical. The change proposed is necessary; but it should be made in the most practical and economical way. It is not at all necessary that the improvement should be made in the most practical that street corner as safe as the average in any thickly settled district.

BOOMING THEIR COMPETITORS

It seems to us that the textile officials of New England are continually booming the mills of the south by magnifying the importance of southern competition. It is true that the southern mills are growing more rapidly than are those of New England; but it is also true that if the New England mills would take an interest in their own district and talk less of moving south, they would have more success and be the better able to meet competition from the south or any other point.

One of the worst features in connection with some of our textile industries is that they do not seem to be indigenous to the soil; they do not feel at home here; their thoughts seem to be outward-bound; and when any class of operatives asks for an increase of wages, the officials usually set up the claim that an increase is impossible as southern competition is undermining their business and taking away their profits. It is worthy of note, however, that most of them are putting away surplus funds for future emergencies and that instead of trying to expand their business here, the surplus funds are used in many cases for expansion in the south. Thus it is that New England textile industries are building up the south with capital taken from such cities as Lowell, Lawrence and Fall River. How long can this process continue without overthrowing the supremacy of the New England textile industries and sending it to Georgia, Florida or Alabama? It seems to us that the attitude of New England textile industries in this respect is almost suicidal. Wages are lower and hours of work longer in the south than in New England; but when the walking delegates get down there, this will speedily change. Then the mills of the south will have to contend with precisely the same conditions which caused some of them to flee the north.

SARAH BERNHARDT'S FAME

How long will the fame of Sarah Bernhardt endure? If we are to judge from the fate of other great actors and actresses, we should be obliged to give a pessimistic answer. According to press reports, the unorientations vault that received the body of the great Sarah Bernhardt contained but the simple one-word inscription "Bernhardt." But yesterday all Paris paused to pay respect to the memory of the world's greatest exponent of the spoken drama; today, the tumult of the winds in France's easterly, a nation knows and mourns. Tumbled there in the cemetery Pere Lachaise, her epitaph needs no artistic adornment—just "Bernhardt" and all the world understands.

Not so long ago, this same France engaged in a great world war, the ravages of which claimed millions of lives. The gallant soldiers who fell and are buried in the puppet fields of Flanders, without ceremonial or eulogy—they, too, were actors, leading characters on the flaming stage of war. In 1918 they were, like Bernhardt, in 1923, universally mourned, but in a few years, the gay boulevards of Paris were again in full operation, apparently forgetful of the heroic dead that lay beneath wooden crosses in scarred and barren battlefields. And while today Bernhardt's death, like that of innumerable other celebrities of international fame, occasions the profoundest expressions of sympathy and sorrow, tomorrow she may be forgotten. Her place shall be taken by another, and when tourists, years hence, visit the little French cemetery, gazing upon the inscription, "Bernhardt," many will inquire who was "Bernhardt," and those who know will bow their heads in sadness and murmur "she transited gloria."

The nature of the dramatic art is not calculated to bring enduring fame as would works of art or literature. The spoken word, though uttered with the highest art of learning, eloquence, does not resound above the noise except through the phonograph. Written addresses of a high order live in literature, but not so the act of the actor or actress that is heard and enjoyed only by the auditory to which it is delivered. The act may come when not only the spoken word but the facial expression and dramatic action accompanying it may be transmitted to posterity by the use of the phonograph.

NOT MANDATORY

It is very plain that an attempt was made to have the legislature bind the city council to pay the members of the election commission $2000 each. The legislature saw how unjust it would be to do anything of the kind, and it has not done so. It has given the city council the power to pay each member of the commission a salary not exceeding $2000; but it has not enacted a statute making it mandatory upon the city council to pay that amount. To do so would be a violation of the principle of home rule and an unwarranted interference by the legislature in the affairs of our city. The members of the election commission may be worth $2000 each to the city or even a larger amount. That is not the point at issue. The question is, whether the

Sing On

Sing, oh sing, for the night is dark
And the dawn is far away;
And the land with shadow
And the wings of the night;
There is never a star in the sky,
Only the glimmer of the lightning's lance.

And the white waves leaping high,
The seabird swings on tireless wings,
The waves with rhythmic beat
Forever along the shore
Forever world-old song repeat:
And borne on the wind afar,
The silver echoes fill
The vault of heaven from star to star,
The earth from hill to hill.

Sing, oh sing, for the night is past,
And the sun shines over the sea,
And the heart of the world is a song
Of love.
And hope for the days to be,
The tempo that flies through the midnight skies
And the powers of the dark are gone;
Till the music fills the echoing hills,
Heart of my heart, sing on!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A little hotel up in New Hampshire received a lot of publicity in the newspapers last week in which it is not entitled. The item read about as follows:

Mrs. Anna P. Remick, 37, who brought fame to the hotel and to a particular cut of beefsteak, died here yesterday. She developed such skill in carving steaks from the sides of heavy beef that the tender cuts which she carved soon became known as porterhouse steaks.

The facts are that a good many years before Mrs. Remick was born there was a celebrated hotel in New York that served meals as well as porter. The salubrious that landed in New York with their ships were in the habit of going there to eat the delicious quality of the steaks that were served and which were furnished by a New York butcher who cut them in accordance with instructions that were given by the proprietor of the porter house. The butcher cut steaks in this way for the customer only, and the man who did the cutting soon got in the habit of referring to them as porter house steaks instead of steaks for the porter house. In time other eating houses as well as housewives demanded steaks cut in the same way, and the butcher all over town were soon cutting them. That is how the porter house steak got its name, as most readers of the Butcher's Advocate know.

Lowell radio fans who listened to an Newark, N.J., were well pleased when they found that there were to be a rendition of the opera "Martha." To the many who usually throw up their hands when opera is mentioned, "Martha" came as an agreeable surprise. Opera to them formerly meant a confused jumble of nonsense and howls emitted by some notable of foreign extraction, but they certainly were surprised to hear a beautiful tenor sing to the music of "The Last Rose of Summer," and then the song that has made and made many tenors, "Martha." "Martha" is based on country life in England, and the theme of the whole opera is based on the old Irish air, "The Last Rose of Summer." To one who enjoys music and who understands a little about it, it was readily noticeable in the various numbers the undertone of all the

New York World: "Neither communism nor fascism has anything to do with liberty," writes Premier Mussolini of Italy who boasts that "fascism is not afraid to declare itself illiberal, and if necessary will again pass, without the slightest hesitation, over the body, more or less decomposed, of the goddess of liberty." To the average American no political sentiment could be more revolting than this. No political sentiment could be more ruthlessly at war with every tradition of the republic. Yet while no American would publicly avow the opinion that Mussolini has so brutally expressed millions of Americans are engaged daily in practicing the theory of government that he espouses.

Organization after organization in the United States is concentrated to the principles of Mussolini, whatever the public professions may be. The Anti-Saloon league is an example of fascism, and so is the Ku Klux Klan.

One of the Sad Cases

Lawrence Telegram: He gives twice who gives quickly in such a distressing case as that of the Douglas family which lost its all by a recent fire. This included the wife's pay of the devoted wife and mother of three little children who had been both provider and housekeeper while her husband was slowly recovering from the prolonged siege of an attack of pneumonia.

Are We Prospering?

Boston Globe: Are the folks in Massachusetts prospering? The Boston collector of internal revenue says he has received this year more than $1,000,000 income taxes from about 375,000 persons—25,000 more than a year ago. And the population of Massachusetts men, women and children, in 1920 was 2,522,354.

Summer Resort Fires

Lawrence Tribune: The big fire at Nantasket beach Thursday morning emphasized again one of the summer resorts' problems. In former days any kind of construction was considered good enough for beach and mountain resorts. Houses of light construction were packed in closely without consideration of the possibility of a fire. Yet the high winds that are prevalent at the seashore in the summer as well as at other seasons made it certain that a small blaze in any portion was liable to sweep the entire resort.

The cause of the Grandview fire was a fire in a few hours. Salisbury beach was swept clean at a similar point. Hampton beach and Revere have suffered similar losses. Meanwhile mountain and Conway, have lost leading hotels within recent years. It has been fortunate that these fires have not been accompanied by loss of life.

The chamber of commerce bulletin for April contains the following article on the proposed new hotel for Lowell.

Authorities in hotel financing say that financing a hotel for Lowell would be a very easy matter. The difficult matter is to get the proper leasehold or leasehold—one perfectly efficient and equipped with experience and finances to manage a new hotel. Just as soon as this proper tenant is secured then a new model hotel for Lowell is practically assured. Many hotel men and hotel managers have expressed the desire to lease a new hotel in Lowell, but they have not been of the caliber desired by promoters.

According to figures compiled by the national bureau of economic research, the population of continental United States has passed the 100,000,000 mark. The total announced for January 1, 1923, is 100,000,000, a gain of approximately four and one-half millions since the last government census.

CANADIAN TRADE WITH U. S. DECREASED

OTTAWA, Ont., April 2.—Canada's foreign trade for 1922 amounted to $1,547,701,392, or an increase of more than $45,000,000 over 1921, according to the report of the federal department of trade and commerce.

Total imports for the year amounted to $762,329,209, the report shows. Total exports reached $384,362,553. The year closed with a favorable trade balance of $322,137,371.

Great Britain was Canada's best customer during 1922 and the United States was second, according to the report. England purchased Canadian products to the extent of $274,751,594, an increase of more than $65,000,000 over 1921, while the United States purchased $240,166,217 worth of goods, an increase of about $14,000,000 over 1921.

A surprising feature of the report is the fact that Canada's purchases from the United States during 1922 showed a decline as compared with 1921, amounting to $606,823,760, as against $555,991,600, a falling off of $152,827,240. Canada's purchases from Great Britain showed an increase in value of more than $12,000,000, jumping from $123,149,776 in 1921, to $136,806,258, last year.

CHILD INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Richard Beauchemin, aged 6 years and residing at 162 Hale street, sustained a broken collar bone and other painful injuries last evening when he was struck by a taxi of the Yellow Cab Co., operated by Cedric R. Nichols. The accident occurred at the corner of Branch and Coral street, at about 6:30 o'clock. It is claimed that the little fellow, who was walking along with his grandmother, Mrs. Georgiana Anglin, ran from the sidewalk into the path of the automobile. The chauffeur swung his car over in order to avoid a collision, but the rear end of the machine skidded and struck the child, knocking him to the ground. The child to the hospital, but the grandmother objected and the little fellow was taken to his home, where he received medical attendance.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem MERE PREJUDICE

The guy who says, "See!" I don't mind;
Nor he who says, always, "Yuh know!"
But there is one type of mankind
Which causes my temper to glow—
And that's the gazabo, the bird or the bean,
Who's constantly saying, "You know what I mean?"

"I'm wondering whether you know what I mean?"
This uncertain weather will stay on the scene?
I feel like a winner all peppy and keen,
I've just had my dinner—You know what I mean?"

With rising infection he uses this phrase
And keeps on repeating it all of his days,
Till, though I'm a person well poised and serene,
I feel I must kill him—"You know what I mean?"

"That girl is a pippin—you know what I mean?"
She sets my heart skippin', she sure is a queen!
The grass keeps on growing—its color is green,
The wind's always blowing—you know what I mean?"

So sentence by sentence and time after time
And whether the subject be gay or sublime
This phrase he repeats without reason or rhyme,
This constant, "You know what I mean?"

The guy who repeats "Understand?"
With every remark that he makes,
Is one that should promptly be canned;
But greatest of human mistakes
Is that pesky bozo or bimbo or bean
Who ends every sentence, "You know what I mean?"

PILGRIM COMMANDERY AT FIRST CHURCH

Easter services held last evening at the First Congregational church were very impressive, a feature of the important event in the annals of this society being the presence of Pilgrim Commandery, Knights Templars, who marched to the church to hear an inspiring sermon on "Immortality" delivered by the pastor, Rev. Percy E. Thomas.

The pulpit was elaborately decorated with palms and Easter lilies, with a background of deep red velvet with an illuminated cross in the center. The organ recital at 6:15 p. m. was given by Miss Ella L. Gale. At 6:30 the members of the commandery under the command of Commander Harry D. Thompson marched into the church to seats reserved for the fraternity. Every other seat in the edifice was quickly filled and many hundreds of people turned away after 6:20 o'clock because of lack of seating room.

Pastor Thomas' sermon theme was taken from the passage in the book of Job, "If a man die, shall he live again?" The spirit of immortality touches the heart and mind of all at some time during life, although in some cases it seems to be given but little thought until the years pass on and one grows old, began the pastor. There are people who say they are not concerned with such thoughts and profess no real concern, but the majority feel that such a thing is of the most vital concern and really do give it a great deal of consideration.

Moody, on his death-bed, declared to his sympathizing friends gathered at his death-bed, that he was "sweeping on towards heaven." Many other great leaders in religious faiths have had similar revelations. In the hearts of most of us, the pastor continued, there is a feeling that immortality exists. He praised those who go to church to profess their belief in God and immortality. The Easter spirit actually shows the strength of the belief in immortality, he

PRESIDENT HARDING AND SENATOR BORAH PLAN SPEAKING TOURS

Senator Johnson and Senator Moses Regarded as Factors in Bolstering the Tottering Administration—Radicals and Progressives Plan to Get Control of Congress

(Special Correspondence)
WASHINGTON, April 2.—When President Harding makes his rounds of the country next June to meet the people and give them an accounting of his stewardship, he will not have the audience all to himself, unless the plans of certain progressives and radicals in his own political household undergo a change. The president will find himself compelled to share the stage with Senator Borah, Senator Johnson, Senator LaFollette, Senator Brookhart, and even Senator Moses, the conservative and irreconcilable.

Of all this group Senator Borah is most likely to cause Mr. Harding the greatest embarrassment. It is well known to Senator Borah's friends that he has planned for some months a speaking tour that would take him across the continent. When he first decided to take this trip Senator Borah had only two important subjects for his addresses. These were an international economic conference called by the United States and American recognition of the Russian soviet government. Now he has three, one of them—the proposal for American representation on the court of international justice—having recently been supplied by Mr. Harding.

With Senator Borah talking to the same audience that the president addresses—and either before or after the latter has spoken to them—their hearers are bound to note the contrast and conflict between Mr. Harding's proposals and the Idaho senator's demands, and this difference and disagreement between the prophets of the republican party is pretty sure to be reflected in the rank and file of republican voters.

Senator Johnson is scheduled to return home in June, about the time President Harding is booked to start on his oratorical journey. It is taken for granted that Senator Johnson will give his impressions of Europe to audiences in the New England and mid-die western states—and give them in a loud voice, too. What Senator Johnson will say regarding America's representation in the court of international justice will be notable among other things for its violent dissent from President Harding's statements on the same subject.

Senator Moses will be back in his native land early in the summer and will be a sort of temerary for Senator Johnson in the matter of denouncing the international court and the president's recommendation that the United States recognize it. There are predictions that Senator Moses will attempt to anticipate President Harding's speech-making in favor of American participation in the court by issuing a series of statements while he is traveling through Europe; the burden of these being "take care!" and also "be wary!"

While Borah is harping the president's proposition because it doesn't go far enough, and Moses and Johnson are condemning it because it goes entirely too far, Senator LaFollette and Senator Brookhart will be telling their constituents and the president's followers that the republican administration has favored the big interests and exploited the people. Brookhart is to make a drive against the Esch-Cummins act and call for a reduction of railroad rates, attributing the former's plight in part to the rancorous charges he has to pay for transporting his crops to market. LaFollette will continue to accuse the Harding administration of conniving at the alienation of the people's oil reserves to a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, to attack the tariff and support Brookhart's assaults on the Esch-Cummins act.

While this clamor is filling the air and all but drowning the president's voice, the radicals and progressives will be more or less quietly at work on their plan to take charge of congress, capture the control of committees in both branches and devise and pass legislation to their own liking.

President Harding is accused by these radicals and progressives of having refused to consider a special session of the 68th congress so that he might have the forum all to himself during the summer. They are taking precautions that his shrill not be the only voice of counsel to be heard in the land.

COULDN'T HAVE ESCAPED BEING A SINGER

It would have been difficult for Reinald Werrenrath, the distinguished baritone who appears here at the Auditorium on April 10 to have escaped being a singer, and a good singer. It hardly counts for anything he was doomed to this fate from the day he was born, for both his father and mother were distinguished singers. All four of his grandparents—in fact reading the genealogy of the Werrenraths and the Camps (the latter his mother's family) makes one think of the famous Bach family of Eisenach.

George Werrenrath, Reinald's father, was a distinguished operatic tenor, first in his native country, Denmark, then in this country, whither he came in 1876. For seven years he was tenor soloist in Henry Ward Beecher's Plymouth church in Brooklyn, N. Y. There he married Arcton Raymond Camp, a concert singer well known in her time.

George Werrenrath's father was Johann Peter Werrenrath, a famous Danish basso, and his wife, Kirsten Christensen, was a noted singer of Norway. And for two generations back of these were two Engelbert Werrenraths both of them famous musicians.

On the maternal side the musical ancestry of Reinald Werrenrath is no less distinguished and is purely American. His grandfather, Henry Camp, a bass singer and a player of the bass viol; his great-grandfather, Jonathan Camp, and his wife, Rachel Hickok, both of them singers, and finally it is possible to go back two more generations to Nicholas Camp, who founded Milford Conn. in 1623, and undoubtedly would have been in the choir of the meeting house, except that those four Puritans of that day frowned on music as being first in his native country, Denmark, one of the chief weapons of the devil, then in this country, whither he came in 1876. For seven years he was tenor soloist in Henry Ward Beecher's Plymouth church in Brooklyn, N. Y. There he married Arcton Raymond Camp, a concert singer well known in her time.

Marvels Accomplished In War Continued In Peace

New Form Of Antiseptic That Drove Infection From Allied Hospitals Is Equally Successful In The Home

After all known antiseptics had failed to check infection in the war hospitals of France, the Carrel-Dakin Solution was discovered. It drove infection from the hospitals, healed great gaping wounds like magic, and saved the lives of countless numbers of men.

Zonite, a stabilized and improved form of the famous World-war antiseptic, is now accomplishing similar wonders in the hospitals, homes and factories throughout the United States. Below is a letter from Mrs. L. T. Brendle, Newton Center, Mass., that indicates the effectiveness of Zonite when used for chronic infections.

"Zonite! No one can possibly know what that name means to me, not unless they have had an experience such as mine.

"For five years I had a varicose ulcer on my right leg. While it was very painful that was the least part of the misery and unhappiness it caused me. Never for a single minute did it stop discharging in all that time. I had to wear a bandage constantly and change it at least twice a day.

"It is not necessary to say that everything humanly possible was tried in an effort to stop the discharge and heal the wound, but nothing was of the slightest benefit that I could see.

"I read of Zonite and thought that it was worth trying. In fact, I bought it, hopefully after talking with the druggist about what this sort of antiseptic had done in the war.

"I began using it that night, washing the sore with half Zonite and half water and then wetting the bandage thoroughly. I have used three bottles of the antiseptic. Before I had finished the third bottle the sore was completely healed but I kept on using it a week longer to make sure.

"The only thing I can say is that what has happened seems like a miracle from heaven. I have since used Zonite for a bad sore throat and over night it was cured, but this hardly seems worth talking about after such an experience as mine. It would be impossible for me to put my gratitude into words.

Zonite, although more than twice as powerful as pure carbolic acid, is non-poisonous, non-irritating and healing. It destroys germs like fire, yet can be used on the most delicate membrane and tissues with no harm whatsoever.

Spanish War Veterans Will Observe Anniversary at Annual Encampment

Lowell war heroes are, after more honors, this time in convention channels with historic old Cambridge the merry battle ground for record attendance figures.

Programs for the 25th anniversary of the Spanish war and the 25th annual encampment of the U.S.W.V.A., to be held in Cambridge, April 17, 18 and 19, were out today.

Lowell camp is preparing to have the biggest delegation in the state on hand for all three days' events. The auxiliary will also be splendidly represented and plans are being made to have Lowell capture attendance honors on each day, if possible, but on the first day at least.

The war veterans' encampment will open in historic Sanders theatre at 8 p. m., April 17, with a formal meeting on behalf of the city of Cambridge and the Leslie F. Hunting Camp of that municipality. After the formalities, there will be a buffet luncheon served in Memorial hall, which is close by the theatre. Then comes a positively high class concert and an 1898 campfire with 1923 trimmings in Sanders theatre.

Major Walter R. Joyce was informed today that Sanders theatre, rich in memories that cluster around it in the world of Harvard college students, has been turned over gratis to the United States Spanish War Veterans by Harvard university.

On April 18, the veterans will open their annual convention in Elks' hall, Central square, Cambridge. More freedom of the city and free use of the fraternal order's private headquarters for the visiting war veterans and their ladies!

The Ladies auxiliary will open their convention at the American Legion headquarters in the Cambridge square on April 18, also, both conventions being called to order at 9 a. m. sharp.

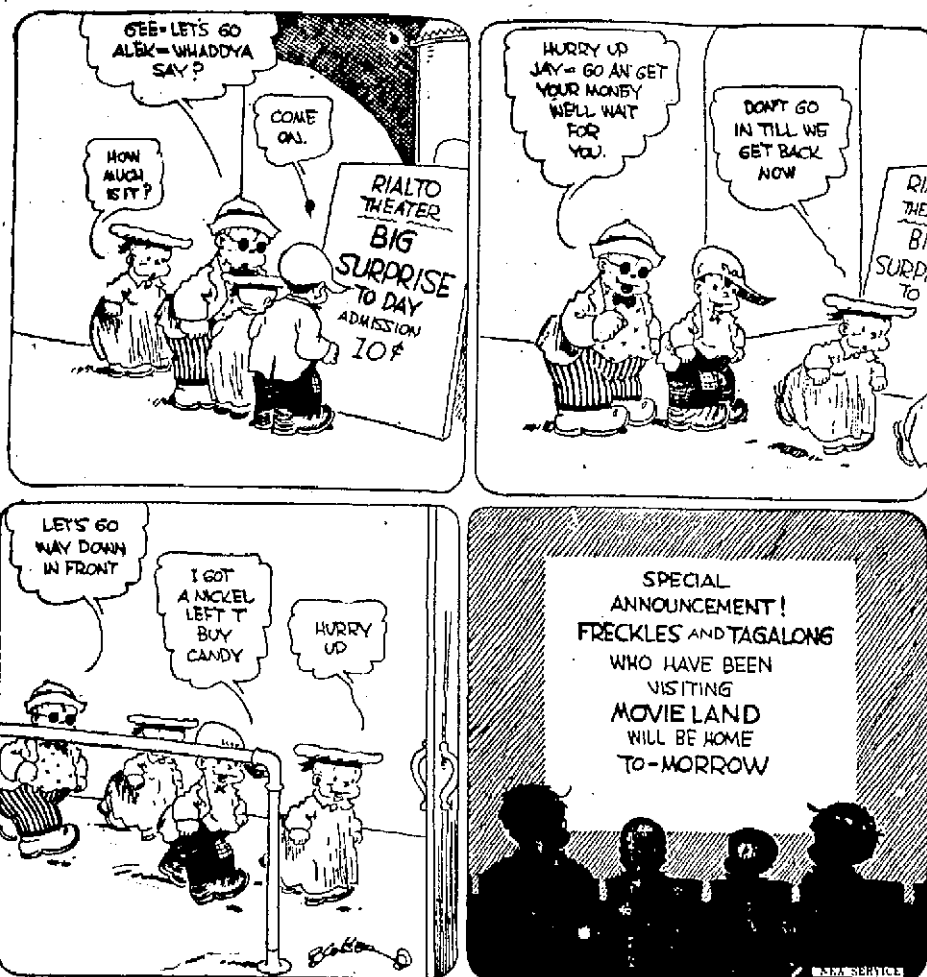

Reports have it that Lowell may secure the next annual convention, and local delegates will work hard to that end.

A feature of the April three-day gathering of the clans in Cambridge will be the bringing of souvenirs and flags of the Spanish war, together with interesting relics, which will be displayed for the view of all visiting veterans and their ladies and the people of Cambridge.

The list of honored guests will include Governor Channing Cox and one or two congressmen. Invitations have already gone out to noted regular army authorities, including a general or two.

The Spanish War Veterans are still after that state appropriation amounting to $3000, in order to help the organizations properly celebrate the 25th anniversary of the war with Spain. The original plan was for a parade in Boston with the naval brigade and the six regiments officially recognized as from this state and not for other commands in which Massachusetts men served. The commander of the Spanish War Veterans for Massachusetts, at the hearing in Boston, March 14, demanded that the appropriation be made large enough, to include the 7000 members of that order, regardless of whether they served in regiments or the naval brigade of the state. The plan is still "in the air."

Some local veterans feel that everybody in the state who enlisted in the Spanish war and served, should be entitled to parade in the anniversary columns as veterans of the 1898 struggle.

One of the last pieces of legislation passed by the last congress was the so-called Sweet bill, which modifies the war risk insurance act in the interest of disabled veterans, and brings veterans of all wars under some of its provisions.

When a veteran of any war dies after his discharge or release from active service and does not leave sufficient assets to meet the expense of his burial and transportation of the body, the government will provide funds not to exceed $1000. If the death occurs while the veteran is receiving treatment, either medical or hospital, under government care, or if he is receiving vocational training, the veteran bureau will pay in addition the actual expenses of transportation of the body to the place of burial.

DIG OUT STALLED CAR IN BILLERICA

That stalled electric car that was abandoned in huge snow drifts on St. Valentine's Day near Nutting's Lake on the Billerica-Bedford street railway line, and duly pictured in The Sun, was dug out late Saturday afternoon and taken to the car barns in North Lexington for repairs.

Thus ends the tale of the somewhat famous storm-bound car that made a long journey through blinding snow and big drifts only to wind up on the afternoon of Feb. 14, more than six weeks ago, on the outskirts of Billerica Centre, there to remain, tying up the through line from Billerica to Boston via Bedford and Arlington Heights transfer. Employees of the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway told nearly all of last week to open the country traffic line and free the lonely car from its snowdrift and icy prison.

The snow has been piled high over the tracks between Billerica and Bedford and even after the recent thaws and rains, drifts of snow, with a solid bottom of thick ice, have been found in a number of places, burying the tracks to a depth of two feet.

Regular service on the main line between Arlington Heights and Billerica was resumed late Saturday afternoon. Cars on the main line have been running between Arlington Heights and Bedford. With the breaking out of the main line, work was started clearing the Concord line between Bedford and Concord, and service on this line will probably be resumed in a day or two.

This line, the last snowbound stretch of iron on the Lexington division of the Middlesex and Boston, has been out of commission for more than two months.

GYPSIES AROUSE

BERLIN POLICE

BERLIN, April 2.—Silver-spurred cowpunchers of America's golden west, the rough-riders of the Pendleton round-up and Cheyenne's frontier day, would be green with envy if they could see the trappings of German gypsies, who have a camp near Berlin.

These gypsies recently created a future in police circles by offering heavy solid gold spurs and other precious metal for sale in shops which buy old gold and other precious metal. The metal dealers advised the police and sought their aid in finding out how the wanderers came to have such valuable trappings.

An investigation showed that all the members of the band had similar spurs, and had owned them for generations. They were heirlooms of the tribe, and the owners had decided to part with some of them for the purpose of raising more money to engage in horse-trading on a larger scale than their decrepit paper marks made possible.

LINCOLN, England, April 2.—Four miles got inside a transformer at the municipal power house and bit through the rubber of a cable, plunging the town into darkness.

PRES. HARDING NOT A SHOWMAN

Sec. Davis Declares President
Not Bothering His Head
About Politics of 1924

Says Executive Poor Advertiser—Works on Job, But Doesn't Talk About It

BOSTON, April 2.—President Harding is "not bothering his head over much about the politics of 1924," Secretary Davis told the Women's Republican Club of Boston in a speech here today. The president's secretary of labor, after expressing his views on woman's place in politics, discussed Mr. Harding's attitude toward the forthcoming presidential campaign. "The president's plans seem to be worrying many of our people," Secretary Davis said. "I think that every newspaperman I have talked to for the past month or more, has wanted to know what they are. Well, I'll tell you something about the president. President Harding is probably the poorest advertiser in the United States today. The smallest corner grocer in Boston could undoubtedly give him a big handicap and then beat him as the game of getting himself 'sold' as they call it, to the public. This is not the time of our old and respected friend Theodore Roosevelt, who had the faculty of letting folks know what he was doing, and how fast he was doing it. President Harding reminds me of the man who was made boss of the mill, back in the days when I worked with my hands. This mill worker was a man that nobody had ever noticed. He never had been engaged in any of the ordinary disputes about the plant. But the quiet man got the job. And we found out why. He worked at his job. He didn't talk about it. Well, that is President Harding. He works at his job. He doesn't talk about it.

"President Harding is an indefatigable worker and he accomplishes tremendous results. He is a plain business-like individual, with a genius for stabilizing the things. He is not the man to do his work to the tune of a brass band. I have often urged him to let the people know the seriousness of the tasks confronting him and the steps he has taken, and is taking to perform them, for I know something of the value of publicity. But he has insisted that the work will speak for itself, and that the people will find the things out. When I have sought to point out that there is a campaign of 1924 coming, and that a little advertising for the administration would do no harm, he has told me that he is not a showman, not a stage director. He holds that today the best politics is service to the people.

MAJ. GEN. BULLARD WILL COME TO LOWELL

MAJ. GEN. Robert Leo Bullard, commanding officer of the Second Corps area, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y., has received orders from the war department to attend the big party to be given by the Organized Reserve men of Lowell at the Memorial Auditorium on April 13, if he can possibly do so without interfering with his other duties.

MAJ. GEN. Bullard is a native of Alabama and a graduate of West Point. During the war he was in command of the Second Corps area, and received the distinguished service medal from the U. S. government and was also decorated by France, Belgium and Italy. It was he who wrote that message at the opening of the second battle of the Marne in July 1918, which concluded with the following: "We are going to counter-attack." This message was written when it appeared that the allied forces were doomed to defeat, and the message did much to save the day for it proved to the French, Belgian and British forces that the U. S. army did not know the word retreat and was going forward. The action of his army saved the day and the Germans were thrown back after it seemed that victory was theirs.

MAJ. GEN. Bullard is planning on making this meeting at the Auditorium the biggest that has ever been held in regard to Organized Reserve affairs, and he plans on throwing the Auditorium open to all who would be interested in hearing these men who have become leaders in the army tell of their experiences and of the Organized Reserve. His plans are not yet completed, but with Gen. Bullard's and Gen. Brewster's acceptance of his invitation he can now go ahead and complete his plans.

overmuch about the politics of 1924. He is spending his time working for the people of the United States today, tomorrow and 100 years from now."

The country's economic recovery during the present administration, Secretary Davis said, has no precedent in its history. Within a few months the nation has emerged from industrial and financial panic to prosperity, he said, with indications of prosperity on every hand.

Discussing the position of women in politics, the secretary said: "I am one of those who find a great consolation in the fact that a great hope for the future in the advent of our American women into political life through the exercise of the right of suffrage. I am one of those who believe that women in politics means better politics; no worse women, and that women will bring into public life those same virtues that they have so long displayed in American home life."

Japanese Prince Killed in Auto Accident

BERNAY, France, April 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of Prince Kitashirakawa, who was killed in an automobile accident near here yesterday rested today in the naive of the tiny church at Perrier la Campagne to which it was transported by the French authorities with the honors befitting a member of the imperial family of Japan. The prince was a brother-in-law of Emperor Yoshihito. Onotake Sato, councillor of the Japanese embassy in Paris and son of the former ambassador to Washington is here directing the efforts being made to save the lives of Princess Fusako, widow of Kitashirakawa; Prince Yasuhiko Asuka, cousin of the mikado and Mlle. Elizabeth Savvy, lady-in-waiting, who were injured.

Man Disappointed in Love Ends Life

BOSTON, April 2.—James F. McDonald, disappointed in love, committed suicide at a lodging house in the East Boston district where his body was found today. He had hanged himself to the bedpost in his room. Mrs. James Falla, the landlady, said McDonald had received word recently that the young woman to whom he was engaged, had married another man.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Adam's Rib," one of the greatest and most lavish photoplays ever produced by Cecil De Mille, is a week's engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday. The large audience which saw the opening performance were thrilled by the magnificence of the production and there is no doubt that it will attract capacity houses all week.

"Adam's Rib" is the most lavish production of its kind turned out for some time by the great producer. The story is a comedy of real human interest with an all-star cast including Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson in the leading roles. There will be no criticism of the production despite the cost of this big production. Imagine a de Mille picture in which the settings range from a brilliant modern yacht to the frozen wastes of the Chicago board of trade, from scenes of passion amid the 14,000,000-year-old dinosaurs of the Natural History Museum to the curious antics of a circus elephant in a London street. The usual excellent surrounding program being shown.

It has been three long years since Norma Talmadge and Eugene O'Brien first co-starred in a picture. The return of this pair to the screen will surely be a source of great pleasure to all patrons. The picture is a comedy, and the two stars are also reflected in no uncertain manner. Don't miss this real picture treat. Then Ralph Graves and Hattie McDaniel. "The Sign of the Cross" also being shown, as well as the usual comedy and weekly.

The special feature on the triple bill, beginning Thursday, will be "The Message of Emily Cone," the only picture in which the French miracle man has appeared. It is a story of a man who has been blind since birth, but who has been cured by the power of the light. The picture is a masterpiece of the art of the camera, and it is a story of a man who has been blind since birth, but who has been cured by the power of the light. TO COMBAT POPULARITY OF MOTION PICTURES

NEW YORK, April 2.—Channing Pollock, today announced tentative plans for the production of legitimate drama at small admission prices to combat the growing popularity of motion pictures, which he admits will cause its backers a loss of at least $2000 a week. The highest priced seats will be $1 each, according to Pollock.

Pollock said that in the 1924-25 season he and his backers would lease a theatre seating no more than 1400 people, in which to produce the best types of modern plays. There also would be seats for 25c, 50c and 75c, he declared.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 2. (By the Associated Press).—The body of Ali Chukri Bey, deputy of the Turkish national assembly at Ankara, who has been missing for several days, has been found buried near the home of the notorious Ottoman Agha. The authorities are fully clothed. The authorities, in view of the circumstances, sought to interview Osman Agha, but he had disappeared.

Chukri Bey was one of the founders of the newspaper Tan, which has consistently opposed the policies of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, nationalist leader. After his disappearance, one of his colleagues hinted in a speech before the assembly that he had fallen on a victim to his political opinions.

KLAN INVOLVED IN ELECTION CAMPAIGN

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 2.—Intense feeling and keen rivalry between Ku Klux Klan and anti-Klan forces today marked the close of the municipal election campaign here.

Three of the city's candidates for city commissioner are said to have received the endorsement of the Klan with the understanding that should they be elected none but Klansmen and Protestants would be appointed to city offices. A mayor and four commissioners are to be elected tomorrow.

The Klan is said to have committed men in each of the 61 precincts of the city and plans of the anti-Klan forces call for the stationing of at least 10 workers at each precinct Tuesday.

RECORD FREIGHT BUSINESS ON B. & A.

BOSTON, April 2.—The Boston & Albany railroad announced today that its freight business for last month was the heaviest for any month of March in its history. The B. & A. hauled from its western gateways 33,150 loaded freight cars, an average of 1069 per day. There were five days when more than 1500 loaded cars were hauled east.

The previous B. & A. record for March, which was in 1918, was 28,255 loaded freight cars moved east from the Hudson river.

MEXICAN MINISTER TO BERLIN

MEXICO CITY, April 2.—Juan Manuel Alvarez del Castillo, recently appointed Mexican minister to Berlin, left yesterday for New York on his way to Berlin.

RIALTO THEATRE

"The Hero," a delightful aftermath of the great war, with David Butler in the leading role supported by an all-star cast, is the leading attraction of the booking at the Rialto theatre beginning this afternoon. The supporting attractions are also very good.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Harold Killing and Miss Alice Parent were married last evening at St. Joseph's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. L. G. Bachand, O.M.I. The bride wore a blue tulle gown, with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by a sister of the bridegroom. Miss Irene Killing, who was attired in grey silk charmuse with hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Joseph Parent, a brother of the bride. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Cheneville, 209 Ludlum street, and later the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Pawtucket, R. I. Upon their return they will make their home at 209 Ludlum street.

Dion-Parent

The marriage of Mr. Alfred Dion and Miss Yvonne Parent took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Louis rectory, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Labrosse. The bride wore a tulle gown with purple hat and carried bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Marie Parent, while the bridegroom was attended by his father, Mr. Dion. At the close of the ceremony the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Boston and Dover, N. H., and upon their return Friday evening will be tendered a reception at 321 Dutton st. They will make their home at 77 Tremont street.

Police Pursuit of Clues to
Solution of Mystery

Acting Dist. Atty. Pecora
Withdraws From Investigation
for Present at Least

NEW YORK, April 2.—A woman now is the newest central figure in the police pursuit of clues to a solution of the mystery of the murder of Dorothy Keenan, who was chloroformed to death a score of days ago.

It was learned today that the police had for some time been trailing the sweetheart of a man who for several days has been under suspicion, chiefly because he has been unable to account for his actions for the hours between midnight preceding the murder and 5 o'clock the next morning.

The woman, they said, was being trailed in the hope that she might attempt to dispose of some of the jewels or other articles that were stolen from the model's West 67th street apartment. She already has been interviewed by the police, having provided the suspected man with an alibi for the hours before and after the murder, with the exception of the eight that still remain unexplained.

The suspect is believed to have known the slain model intimately, the authorities said. They now are working on the theory that blackmail led to the girl's murder, and that the robbery was an afterthought.

Acting District Attorney Pecora announced yesterday that he had withdrawn from the investigation for the present at least, and that he would not again re-enter the case unless officially asked to do so by the police.

BANDIT'S BODY STILL UNCLAIMED

To Hold Inquest in Death of
W. U. Grant, Shot to Death
in Southboro, Friday

Report Uncle of Dead Man,
Said to Live in Haverhill,
to Claim Body

WORCESTER, April 2.—Judge William E. Fowler announced this noon that the inquest in the death of Webster U. Grant, the bandit shot by officers of the state police, at Southboro, Saturday will take place in the Westboro district court Friday at 9 o'clock.

The body still lies unclaimed in a Westboro undertaking establishment. It was announced unofficially that an uncle of the dead man, said to live in Haverhill, where the man is reported to have spent considerable of his time during the past few months has announced his intention of claiming the body.

A lock of blonde hair found among the bandit's possessions and the prescription for a rare drug obtained only in Germany and used by manicurists, the Jimmy used by the man in breaking into the Southboro drug store and a traveling bag are clues on which the police are working in the man's movements since he was employed in Whitinsville several months ago.

State detectives and police were in Westboro again today. The finding of a jewelry case in the snow in Marlboro bearing the name of Smith's Jewelry Store, leads to the belief that Grant may have made the recent break in that store. He was seen in Marlboro Friday afternoon and evening, when he lunched at a local restaurant.

ter charge at tomorrow morning's session.

Mrs. Marin, when called to testify, told the court her husband left her three years ago and had not been seen or heard from by anyone connected with her family until last Saturday, when her two sisters accidentally passed him in a down-town store. She further stated that three children, aged 9, 7 and 3 years, were dependent upon her for support. Since her husband left, she said, she has been doing her best to support them. The appearance of her husband in the dock, she claimed, was the first time in three years she had seen him. A marriage certificate was produced to show that he had been living in Lowell for the past few years. The defendant admitted that he had married again, saying that his reason for the desertion of his first wife was that he had been asked to support her on her own request. There were no children by the second marriage.

Judge Fisher asked the man if he was working and he replied that he was. Asked how much he thought he could contribute to the support of his wife and children, he said he considered $3 weekly a fair estimate. The amount was then fixed at $3 by the court, and with this settled, the charge of polygamy was preferred.

600,000 men and women have found a new road to increased health, energy and efficiency. Simply from the proper use of warm water.

Yet 9 out of 10 people today are needlessly in constant danger of serious illness—caused by Constipation and "Auto-intoxication", which means "self-poisoning". This is due to the fact that, with the sedentary lives we lead, waste matter accumulates in the large intestine. Not even cathartics can cleanse the intestine properly. The residue remains and breeds large colonies of poisonous germs—which are absorbed by the blood.

The Internal Bath—with the J. B. L. Casade—gives the proper cleansing with simple warm water. It is the method perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell after years of research. More than 600,000 Americans have been restored to new health and energy by this method.

The story of Dr. Tyrrell's life work and the "how and why" of internal bathing are of vital interest to you. They are told in an interesting book entitled "Why Man of Today is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient." If you will write or call on us, we will be glad to give you a copy of this book free—and entirely without obligation.
